Lovely Dahlia

fiery red in color with a yellow shading at the centre; the Ogdan Reid's, a huge light pink dahlia; the Carolina Maid's with their peach and gold coloring shaded with light violet, and the cactus type Roselyn Straight.

Unusual Varieties

Two very unusual varieties are the Island Patrol, a red and gold dahlia, and the Royal Albert, which is purple and white. Then there are the Cherry Agars, Rennowns, Frank Serpa's, Elite Glories, Croydin Masterpieces and the Windemeres to mention only a small portion of them.

In the front row are all the small pompoms and they are every color of the rainbow. The larger dahlias are arranged in rows back of the pompoms.

This dahlia patch has been developed under the guidance of Mr. Gordon Warren, Horticulturist at the Experimental Station. But Mr. Warren states that most of the credit must be given to his helpers, Messrs. Amby Smith, James Baldwin and Ernest MacMillan.

Mr. Warren claims there are around 150 varieties in the patch with about 75 varieties being added this year. Each year he states that they have to discard about 15 per cent of their plants.

Method of Planting

The dahlias are planted in rows with each being planted about two feet apart. Mr. Warren tries to grow one plant to one stem. "In Pork Prices On Par Now With U.S.

The price of pork in Canada is now approximately on a par with that of the United States, as a result of the recent drop in prices here, stated Mr. H. W. Clay, Senior Livestock Fieldman with the Dominion Department of Agriculture yesterday. The present price of 23 cents a pound, live weight, in Chicago is equivalent to 28 cents a pound dressed weight here, although in the past the Canadian price has been much higher on the average.

An item of interest to purebred swine breeders within a radius of 10-15 miles of Charlottetown is that Colonel F. I. Andrew has purchased the aged boar, Woodstock Duke, 1200, from Oliver Meek and Son, French River. This is the boar that has sired the prize-winning stock owned by Mr. Roland Payton during the last few years. The moving of this boar to this section of the Province, Mr. Clay said, is of great importance to local breeders.

Recent shipments of purebred swine include one registered Yorkshire boar, shipped by N. W. MacLeod, Dundas, to Arnel W. Levy, Ft. William, N.S., and Almon Boswell, two bred sows, and William Found, New London, one bred sow, to Mr. Robb, London, Ontario.

Princess Elizabeth

John Weir, the King's head physician, and his three associates go in with their little black satchels. After the doctors' first call today, Queen Mary went to visit Princess Elizabeth at Clarence House. The Princess and her husband paid a short call at Buckingham Palace tonight.

"The condition of the King's lung gives cause for concern," the medical announcement said. "In view of the structural changes referred to in the last bulletin, we have advised His Majesty to undergo an operation in the near future. This advice the King has accepted."

"In connection with today's bulletin regarding the King's health, the Governors-General of Ceylon, Australia and New Zealand and the Governors of Gibraltar, Malta and Aden have been informed that the final decision regarding the possibility of His Majesty's undertaking his projected tour next year will be announced within a week or two.

"Meanwhile, all His Majesty's engagements in this country for the next few weeks are, of course, cancelled. "It is intended the projected tour of Canada by the Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will still be carried out in full. Their Royal Highnesses will not leave England by sea on Tuesday, as originally planned, but hope to fly on a later day so as to arrive at Quebec in time to begin the tour on the 2nd October.

The Queen was with the King when this announcement was broadcast to the nation. "That way you get fewer blooms," he stated. "but larger sizes and better quality." He looks for health and vigor in the plant and strong stems. "They must have good flower habits as well as distinctive and interesting colors and types," he added.

Many of the bulbs are brought from Australia but a number come from Holland and some are imported from other parts of Canada. After receiving the bulbs in the early spring they are stored in a moderately cool, dry cellar in sand and in May are put in a forcing frame, also in sand.

Here the tubers sprout and are taken from the sand and divided with the divisions a made so that one foot apart. Mr. Warren tries to grow one plant to one stem. "In

Will Have New 10-Acre Berry Field In Production

Strawberry pickers will be picking off a new 10-acre field next year on the farm of Mr. Fred G. MacIntyre, Montague.

