Increase Shown In Wood Islands Traffic Figures

The steadily rising tide of traffic on the Wood Islands-Caribou route showed another increase during the month of October, compared with the same month of 1951.

There were 8,262 passengers ferried between the two Provinces as against 6,316 in October of last year. This represented an increase of 1,946 for the month. At the same time the number of automobiles ferried increased from 1,468 to 1,867 and the total number of trucks rose from 870 to 1,167.

The total traffic figures from the start of the service in May to the end of October show that there were 77,457 passengers carried this year. This is an increase of 3,525 over the 73,932 carried in the same time last year. Automobiles showed an increase of 545 to 19,639 from the 19,094 of last year and trucks jumped from 4,493 to 6,021.

Record Turnout

in both Houses by the opposition. That was President Truman's predicament when the Republicans in 1947-48 had a majority in both Houses. As Truman said, he and congress didn't get along.

No matter who wins, the man who enters the White House will not be the man who fought the campaign of 1952. He could not possibly be the man his supporters pictured as the knight in shining armor leading his people to victory over the forces of oppression or the scoundrel his detractors said he was.

Recall 1928 Fight

Veteran election reporters, familiar only in the history books with what went on before the 1900's in a U.S. election campaign, could compare the 1928 battle only with that of 1928 in attempting to show the level of this political fight.

In 1928, the Democrats' Alfred Smith lost to the Republicans' Herbert Hoover in an election in which the issue of whether a Roman Catholic for a Protestant should sit in the White House was prominent.

In any other year, any one of the "issues" put before the voters in 1952 would have meant victory or defeat for either of the major parties. In the final analysis it boiled down to:

Republican or Democrat? Almost imperceptibly, the slogan of the Republican Party swept the country: "It's time for a change."

But the hesitant voter hearkened, too, to the Democratic cry: "You've never had it so good."

Millions of words were spoken around those themes in three months of a campaign that left the voter bewildered. He was deluged with oratory—from the public platform, by radio and through television—to such an extent that most of the estimated $30,000,000 spent on its production was wasted.

Some estimates of the cost of the 1952 election campaign ran as high as $80,000,000.

Many Issues

There were so many issues in 1952 that it seemed to observers that the voter could only throw up his hands and decide:

The Republican Party promises to make a clean-up in Washington, a sweep that is overdue because one party has been too long in power.

The Democratic Party has brought prosperity to the country and stands for social progress—legislation to improve the lot of the working man which the Republicans at times have shown

Morell Reaches Objective At Blood Donor Clinic

The first of this week's series of Red Cross Blood Donor Clinics held in Morell Memorial Hall yesterday afternoon was a very successful one as the objective of 100 donors was reached. The majority of the donors in attendance came from Morell and Morell Rear but other districts represented were, Byrnes Road, Marie, St. Peters, St. Peters West and Harbor, Five Houses and Farmington.

Under the energetic chairmanship of Rev. P. McKenna the members of the Morell Women's Institute, Catholic Women's League, Canadian Legion and Junior Red Cross all joined hands to provide workers, refreshments and transportation which all meant much to the successful outcome of the clinic. The Morell Memorial Hall was kindly donated by its Board of Directors. Great credit is due all those who contributed towards the gratifying results of this clinic.

they don't like. Briefly, these were the main issues:

The Korean war—The Democrats "blundered" into it and cannot finish it. Only a new fresh approach can hope to bring it to an end.

The war was started in Moscow. The Democrats, striving to strengthen America's bastion against aggression, had to throw American troops into it. They are doing all they can to end it.

Communism in government—The Democratic administration is shot with Communism or left-wingers. Only the Republicans—by democratic methods—can root them out.

There may be some fellow-travellers in the administration—how could they be kept out?—but only the Democrats are equipped to get rid of them, fast.

Corruption in government—The Democrats have been in power since 1932. They are old and tired. Too many heads of bureaus have yielded to temptation. Graft is rampant.

Of course there is some corruption, human nature being what it is. But it isn't as bad as the Republicans make out. We are doing our best to eradicate it.

Social progress—

"Open up the frontiers of America." Let the social gains of the last two decades be maintained, but let there be opportunity for all with no molly-coddling of incompetents.

"We haven't started." Let there be security for all—the aged, the infirm, the downtrodden. "Don't let them take it away."

There were other "issues" but, perhaps because the voter had reached the saturation point, were lost sight of as the campaign dragged on.

What part will "McCarthyism" play tomorrow? Senator Joseph McCarthy has been seeking Communists in government. His methods at times have been unsavory—a sweeping denunciation made up of innuendo and half-truth that, nevertheless has been effective.

Eisenhower Vulnerable

Eisenhower is vulnerable on that issue. He has endorsed McCarthy's campaign for re-election in Wisconsin but he has rejected McCarthy.

