On motion a hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Clay and her staff for their hospitality was conveyed by Mrs. Llewellyn and responded to by Mrs. Clay. Mrs. A. D. MacLure presided at the piano for a sing-song and an enjoyable evening closed with singing of Auld Lang Syne.

Father of TV Dies In New Jersey

UPPER MONTCLAIR, N. J., (AP) — Dr. Herbert Eugene Ives, prominent physicist-scientist some times called the "father of television," died at his home Friday night. He was 71.

Dr. Ives, who retired six years ago from the Bell Telephone laboratories in New York, was in charge of the first demonstration of television between Washington and New York in 1927.

In later years, he demonstrated color TV, experimental three-dimensional motion pictures, and made other important contributions in the field of picture transmission.

Golden Wedding

..*Mr. and Mrs. Archibald MacDonald, Constitution Street, Pictou, N. S., celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on November 4. The couple are well-known and highly respected citizens of Pictou, and have spent all of the half-century there. Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald are also well known in Prince Edward Island and frequently visit in Georgetown at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Batchilder. Mary Theresa MacDonald, daughter of the late Wallace MacDonald and Virginia DeLory, was married in the place of her birth, Morell, P. E. I., on November 4, 1903, in St. Lawrence Church, to Archibald MacDonald, son of the late John MacDonald and Johanna Brown of Pictou.

An employee of the Canadian National Railways, "Archie" MacDonald retired in 1942. Both are devout members of Stella Maris Church, Mrs. MacDonald being one of the charter members of the Catholic Women's League when it was formed in Pictou in 1940, and Mr. MacDonald having been active in former years in the Holy Name Society. He is also a veteran fireman and still keenly interested in his church and town.

The MacDonald family had twelve children. Four boys and two girls have passed away, and six are still living: Wallace, Gertrude, Mrs. Joseph Babineau; Theresa, Mrs. Laurie Babineau; all of Halifax; Ernest, in Waltham, Mass.; Lucille, Mrs. Bernard Batchilder, Georgetown, P. E. I.; and Vincent of Pictou, N. S. They have seventeen grandchildren.

A family reunion and anniversary dinner was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald in Pictou, on November 7.—AC.

Big Preparations For Forthcoming Royal Tour

LONDON, (Reuters) — The people of a dozen dominions and colonies are busy preparing for the forthcoming tour of the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh.

Here in Britain, hundreds of officials are checking and re-checking the Royal itinerary. The Royal Couple are at Sandringham, spending hours each day with tour officials.

Meanwhile, thousands of miles away, dancers are rehearsing Polynesian rituals, natives are laying in mountains of supplies, canoes and locomotives are being lavishly decorated and entire cities repainted.

Prince Charles, Princess Anne, Prime Minister Churchill and government officials will be on hand to say goodbye to the Queen and her husband Nov. 23. The Royal children will not see their parents again till May 15, 174 days later, but there will be frequent phone calls home, especially around Christmas time

Use Same Plane

The Royal Couple will fly from here to Bermuda, via Gander, Nfld., in the Stratocruiser in which they visited the United States and Canada two years ago. They will stay there only one day, the Queen addressing a joint session of Parliament, the oldest in the empire, before continuing on to Jamaica.

At Jamaica, there will be two days of formal receptions, troop reviews, a swim for the Queen and a game of polo for the Duke.

They then will board the 15,902-ton liner Gothic, spruced up for the occasion and already on her way out from London. The Gothic will take them through the Panama Canal, where they will stop off for a reception by Panama's president, Col. Jose Antonio Remon, and then to Fiji.

Hundreds of Fijian canoes will greet the Gothic as it drops anchor in Suva Bay. Richly-dressed local officials will board her to conduct the "thavuikelekele" ceremony, giving the Queen permission to land as the first reigning British monarch to visit Fiji.

To Visit Salote

Then on to Tonga, the "friendly islands." Queen Elizabeth insisted on extending the stay there from six hours to 24, as a tribute to Queen Salote, the six-foot-two monarch who won the hearts of millions of Britons at the Coronation.

The visitors will spend the night in Queen Salote's palace, while 400 burlyl, skirted Tongans, carrying torches, keep a night-long vigil. They will wake to the soft music of a "nose-flute" symphony.

Dec. 23 to Jan. 30 the Queen and the Duke will be in New Zealand, where they will attend 44 receptions in 39 days, plus investitures, garden parties, civic dinners and special visits to farms, factories, scenic spots ands welfare institutions. There algo will be race meetings, yachting and two short holidays in remote districts.

Highlights of the New Zealand visit will be the Queen's annual Christmas Day broadcast from Auckland, the first time the Royal Christmas broadcast has been made from outside Britain.

Roads Repaired

In Australia, where the Queen will be from Feb. 3 to April 1, hundreds of miles of roads are being repaired and resurfaced, buildings painted and decorated and special gardens laid out to greet the visitors with red, white and blue blossoms.

They will visit every Australian state and see most of the country's scenic wonders, from the Great Barrier Reef of Queensland to the rugged peaks and valleys of the Blue Mountains of New South Wales.

