OUR $2.75 WATCH, made by the Waterbury Watch Company, is not least as long as the more expensive watches, but is just the thing for a boy attending school or for boating or fishing parties, saving the risk and yet doing the work of the better watches.

OUR $4.50 WATCH, made by the same Company, only better quality, is short wind and jeweled.

OUR $7, $10, $15 AND $20 WATCHES are correspondingly better goods. You will be safer in trading with us than by sending to irresponsible parties at a distance, and who, if a mainspring breaks or anything goes wrong, are too far away to send to. We are here to guarantee and stand by every watch we sell.

What is Oddfellowship?

To voice with the voices of wisdom,
To think with the thoughts of a fool,
To glow with the light of a college
Who dulled with his dullness the school.

With semblance of deepest emotion
The evils of life to deplore,
Yet powerless as wreck on mid-ocean
To rescue from desolate shore

To own poorth man as a brother
Created in image of God,
Yet risings of conscience to smother
And grudge him 'ere place on the sod,
Not this, Oddfellowship.

To live out the teachings they teach,
To hasten the footsteps of weal;
The souls of the faithless to reach
By means of the life wounds they heal.

Voice yielding up place to the deed,
Ear listening the cry of distress,
Heart high-strung in cadence to plead
And prompt in its measures to bless.

In radiance to scatter earth's night,
To guide by the generous hand
Through an atmosphere flooded with light,
To a home in the sinless land.
This is Oddfellowship.

Gathered Gems From Many Sources.

The most difficult thing in our Order is to live up to its teachings.

It is not what Oddfellows "think or say," but what they do, that will have its effect upon the world.

Not every man who carries the symbol is an Oddfellow, but he who doeth the work of the Order.

Less of the boomers and more of the workers should be the object and aim of the subordinate lodges.

The gavel in the hands of the Noble Grand is the emblem of authority, and should always be obeyed.

Candour, kindness, forbearance, hoping and believing for the best, are the proper attributes of an Oddfellow.

Oddfellowship is one of the finest fruits of Christian civilization and the staunchest bulwark of order and virtue.

We should all rejoice in being part and parcel of an organization that has such a splendid record for doing good in the world.

He who loves the Order for its pure tenets and its capacity to uplift good men for a good purpose is entitled to the name of Oddfellow.

The Grand Lodge of Texas recently decided to sell the Oddfellows' Orphans' Home, as there is no present demand for it. Fortunate Oddfellows.

Oddfellowship as a moral institution demands a belief in a Supreme Being, and enjoins upon every member a due regard for all that tends to a moral manhood.

Oddfellowship undoubtedly contains a larger percentage of men who earn their living by regular daily duties, paid for by wages or salary, than any other order in existence.

Nearly all of the country lodges have gone to work to swell the membership, and from appearances it looks as if this year will be one of the most successful for many years.

A gavel made out of wood from the "Charter Oak" that grew at Hartford, Conn., has been presented to Grand Sir Busbee, by Grand Rep. Ralph Burnham, of that jurisdiction.

Every applicant who desires to join the order should come to its offices unbiassed by friends and uninfluenced by mercenary motives, and offer himself a candidate freely and voluntarily.

When staff-work degenerates into mere dramatic parades and spectacles—leaving the practical work of the Order, such as visiting the sick, to take care of itself—then it is time to dispense with staff work.

Lt.-Gen. Underwood was tendered a royal reception on February 18th, on his last visit to Minneapolis. There were over 200 chevaliers in full uniform and about 1,000 persons in attendance. There was a battalion drill, etc.

Miriam Lodge No. 56 was instituted at St. Stephen, N. B., on the 26th inst. by Past Grand Representative Samuel Waits, Esq., Collector of Customs. The new Lodge starts off with just one hundred members. The work of conferring degrees was efficiently performed by Fellowship Lodge No. 97, Calais, Me. About 10:30 a supper was served in the Baptist Vestry to the members of the new Lodge by the ladies of that church.

Remember the Independent Order of Odd fellows requires its members to be physically as well as morally sound. A man may possess an excellent character, but if he is not up to the standard physically he should be rejected.

The Higgins Will Case.

The following are the decrees granted on Thursday last by His Lordship Mr. Justice Young in the above case.

It will be remembered that the late Patrick Higgins and his wife died from the effects of exposure on their way from town to their home at West Royalty in December last. They were childless, but had adopted a girl named Eliza Lawlor nine or ten years ago. Mr. Higgins willed his property in favor of this girl, who is now fourteen years of age; and his heirs sought to set aside the will, calling for proof in solemn form. Mr. A. A. McLean, with Mr. Mellish appeared for the executors; Mr. F. L. Haszard for the beneficiary, and Mr. Hodgson, Q. C., and Mr. M. McLeod, Q. C., in opposition:

IN PROBATE COURT,
54th Vic., A. D. 1891.