Senator Richard Nixon of California is Eisenhower's running-mate. Early in the campaign it was disclosed that as a senator, he had accepted $18,000 from wealthy constituents to relieve the financial pressure that weighs so heavily upon the people's representatives in Washington.

For a time Eisenhower considered dropping Nixon from his ticket, an unprecedented action that might have meant a Republican defeat. But Nixon "told" the country—wide television-radio broadcast and the "issue" now is all but forgotten.

What of the candidates? On the eve of voting, Dwight D. Eisenhower cannot now be the man who last July fought for and won the Republican nomination.

Has he, as the Democrats say, become a out-and-out politician, willing to take the course of political expediency?

Or is he as he says he is, the man of high principle and integrity who led the Allied forces to victory in Europe in 1945?

Is Adlai Stevenson the able governor of Illinois that he was last spring?

Or is he, as the Republicans say he is, the man who hopes to fall heir to Truman's collection of incompetents that is fast running the United States into the ground?

To be elected a presidential candidate needs 268 votes of the 531 in the electoral college.

Outside of the campaign managers, whose business it is, no one tonight was "going out on a limb" in forecasting tomorrow's result. The "undecided" vote is too large.

Professional pollsters favor Eisenhower but none go all out in predicting a Republican victory. Perhaps they recall 1948 when they said New York's Governor Thomas Dewey would defeat Truman. In 1952 all say the heavy "undecided" vote—as much as 9.9 per cent—will be decisive.

Souris Goes "Over The Top"

The Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic held in St. Mary's Hall in Souris resulted in the registration of 127 donors—an all time high for this busy little centre.

About 80 per cent of these donors were from the town of Souris itself, but the balance of them came from 20 of the surrounding districts. It was gratifying to have so many districts represented and also to find that such a large number of the donors were attending a clinic of this kind for the first time.

Mr. Bruce Stewart, Chairman of the Red Cross Blood Donor Committee and all those associated with him in the arranging and carrying out of the Souris Clinic can be justly proud of the satisfying result. The members of the newly-organized Junior Ladies Auxiliary of the Souris Hospital provided workers and refreshments, and several other helpers who have been on hand at previous clinics also played an important part in carrying out the many tasks in connection with the Clinic.

Citizens of Charlottetown and vicinity will have to look to their laurels today and tomorrow to keep up to the records established by both Morell and Souris. If the same results can be obtained in the clinics to be held during the next three days the Island can easily exceed its objective of 1,000 and thereby make provision for the blood needs during the next six months.

Wood Islands Couple Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Hughie MacPherson, Wood Islands, was the scene of a happy gathering when, on the evening of September 23, they were at home to upwards of 175 of their friends and relatives, on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary.

The house was tastefully decorated for the occasion with golden streamers and autumn flowers. The guests were received by Mrs. Margaret Matheson of Charlottetown and Mrs. William Whiteaway of Dover, nieces of Mr. MacPherson.

Mrs. Kenneth Martin of Charlottetown had charge of the guest book.

Callers were pleasantly surprised by the fact that Mrs. MacPherson wore her wedding dress of 50 years ago. It was of white swiss organdy with lace trim with long sleeves with large insets and a long full skirt, ending in a train.

Mrs. Laughlin MacMillan, of Wood Islands, cousin of Mrs. MacPherson, read an address, on behalf of the assembled guests, and a generous gift was presented by Mr. John M. MacPherson of Brooklyn, nephew of Mr. MacPherson.

In addition, they were recipients of many beautiful gifts, which included a gold coloured blanket from the Wood Islands Women's Institute, several pieces of china and crystal, a bouquet of yellow Sweetheart roses, and many other lovely gifts. A large number of letters and cards were received from friends in distant places, conveying congratulations and good wishes.

After the presentation a sumptuous buffet supper was served to the guests. The table was centered by a three tier wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom, and by a tastefully decorated bride's cake.

At the request of the guests, Mr. and Mrs. MacPherson performed a highland dance with admirable skill and grace. They were accompanied by Mr. Bill Bears of Belle River with the pipes.

During the evening Mr. Bears played several selections on the pipes and Mr. John Bears of Brooklyn rendered several solos, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. George Hume of Montague. The remainder of the evening was pleasantly spent in singing and dancing. Music for the dancing was supplied by Mr. Elmer MacLeod of Dundas, Mr. Kenny MacPhee of Heathville, and Miss Compton of Belle River.

In the wee small hours the guests departed for their homes wishing Mr. and Mrs. MacPherson many more years of wedded life.

The guests included friends from Summerside, Massachusetts, U.S.A., Charlottetown, Stanley Bridge, Dundas and Pownal.
