

Meeting Is Told Alberton Harbor Project Promised

The most ambitious project sponsored by the Alberton and West Prince Board of Trade since their re-organization in 1955, the improvement of harbour and docking facilities at Alberton, has every prospect of becoming a reality, according to information made known last night at the regular meeting of the board.

In making this gratifying announcement to the largely attended meeting, the president, Earle Atkinson, read a letter from Dr. Orville H. Phillips addressed to the secretary C. R. Leard, containing the information that the Dept. of Public Works had submitted to the Treasury Board a program which he felt sure would meet with the approval of the board. Dr. Phillips expressed thanks to the Alberton and West Prince Board of Trade for their interest and co-operation in the matter.

The programme of improvements will consist of dredging and improvement to the wharf facilities. A complete hydrographic survey of Cascumpe Bay is to be carried out this summer. Mild weather prevented a survey on the ice which had been planned this winter. A preliminary survey of the approaches to the Alberton harbour was carried out last summer.

A letter from Premier A. W. Matheson acknowledged receipt of the detailed harbour brief prepared by the board and gave assurance that he would be happy to do anything in his power to support the project, as a more prosperous town would certainly benefit the Province.

Fred C. Ramsay, M. L. A. also expressed interest in the harbour project and commended the board for their fine work to date.

In view of the proposed improvement and extension of the docking wharves a resolution was approved authorizing the Premier to make available an amount of money in whatever form he and his gov. saw fit, to establish a cold storage and a fish packing plant at Alberton.

O'LEARY STREETS

The following resolution requesting paved streets in O'Leary was approved and is to be forwarded to the Dept. of Highways:

Whereas the roads in and about the village of O'Leary have now reached a stage where they are, for the most part, practically impassable and, whereas the construction of a new hospital was completed in O'Leary last year and is the only institution of its kind in Prince Edward Island which does not have a paved street within one hundred yards of its entrance and whereas the factory of the Amalgamated Dairies is situated on Gaspe Road, so-called, and the street leading to this industry is always in a deplorable condition and, whereas the street known as Willow Avenue leading from the bank and drug store to a hammer mill and only theatre in the village is impassable at times for motor vehicles and pedestrians as well.

Therefore be it resolved that this West Prince Board of Trade recommend that this matter be brought to the attention of the government officials responsible and that a paving program for the foregoing be considered as soon as possible.

During the general business session the secretary, C. R. Leard, presented the financial statement as audited by A. L. Tibbets.

Correspondence was read regarding the Royal Commission on Price Spreads and Frank Bryan was appointed chairman

MEET AGAIN AFTER 50 YEARS

Bonds of friendship forged more than 50 years ago in Prince Edward Island, and almost forgotten during decades of toil on the Prairies, were again recalled and renewed last summer during a visit back to the Island by the three old-timers (left to right) L. S. MacMillan, Colin MacKay, and J.R. MacDonald. During the busy years on homesteads, after their migration westward, the three men married, raised families, and gradually lost trace of each other.

Last summer the trio, now widowers, met again on the Bluenose Special excursion en route to the Maritimes, and swapped yarns collected during their years on the prairies.

Mr. L. S. MacMillan, now 72, homesteaded in the Lacombe district. Colin L. MacKay, now 78, settled in Donald and J.R. MacDonald, 75, located in the Edmonton district.

In the summer of 1903 (54 years ago) these three men travelled together by train to Western Canada on the harvest excursion which at that time was an annual event, and having resided in the Province of Alberta for 54 years it was never their privilege to meet each other until by a strange coincidence they all met on the Blue-nose special.

In the case of Mr. MacMillan this was the first time he had visited the land of his birth since leaving in 1903. The others had been back home on several occasions.

L. S. MacMillan was a native of Rocky Point, Colin L. MacKay was born in Park Corner and J. R. MacDonald's former home was near Montague.

Needless to say the three "Macks" thoroughly enjoyed a happy reunion in discussing their respective problems in the intervening years.

Mr. Charles S. MacKey, 83, of Park Corner, is a brother of Mr. Colin MacKay (center, in photo) and has been a subscriber to the Guardian for more than 50 years.

W. E. Jenkins Retires From Summerside Town Council

Unwarranted, destructive criticism, and the disinterest of rate payers are reasons why it is difficult to get men to continue to serve as councillors in the Summerside Town Council, Councillor W. E. Jenkins said Monday evening confirming his intention to retire from the Council where he has represented the citizens of the East Ward for the past six years.

In his final report as Chairman of Police, Fire, and Water Committees, Councillor Jenkins said he had been worried at times by the unfounded criticisms heard on the street from misinformed people who make unfounded statements without taking the time to ascertain their truth or accuracy. He said that these people could always obtain the facts by making inquiries at the town office, which was always available to the ratepayers.

Councillor Jenkins pointed out that a councillor is one of the trustees of the ratepayers tax monies and affairs, sworn to do his duty to the people under the laws of the town, to the best of his ability, and he warned, "if this disinterest, apathy, or unfounded criticism continues in the future, as it has in the past, it will be most difficult to interest good qualified ratepayers to offer for council representation, and the town will ultimately suffer as a result."

In making his own decision against re-offering as a candidate in the forthcoming elections, Councillor Jenkins said he weighed the pressure of present day business commitments in an expanding industry, against his six years of council activity, and while he would like to have had the opportunity of seeing several unfinished important town projects brought to a successful conclusion, he found that time did not allow him to keep up the daily interest in council affairs which must be given to successfully do the job entrusted by the ratepayers.

He said he had six interesting and constructive years in the town council during which they were faced with what appeared to be impossible problems, such as the sleet storm damage of January, 1956, and the loss of the town office by fire, but, he said, these problems were dealt with successfully through the efforts of active and interested council members.

The decision which placed the
