NO GREAT ENTHUSIASM

Wheat Prices At Lower Level In New Agreement

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada will find a guaranteed market for a modest 100,000,000 bushels under the new International Wheat Agreement, officials estimated Saturday. The price will range from a floor of $1.50 a bushel to a maximum of $2 for No. 1 Manitoba Northern at the Lakehead. This is five cents lower—both minimum and maximum—than prices under the current agreement which expires on Aug. 1. The agreement was announced Saturday in London by the executive committee of the United Nations wheat conference. However, guaranteed quantities to be bought by importing countries and sold by the exporters will not be announced until next week. With the present world wheat glut IWA prices are likely to be nearer the floor than the ceiling. If Canada does sell 100,000,000 bushels under the new IWA, this would represent more than a third of total sales. Canada sold 252,000,000 bushels of wheat in the last crop year.

Jet Missing Off South Tip N.S.

HALIFAX (CP)—Canadian and United States ships and planes are scouring the waters off the southwestern tip of Nova Scotia for a missing Canadian Navy Banshee jet fighter. The plane, piloted by Lieut. Donald A. Wardrop, 31, of nearby Shearwater and Winnipeg, disappeared early Sunday about 25 miles seaward of Yarmouth, N.S. The Banshee was one of two recently purchased from the United States and was being flown from Quonset, R. I., to the Shearwater naval air base across the harbor from here. Pilot of the second plane, Lieut. Cmdr. B. W. Mead of Vermillion, Alta., said Wardrop's fighter disappeared in the heavy overcast while the two were changing formation.

STEEL HELMETS GROWING

Ominous German Noises

BERLIN (AP)—The Stahlhelm, an organization of 50,000 German veterans of both world wars, is making small but ominous noises in West Germany. Members of the Stahlhelm—“Steel Helmets”—gather in obscure beer halls where they argue politics and run through ceremonies involving drums, flags, jackboots and remnants of old Wehrmacht uniforms. The leaders of the Stahlhelm are politically ambitious and its membership is reported growing. The organization was formed after the First World War, its members staunch German nationalists who dressed up in field grey uniforms for meetings and parades under the old Weimar republic. EARLY CLASHES WITH NAZIS At first, the Stahlhelms resented the appearance of Hitler's Nazi brownshirts and there were frequent clashes between the two groups in the late '20s. But the forces of national socialism proved too strong for the old Stahlhelms, whose deputy leader, Theodor Duesterberg, was a half-Jew. In 1931, Stahlhelms and brownshirts joined forces and three

Margaret Truman Married In Simple Church Ceremony

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—Blonde Margaret Truman, attractive in a beige wedding gown and veil, was married Saturday to Clifton Daniel, Jr., assistant foreign news editor of the New York Times, in a simple ceremony at Trinity Episcopal church. It was the same church where Margaret's parents, former president Harry S. Truman and Bess, were married 37 years ago. The 32-year-old bride and her father were solemn as they walked down the aisle to meet her groom. Daniel, 43, was also grave-faced. After the ceremony, she smiled happily as she walked back up the aisle. CROWD OF 1,500 Only close relatives and friends were in the church, in keeping with Margaret's wish that the wedding be private. Outside a crowd estimated by police at 1,500 greeted them as they left the church. The hem of Margaret's ankle-length, wide-skirted lace and tulle gown was turned up a few inches in the back as she started down the aisle. The gown's designer, Micol Fontana of Rome, noticed it as the bride went by and reached down to straighten it. The wedding party went to the Truman home a few blocks away for a reception for about 175 persons. Daniel and his bride cut a big four-tiered wedding cake. The couple posed briefly on the porch for pictures but refused a shouted request that his bride spend 2½ hours in Chicago after a train ride from Kansas City, then flew to Miami, Fla., en route to the Bahamas on their honeymoon.

Blame Work Horse For Killing Child

MOUNT OLIVE, Miss. (AP)—A horse lifted a 20-month-old child across a fence with his teeth and kicked the infant to death, the child's uncle said Saturday. Veta Barnes, uncle of Johnnie Nichols, said the child was standing against the outside of the fence when the work horse suddenly stretched his neck across it, caught the boy's clothing in his teeth and lifted him inside the pen. The animal then viciously kicked the child in the head and stamped him, the uncle reported. Barnes said the horse was used to pull logs and had never been considered dangerous.

Farm Family Rescued From Flood Waters

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man. (CP)—Rescuers used a railway “jigger” and three boats Sunday to rescue a farmer, his wife and 21 head of cattle who were marooned in the high bluff area, six miles east of here, by flood waters of the Assiniboine river. One calf was drowned, a boat capsized and a rescuer was marooned in the operation. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Chappel were stranded with their livestock on a high point of a new highway grade when the flood waters drove them from their farm Saturday. Volunteers loaded a motor boat on a railway “jigger” Saturday night, travelled to within 100 yards of the couple, then launched the boat to go to their aid. They refused to leave the livestock on the high point of a new highway grade when the flood waters drove them from their farm Saturday. DENIES COLD-WAR LOSSES