In re Estate of late Patrick Higgins, deceased, testate.

Judges' Decree.—Having carefully read the voluminous evidence produced in this matter; and having the law and cases cited by the advocates on both sides; and duly considered the strong and corresponding testimony confirmatively given by the Rev. Mr. McElmeel, the spiritual adviser of the testator, by Dr. Stephen Jenkins, his medical attendant, and by Mr. Arthur Reddin, the three subscribing witnesses to the will of said testator, and also by Mr. Mellish, his legal adviser, and by Dr. Conroy, being his two executors;—I can come to no other conclusion than that at the time when the said testator executed his will he was of sound disposing mind and memory, and, therefore, that the said will has been substantially proved before me in solemn form, I do, therefore, hereby decree that the will of the said Patrick Higgins, deceased, the said Testator hath been, legally executed, and is hereby sustained as the last will and testament of the said Patrick Higgins, deceased; and that the probate thereof, or letters testamentary granted by me to the said executors therein named, be confirmed with costs out of the said Estate.

CHARLES YOUNG,
Judge of Probate.

March 26, 1891.

As to costs.—From the evidence given by witnesses in opposition to the said will there appears quite sufficient to show me that the heirs of the testator thought they had probable ground to question the capacity and memory of the said testator when he executed his will, and as they did not take proceedings to set aside the will vexatiously, and for undue litigation, but for justice to themselves, as they hoped, I, therefore, further decree that the taxed costs of the opposing party be paid out of the Estate of the said deceased.

CHARLES YOUNG,
Judge of Probate.

March 26, 1891.

Curiosities of Wedlock.

The joining of the right hands in ancient times had the solemnity and validity of an oath.

Goethe said that he married to obtain respectability.

Wycherly, in his old age, married a young lady for spite.

There is a story of a man who was married because he inherited a four-post bedstead.

Giving a ring is supposed to indicate the eternity of union, seeing that a circle is endless.

Under the Roman Empire marriage was simply a civil contract; hence we read of men putting away their wives.

Among the Jews the rule was for a maiden to marry on the fourth, and a widow on the fifth day of the week—not earlier.

In Jewish marriages the woman is set on the right, but throughout Christianity her place in the ceremony is on the left.

In a Roman marriage the bride was purchased by the bridegroom's payment of three pieces of copper money to her parents.

The Russians have a story of a widow who was so inconsolable for the loss of her husband that she took another to keep her from fretting herself to death.

The custom of putting a veil upon the maid before the betrothal was done to conceal her blushes at the first touch of the man's hand, and at the closing kiss.

Kissing the bride the moment the marriage ceremonial ended, though not now prescribed by the rubric of the Western Churches, formerly was regarded as an imperative act on the part of the bridegroom.

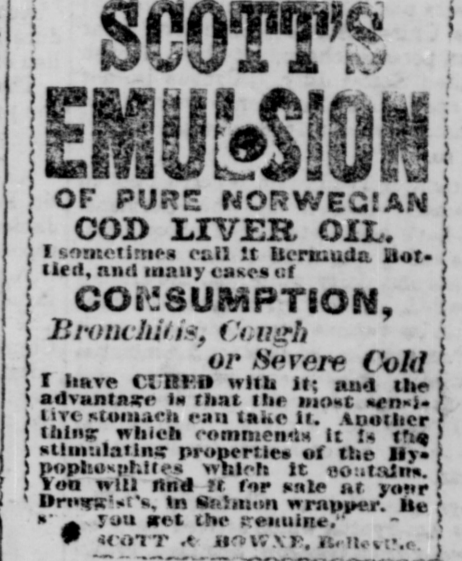

MARTINI-HENRI AMMUNITION.—An Ottawa despatch says it is in contemplation to manufacture Martini-Henri ammunition at the government cartridge factory at Quebec this year.

THE SPRINGHILL FUND.—Subscriptions to the fund started in London towards the relief of the distress of the families of those who lost their lives in the Springhill colliery disaster are still coming in. The latest subscription to be acknowledged is one of £25 from the Prince of Wales. The London fund now amounts to £900.

LAGRIPPE AGAIN.—It is said that lagrippe is very prevalent in the vicinity of Fredericton, N. B. There are few houses in that city and St. Mary's but have one or more cases. In some instances whole families are down with it and the doctors are on the go early and late.