This large field of new plants, in perfectly straight rows, cleanly cultivated, presents a delightful picture of farm cultivation at its best, and no one knows better than Mr. MacIntyre how to plant and care for strawberry plants, since he has been in this phase of production since he began farming many years ago. For the past five years he has engaged in this industry on a commercial basis, and has experimented widely with many different varieties. Last year Mr. MacIntyre had 30 acres of berries under cultivation, and picked off twenty, with a relatively high yield although it was a poor season. Next year he will have 12 acres of new plants off which to pick, and if the season proves an average one, expects to gather an average of 5,000 boxes per acre. Some of the varieties include the favorite Dunlap, the large Dorset, Dresden, Midlands and Premier. Those who have received berries from Mr. MacIntyre will recall the boxes of large golden Dorsets and Midlands, which are becoming so popular with the household-er.

However, the greater percentage of the new acreage is Dunlap, which is one of the best all-service berry.

Besides carrying on his new industry, Mr. MacIntyre and his sons also find time to continue the normal farm operations extensively, and must of necessity since 50 tons of straw will be required to cover the plants of this one new field alone.

Without doubt one of the largest strawberry production farms, it has been the center of attraction every summer by countless visitors from U. S. A. and Central Canada who have commented favorably on the extensive operations carried on at Mr. MacIntyre's farm.

Chaplain, Rev. Louis A. Dougan will celebrate Solemn High Mass, the main altar of our new chapel will be formally dedicated.

The altar was donated by Father Dougan, a native of Charlottetown, and was erected as a testimonial to men of the Royal Canadian Navy and in memory of those who met death in service. The members of the University Naval Training Division of St. Dunstan's will attend the service and dedication in a body.

No "Week" would be complete at this time of year without some reference to football. Well, coach A. J. MacAdam is sparing no efforts to field a capable team in the best St. Dunstan's tradition. With many stars of last year's squad gone from the campus the task is not easy. Yet, it is difficult for us at S.D.U. not to be optimistic.

The WEEK at S. D. U.

Chaplain, Rev. Louis A. Dougan will celebrate Solemn High Mass, the main altar of our new chapel will be formally dedicated.

The altar was donated by Father Dougan, a native of Charlottetown, and was erected as a testimonial to men of the Royal Canadian Navy and in memory of those who met death in service. The members of the University Naval Training Division of St. Dunstan's will attend the service and dedication in a body.

No "Week" would be complete at this time of year without some reference to football. Well, coach A. J. MacAdam is sparing no efforts to field a capable team in the best St. Dunstan's tradition. With many stars of last year's squad gone from the campus the task is not easy. Yet, it is difficult for us at S.D.U. not to be optimistic.

There is an abundance of back field material on the campus, with many of last year's fine second team eligible for the senior team. The big problem, as seems to be these years, is the forwards. Only one scrum man from last year's team is returned. However, there are some likely looking prospects on the campus. They lack, of course, experience and practice. We cannot expect miracles from untried performers, but if A. J. persuades some of these hefty-looking newcomers that football for St. Dunstan's is one of the best things a man can do, there should be some upsats.

By this time next week we should have plenty of news regarding organizational steps taken during the week. Concerning this, we hope to be able to report that the first social of the new year was held on Thursday the 27th. If so, then we shall be able to say with certainty, "The Saints are back".

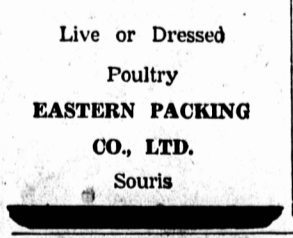

Now, from S.D.U., to all of you, health and happiness!

GRANBY, Que., Sept. 21. (CP) - The banquet table for Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh when they visit Toronto will be decorated in a distinctively Canadian way. An order has been placed here for 2,200 maple leaves and a quantity of maple sugar.