Eisenhower Would Form An Anti-Red Brant Trust

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower called Saturday night for the creation of a sort of brain trust to advise the government in the global struggle with communism. At the same time he disputed charges that the United States is losing the cold war. His remarks which came in an off-the-cuff addition to a prepared speech to the American Society of Newspaper Editors, were obviously aimed at such critics as Adlai Stevenson, who earlier in the day attacked the administration foreign policy. Stevenson addressing a luncheon meeting of the same society, declared the administration has “drifted and stumbled” in foreign affairs. It has “lost the moral initiative,” he said, and is also losing the political advantage to the Communists. He called, among other things, for a halt on H-bomb tests to demonstrate American leadership in the cause of peace. COUNCIL OF WISE MEN A poll of about 80 editors showed them voicing the opinion 2-to-1 that the United States is losing the cold war. To help keep American foreign policy abreast of changing times, the president suggested a kind of council of wise men—a “rotating advisory board” of private citizens he called it. They would be free of the responsibilities of office, he said, and would be able to “devote their brains to the job.” He did not get into details, but a high official indicated the president has in mind moving to set up a council of “the best brains available, regardless of party.” Every Day, Eisenhower said, someone says that “we’re losing the cold war” but others took exactly the opposite line. Eisenhower said the Communists did not conquer Korea, they were stopped in Northern Vietnam, the Iranian situation has improved, the Egyptian-British argument over Suez has been settled, the Trieste problem has been settled and the “first bridgehead” of communism in the western hemisphere “has been thrown out.” This evidently was a reference to Guatemala. “Now,” Eisenhower said, “these are cold war victories.” Eisenhower said in his prepared

Situation Is Reported To Be Critical

WINNIPEG (CP)—Bulldozers trucks and sandbag crews swung into action in southern Manitoba during the weekend to combat t in flood threats on the Red and Assiniboine river valleys, which government officials termed “a very serious matter.” Choked by a giant ice jam near Portage la Prairie, 55 miles west of Winnipeg, the swollen Assiniboine cut through a south-bank dike and spilled over hundreds of acres of farm land. The Red river rose nearly nine feet at Winnipeg during the weekend, and the provincial flood forecasting committee said a peak flow of at least six inches above the top of the city's major dikes could be expected by May 7. The committee said that by Thursday the water might be within six inches of the top of secondary dikes. 1950 PEAK 30.3 FEET Heavy earth movers began raising parts of a 39-mile chain of dikes built along both sides of the Red river following a disastrous flood in 1950. The level of the major dikes is 26.5 feet above average winter ice level. A spring crest ranging from 27 to 30 feet was forecast— with a maximum possible of 33 feet. Peak of the 1950 flood was 30.3 feet. Residents of suburban Elm Park a narrow peninsula in a hairpin bend of the Red river, began making out household belongings Saturday in case they must evacuate. The area was among the hardest hit in 1950. The flood forecasting committee described the situation in the Assiniboine between Portage la Prairie and Headingley as critical. The river level at Portage la Prairie rose six inches overnight. The flood committee said the rise is a “real runoff.” TO GET WORSE Runoff from the headwaters was not yet under way and there was little prospect of any lowering of river levels before the crest from the headwaters arrives. Conditions would get substantially worse from now on. The seasonal peak on the Assiniboine was not expected at Brandon before May 10 and at Winnipeg between May 15 and 20. In Portage la Prairie area, more than 200 persons had left their homes in the face of high water.

Red Leaders Take Tea Sunday With Queen At Windsor Castle

WINDSOR, England (AP)—Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev took tea Sunday with the Queen in ancient Windsor castle. They presented the Queen with a Russian sable wrap at a tea table meeting during which young Prince Charles and Princess Anne were brought in to be introduced. In nearby London thousands of eastern European refugees marched in orderly protest against the visit of the Soviet leaders to Britain. They prayed also for those behind the Iron Curtain. Bulganin and Khrushchev motored here from Cherepovets, where they were guests of Prime Minister Eden at his official country residence. The informal talks during their overnight stay ended in the early afternoon. SMILING DEPARTURE There was no official statement on what was taken up. Both Russians smiled broadly as they left. Eden preceded them by 20 min-

Many gathered to watch the arrival of the two Soviet leaders. There were some cheers from the crowd and the Russians waved genially. They were whisked through the gates in a hurry behind the clattering roar of their motorcycle escort. While the two Kremlin leaders were balancing teacups in the great grey castle, London police were busy seeing that the marchers did not get out of hand. In London the men and women carried signs reading “Russians get out of Poland” and “It is Khrushchev who personally shares the responsibility for the deportation of a half million Polish citizens.”

HAWAIIAN VISITORS

A desire to visit the birthplace of her father brought Mrs. Julian Lambloy all the way from the Hawaiian Islands to Prince Edward Island Saturday. She is pictured above with her husband where the couple are registered for three or four days at the Kirkwood Motel. Mrs. Lambloy is the daughter of John Andrew Campbell and Ellen St. Clair MacAulay whom she believes lived in or near Souris. The Campbell family left Prince Edward Island a number of years ago and for some time lived in the Panama Canal Zone, where she was born. Her father along with his sister, Mrs. Minnie Kelly visited the island in 1946. Mr. and Mrs. Lambloy in spite of the inclement weather they have been experiencing, are enjoying their visit to the island very much. Mr. Lambloy is a communications officer employed with the United States Government. They live on the Island of Oahu. The total population of the Hawaiian Islands is about 500,000 with 300,000 of these living on the Island of Honolulu. MOTORED FROM DETROIT The Lambloys left the Hawaiian Islands on March 31 and expect to be away until the end of June. They picked up a new Mercury car in Detroit and will motor back to San Francisco. In conversation with a Guardian representative, Mr. Lambloy stated that the Hawaiian Islands depend chiefly on four sources of revenue. They are pineapples, sugar cane, the tourist industry and the large number of the armed forces stationed there. They describe the climate of the mid Pacific Islands as ideal. The average high and low temperatures are 87 and 57 degrees respectively. There are no high winds and the islands hardly know what a lightning storm is. Mr. Henry Kaiser is taking a tremendous interest in the islands and is spending millions in the construction of hotels and the improvement of the beaches. Speaking of the tourist accommodation on Prince Edward Island, Mr. and Mrs. Lambloy had high praise for the Kirkwood Motel. They stated that it was by far the best they have experienced in their travels thus far.