The Duke, who has been to Australia twice before while serving in the British Navy, will visit the Woomera rocket range. The Queen will open the Federal Parliament and several state Parliaments.

On their way home from the Australian summer to the British spring, the Queen and the Duke will visit the Cocos Islands, Ceylon, Aden, Uganda, Libya, Malta and Gibraltar.

25th Anniversary of Peters Rd. W.I.

....*On Thursday evening the members of the Peter's Road West Women's Institute met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hicken to celebrate their 25th anniversary. The rooms were tastefully decorated in the Institute colors of yellow and blue. The toast to the Queen was proposed by Mrs. Chester McSwain, and the toast to the chartered members was proposed by Mrs. Gerald Johnston.

An address was read by Mrs. Harold McSwain and the life membership pins were presented to Mrs. John A. McSwain, Mrs. Chester McSwain, Mrs. Jessie Butler, Mrs. Russell Acorn, Mrs. Marge Munn, and Mrs. Otis Jackson by Mrs. Raymond McAulay.

A moment of silent prayer was offered for those departed from from among the Institute and also those who were unable to attend, ter which a delicious supper was served by the younger members of the Institute. The table was centered by an anniversary cake and tapers. The cake was cut in the traditional manner by Mrs. John McSwain.

The evening was spent in singing and step dancing, which was very much enjoyed by all. Music was supplied by Mr. and Mrs. Otis Jackson.

Wins $24,000 On 'Sweep' Ticket

LOUISEVILLE, Que., (CP) — Jacques Mondor, a 31-year-old druggist, bought a $1 army and navy sweepstake ticket in Montreal a week ago and Saturday won a near $24,000.

The sweepstake was based on the annual Manchester Handicap, run Saturday in Manchester, England.

"I'm very happy," said Mondor in an interview.

A native of Montreal, he came here to work at a drugstore four years ago. He was at work when informed of his newly-acquired wealth.

A bachelor, Mondor said he has no immediate plans to spend the money.

"It's surely going to come in handy."

The ticket was the fourth he has ever bought. The others were non-winners.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. DAVID MacDONALD

The people of Cherry Hill and surrounding districts were saddened when they learned that Mrs. David MacDonald of Cherry Hill had passed away suddenly in Charlottetown on the morning of August 12th, in her eightieth year.

The deceased, nee Florence MacDonald, was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander MacDonald of Glencoe, P. E. I.

When a young woman she moved to the U. S. A. where her earlier years were spent. Returning to Prince Edward Island some thirty years ago she married David MacDonald of Cherry Hill, to whom she was a devoted and loving wife, a constant companion and helpmate.

The deceased who possessed a genial and happy disposition, was a good friend and neighbour and by her kind hospitality in her home won for herself a host of friends who will ever cherish her memory.

As long as her health permitted Mrs. MacDonald took a keen interest in affairs which pertained to the betterment of the community in which she lived. She was a member of the St. Andrew's Altar Society and the Cherry Hill Women's Institute.

She leaves to mourn the following step-children: (Ellen) Mrs. Reginald MacDonald; (Catherine) Mrs. Gerald MacDonald; (Mamie) Mrs. A. A. Luman.

John and George, all residing in the United States, and James of Cherry Hill, also one sister Mrs. Donald J. MacDonald of Blooming Point and a brother John R., Dorchester, Mass. One sister and five brothers predeceased her.

The last Rites of the Roman Cathelic Church were administered to her by Rev. P. T. MacDonald, of the Basilica staff.

Her largely attended funeral was held from the residence of her step-son on August 15th to St. Andrew's Church where Requiem High Mass was sung by Rev. George MacCormac, P.P., St. Andrews. Rev. William V. MacDonald, P.P., St. Peter's, was present in the Sanctuary.

Pall bearers were Messrs. James Walker, William Crawford, Harold Coffin, John A. MacDonald, Walter MacDonald and Douglas Smith.

May her soul rest in peace.

Following is a list of Mass cards, messages of sympathy.

Souris Blood Donor Committee Meets Success

Mr. Bruce L. Stewart, who is the Imperial Oil representative at Souris, is the capable chairman of the Souris Committee to arrange for the Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic to be held in St. Mary's Hall on Monday evening, November 30th. Mr. Stewart reports arrangements well underway and meeting with enthusiastic response. He is loud in his praise of the work being done in connection with this Clinic by the members of the Junior Ladies' Aid of the Souris Hospital of which Mrs. Arthur Wright is the president.

These energetic ladies realize the importance of the Blood Transfusion Service in the recovery of many hospital patients and have undertaken a house to house canvass for which purpose they have divided the town into seven zones. These same ladies have also agreed to provide refreshments and workers for the clinic.

Make Progress In Peace Talks

PANMUNJOM, (CP) — Progress in attempts to clear the way for a Korean peace conference was reported Saturday.

Top UN and Red diplomatic negotiators planned to meet today to make a new attempt at reaching agreement.

United States ambassador Arthur Dean and his Red counterparts broke a three-week deadlock Saturday with agreement on an agenda.

The agenda allows formation of two sub-committees—one to discuss the makeup and a site for the peace parley, the other to fix a starting date.
