

Mother Accepts Death Rather Than Take Blood Transfusion

OTTAWA (CP) — Reflecting the pleas of her husband and doctor, a deeply-religious mother of two children accepted death in childbirth rather than submit to a blood transfusion. She was a member of the Witnesses of Jehovah.

"I pleaded with her and so did her husband," said Dr. E. M. Young, her physician. "But she told me her religious beliefs prevented her from accepting the blood of another person."

Mrs. A. W. Routliffe, 36, who lived at nearby Aylmer, Que., died Thursday in an Ottawa hospital. Her child was stillborn. Dr. Young said Saturday in an interview he believed both might be alive if Mrs. Routliffe had accepted the transfusion.

Crown Attorney Raoul Mercier said he will decide today whether an inquest will be required. So far he had received only a verbal report of the case. This was a matter of religion, he said, beyond his legal authority.

HUSBAND PLEADED

Dr. Young said the woman's husband, a Presbyterian, had pleaded with her at the hospital, but she refused to accept the blood but she refused.

Mr. Routliffe survives along with two young daughters.

Members of the religious sect said the question of whether a Witness must refuse the blood of another is a matter of personal choice. Some are known to carry cards in their wallets stating that if they become injured, they are not to be given a transfusion.

Two passages from the Bible are quoted in the cards: "Keep yourself from blood," Acts, 15:29; and "Ye shall eat the blood of no manner of flesh," Leviticus.

When Mrs. Routliffe's condition became critical Dr. Ferguson, former Jehovah Witness official, was called. He told hospital officials the question of a transfusion was one for Mrs. Routliffe to decide. He could offer her no advice.

THE SATISFACTION of a job well done by the Knights of Columbus is registered on the faces of these members of the Charlottetown Knights of Columbus. They are shown "Burning the Mortgage" on the Knights of Columbus Home on Water Street in a ceremony in the Holy Name Hall on Saturday night.

Local Knights Of Columbus Celebrate Diamond Jubilee

Charlottetown Council No. 824 of the Knights of Columbus celebrated the Diamond Jubilee of the founding of the order over the week-end.

On Saturday evening a special meeting of the Council was held in the Holy Name Hall, presided over by Grand Knight Urban J. MacQuaid, at which a large number of members and brothers from other Councils were in attendance. A highlight of the meeting was the ceremony, under the direction of Bro. William A. Ledwell in which the mortgage of the Council home was burned.

Past Grand Knight Russell St. John, during whose term of office the present Council Home on Water Street was purchased, presented the mortgage to Grand Knight MacQuaid who then performed the actual ceremony, bringing to a happy conclusion the efforts of executives and members to clear the home of debt.

During the meeting Bro. William A. Brown, Chairman of the Fraternal Activity Committee, made a presentation to Rev. Frederick L. Cass, Moderator of the Maritime Intercollegiate Debating League to St. Dunstan's University, in recognition and appreciation of his work with the debating teams at the college who have for the second time brought the dominion championship to Prince Edward Island.

Special speaker at the meeting was Rev. Stephen Sweeney, of the Passionist Order, who is Lenten Speaker at the Basilica. Father Sweeney urged the members to continue the apostolic work of the order by a small group of dedicated men who founded the Order which to-day numbers more than one million members.

To climax the meeting a group of members under the direction of Rev. James Kelly, the Council Chaplain presented "The Founders" a descriptive narrative of the founding of the Knights of Columbus by the Rev. Michael J. McGivney at New Haven, Connecticut. The moral of the playlet was to point out and emphasize the need for the formation of a society such as the Knights, the different and difficult problems and faced the resolute group led by Fr. McGivney as they launched the order, and the four principles of charity, unity, fraternity and patriotism which have guided its members over the years. Sunday's activities included the Communion Mass and Breakfast and the Ladies' night held last evening at the Council Home.

COMMUNION BREAKFAST

Give Prince Edward Island ten or twenty men imbued with the spirit of christianity and you can re-make this Province," stated Rev. Dr. Daniel McCormack of St. Francis Xavier University, speaking yesterday morning at what was probably the largest attended annual Communion Breakfast of the Charlottetown Council Knights of Columbus held in the Charlottetown Hotel.

In an eloquent address Father McCormack declared that the true spirit of Christianity, the true standard of success was contained in the three words "Love Your Neighbor."

"Just as a new car owner gets a book of instructions or lessons from a master mechanic so also the maker of man has left us directions if we are to fulfill our destiny," stated Father McCormack. They are simple, so simple a three word book of instructions "Love Thy neighbor."

"All this we know and yet I wonder? Do we save ourselves by losing ourselves in the welfare of our neighbor? Is our road to happiness this moment predicated on
