Maritime Bred Colts Featured At Horse Sale

Maritime bred colts will be featured at the Maritime Standardbred Horse Sale that will be held at the Truro Fair Grounds Tuesday morning, October 11, at 10:00.

This is unique in that this is the first time Maritime bred colts have been featured at any sales in the Maritimes. The main thinking behind the idea is that the newly formed Maritime Colt Stakes Association has been working on a program of colt stakes for Maritime bred two and three year olds to be started in 1967 with all Maritime tracks participating. This will mean that a great deal of emphasis will be placed upon Maritime bred colts and that they will be able to race in a number of stake races featuring only Maritime bred colts. With this program developing, the natural follow through is that there will be a market for Maritime bred colts. Many buyers have indicated interest in this program and, hence, the reason for such a sale featuring Maritime bred colts.

The Maritime Colt Stakes Association is sponsoring this particular sale and it is their feeling that this sale will become "the" Sale in the Maritimes for the purchase of Maritime bred yearlings.

The number of colts entered in this year's sale is not large which, of course, is expected, being the first sale of this type. However, some excellent colts have been consigned—five of them being a full sister to West River Boy 2:07, another being a half brother to Donmar Fox, 2:05.

EXCELLENT LINES
Catalogues have been printed and copies have been sent to all race secretaries in the Maritime provinces. Thirteen animals in all are listed in the catalogue, but it is expected that this number will double by sale time, as there are indications that at least three or four more colts will be consigned as well as a number of race horses. Anyone who looks at the catalogue will realize that some excellent blood lines are represented. Sires such as Downtown, Ableway, Fred Scott, Frisco Hanover, Brewera Gallon and Mighty Green are represented.

As was mentioned above, the sale is being held on Tuesday morning, October 11. This date was chosen by the Colt Stakes Association because an early closing event for Maritime bred three-year olds is being staged at the Truro Raceway on Thanksgiving Day. It is expected that potential buyers will be attending that particular race, they will have a chance to look over the colts on that day and stay over for the Sale the next morning.

It looks as though the Maritime Colt Stakes Association has made a big step towards the development of the harness racing industry in the Maritimes by the promotion of these events—the Maritime Stake race and this sale featuring Maritime bred colts.

Former Island Resident Is Commanding New Unit

one of the two new units to be recently re-located and posted to the armed forces base at Petawawa is 2 Transport under the command of Major J.D. Murray, a Prince Edward Island native.

A recent issue of the Pembroke Daily Newspaper, The Pembroke Observer, contained an article about Major Murray, who was born at New London, P.E.I. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Murray of New London.

His wife is the former Joyce Mackay, R.N., a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mackay of Seaview. Major and Mrs. Murray have three sons.

Prior to leaving the Island, Major Murray attended Prince of Wales College, and taught on P.E.I. for a number of years. The Pembroke Observer states that the 2 Transport unit at the Petawawa base in Ontario was originally formed in 1950 under the designation of 54 Transport and embarked on Korea in 1951 with the first Canadian troops.

After the Korean conflict was finally settled, 54 Transport was removed to Germany and spent the next two years there. It was in Germany that the unit was redesignated as 2 Transport. The newspaper article states that from Germany in 1955, 2 Transport was posted in the armed forces base at Borden (Ontario), where they remained until receiving their new orders to report to the armed forces base at Petawawa.

During the past ten years at Borden, the unit has supplied transport support and supply for 2nd infantry brigade (2CIBG) both, Petawawa and at their home base (at that time) Borden. They have also done this on various army exercises both at Petawawa and at Gagetown.

The wartime complement of establishment of the unit is over 300 men, the paper reports. Peacetime or restricted establishment is approximately 275. The unit is under strength at the moment and when questioned about this, the commanding officer, Major Murray said that it was probably due to higher priority requests for personnel. The advance party of the unit moved into the base on August 15, the main party came in on the 24th and the rear party followed on the 30th of the month. The entire unit is in the base now, however, and is trying to get their operation set up in a permanent fashion.

Major Murray said that they could possibly move again in the camp area from the quarters that they have now temporarily established.

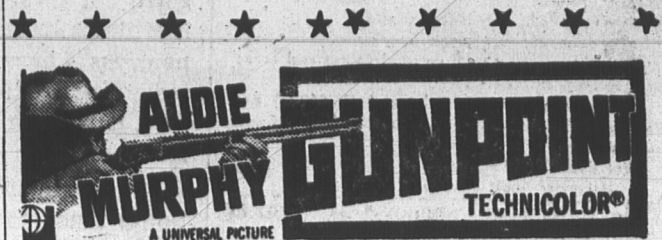

The newspaper says that Major Murray took command of the 2 Transport Unit on June 25, following a three-year tenure of duty in Germany where he served with headquarters of the Canadian base units in Europe (CBUE).

The function of 2 Transport is to supply the second line transport requirements of the field units, most of whom have their own transport vehicles. They provide transport and lift in support of 2CIBG, they carry forward supplies, ammunition and pol (petroleum, oil, to troops and are responsible for carrying on the dumping program in the case of any emergency. 2 Transport can carry a dumping program for any commodity; for instance, they can set up dumps for gas and ammunition or any other commodity that would be required by the army in the case of an emergency.

Forty Island Delegates Leave For Ottawa Today

The 40 Island delegates, led by Liberal leader, Premier Alex Campbell, who leave here today for Ottawa, will be among hundreds of Liberals, from St. John's to Vancouver, who converge on Ottawa's Chateau Laurier for the Liberal Party's three-day "National Meeting 1966" and the "Liberal Party Conference". This is the first major, all-party conference of the Liberal Party in five years, and is the culmination of almost a full year's work by the National Conference Planning Committee, and its staff at National Liberal Federation Headquarters in Ottawa, in conjunction with the various Regional and Provincial Planning Committees across the nation.

From a purely technical standpoint, many parts of this national conference will be unique to Canadian politics. There will be a complete private TV station in operation at the conference hotel, so that no matter where a delegate is on the hotel's main floor, the conference proceedings can be followed. At the same time, all the proceedings of the plenary sessions will be piped through closed circuit TV channel to every room in the Chateau Laurier, while translated simultaneous translation receivers, carried by the delegates, will enable all to follow the conference proceedings at any time in either English or French.

Underwater resources, Communications, Economic Growth and Development, Education, and Industrial and Social Growth and Development.

Highlighting the deliberations, debate and discussions of the Island Delegation at the Plenary Sessions will be the Island Delegation resolution on Transportation to be placed before the principal plenary session on transportation by party policy strategist D. Frank Sigsworth.

The Conference officially opens Monday morning, and concluded with a banquet on Wednesday evening, at which the key-note speaker will be Prime Minister Pearson, National Liberal Party Leader.
