

MR. AND MRS. J. GALLANT AND ATTENDANTS

MARY HAWORTH
Wife Wouldn't Leave Mother

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My wife and I have lived apart for eight years, and it is only during the last four years that she is speaking to me again. I am 45 and my wife is 41. We were married 18 years ago and have two children—a son, age 14, and a daughter, 10. When our daughter was six months old, my wife became ill—mentally ill, and turned against me and her mother. She had 2 shock treatments, which didn't help. Her mother blamed me for Jane's being ill, and chased me out of the house. (We lived with her.) I tried to induce my wife to leave her mother's house; but she felt sorry about her mother's being a widow, and wouldn't go. For years she wouldn't speak to me either—but treats me civilly enough now, when I go to see our daughter. I've had the boy with me for the last 2 1/2 years. The present problem is—I've met a girl I love and would like to marry. She knows the situation. I've been told that I can't get a divorce or annulment in this state. I've given my wife money each week through the court of domestic relations, and I keep the children clothed. Until two years ago I bought Jane's clothes also. This girl will live with me even though I don't get a divorce—even though we know it is wrong. Please help me. I read your column every day. — A. R.

COURTING UNHAPPINESS

DEAR A. R.: You seem to be going from bad to worse in your conduct of life—taking no profit from your blunders. As for this girl you love, who knows the situation and proposes to live with you outside of marriage if she can't do better—well, she isn't bringing you any happiness. Of that you may be sure. There is a saying that "God is not mocked." Which, freely translated, means that you can't break the laws of life, pertaining to the "directing" of human nature, and get away with it, in terms of paying no penalty. On the contrary the laws of righteousness—embodied in the example and teachings of Jesus Christ, who came into the world to spell out for us the significance of human history—these laws are immutable. They are part-and-parcel of the divine ordinance concerned with the shaping of human destiny. You can't break these laws by going against them. They break you, in terms of sifting your presumable gain to dust and ashes, in the final analysis. They leave you bankrupt of happiness, merit, peace of soul and the like—when, as and if you attempt to live in defiance of them. Years ago, a man dropped into my office to discuss his hard-won philosophy of constructive living. Then in his latter 30s, he was coping with the net results of an unfortunate marriage. Separated from his wife, he was trying to learn from his mistakes and eventually do the right thing. More or less inevitable, I suppose, he'd been confronted with love of another woman, in the wake of his marital failure. But, as he explained it, speaking of his firm decision to stay out of such emotional involvements until his life was on a good foundation— "After investing considerable time and money in psychiatric study of my difficulties I now recognize the folly of starting a new fire (of trouble), while I am still fire-fighting a past mistake. I think the same moral applies to your situation.—M.H.

I was a sleepless wreck

My nerves grated from lack of sleep. Indigestion bothered me. I felt jittery, depressed, drained of all ambition and energy. Some people suffer unless antacid because their systems are aggravated by elements in everyday beverages. This is particularly true of those with "nervous" temperaments. While some people can drink tea, coffee, cocoa and some soft drinks without harm, others cannot. Postum does not contain stimulants such as caffeine, theophylline or theobromine which can rob you of sleep, irritate your nerves, speed up pulse down. Postum does not contain tannin to give you indigestion, nor any other ingredient to cause you harm. Switch to Instant Postum, the beverage of comfort! Postum tastes and acts like no other beverage. Postum has its own distinctive flavor. Make Postum instantly, right in your cup. Just add freshly boiling water, or hot milk, stir and enjoy. Try Postum for 30 days. When nerves are soothed, you sleep better, feel better, look better. Get instant Postum at your grocer's. Costs less than 1¢ a cup. A product of General Foods, Limited.
