St. Jean Baptist.

The St. Jean Baptist National Demonstration took place at Quebec on the 24th inst., with all the eclat anticipated. Ten thousand strangers attended and took part in the demonstration. At 8 o'clock in the morning the different divisions of St. Jean Baptist procession began to arrive on the grounds at the Baitez a Novau and the solemn ceremony was performed in the presence of full 15,000 persons, in open air, by His Grace the Archbishop.

The spectacle was grand and imposing. A choir composed of several thousand voices, and accompanied by from 30 to 49 bands, executed a harmonized Mass, especially prepared for the occasion, under the direction of Mr. Gustave Gagnon, organist of the Basilica.

The sermon of the day was preached by Mge. Antoine Racine, Bishop of Sherbrooke. Immediately after the Mass the presentation of address took place, after which the grand procession formed and marched at a signal by cannon shot.

The procession comprised 41 divisions, each containing the representatives of some two to five societies or trades, and each headed by a band of music, with allegorical cars, flags, banners and insignia of these societies.

In addition to the Universities, Colleges, Seminaries, learned professions, musical and literary societies, municipal corporations, benevolent societies, the different trades, sailors, firemen, etc., were represented; while in this remarkable pageant also figured the Huron Indians, the Pontifical Zouaves and the Carillon flag. All along the route crowds of people in holiday attire lined the sidewalks and looked down from the tops of houses. The city was gay with bunting and banners, while the Maple Leaf was conspicuous everywhere.

In the evening the grand national banquet took place at the Quebec Skating Rink commencing at 6.30. Some 1,500 guests were present, including the Governor-General, Lord Archibald Campbell, the Lieut. Governor, the Archbishop and Bishops, the Mayor of Quebec, Mr. Jeanette, Count Fouchault, Mr. Speaker Blanchett, Mr. Speaker Turcotte, Hon. Messrs. Langevin, Laurier, Chapleau, Langelier, Chauveau, Judge Loranger, etc.

At night the fireworks from the Citadel were grand. From Dufferin Terrace could be seen on the Levis Heights a well shaped Beaver, made of gas jets, and other designs burning.

A number of beautiful fireworks were also sent off from the different steamers lying alongside the wharves. These also displayed flags and colored lights, which added not a little towards beautifying the scene.

Telegraphic Communication for Grand Manan and Campobello.

It will be good news for the people of Grand Manan and Campobello, as well as of the mainland, to hear that the Dominion Government have ordered a submarine cable, to connect these Islands with the mainland. The inhabitants of these and the adjacent islands have been isolated, to a great extent, from the rest of our population, but with telegraphic communication secured to them, they will, practically, be brought nearer to their fellow-Provincials. It is also very desirable, in the interests of shipping, that these islands should have telegraphic communication with the rest of the world, that early intelligence of shipping disasters should be communicated and speedy assistance sent to wrecked vessels when practicable.

We are glad to know the Government have decided to take a step so greatly in the interest of our fishing population and the vast body of shipping frequenting those waters. It is not yet decided at what points the cable will land; a careful survey will probably be made before such a decision will have been reached.—Sun.

A P. E. ISLANDER TRIED AND CONVICTED.

—About three weeks ago Rev. Dr. MacLise, of St. John, received a telegram from the district attorney at New York, requesting him to go to that city for the purpose of proving a marriage between a man named McNeil and a young woman named Hilton, the former having been indicted on a charge of having murdered a woman whom he had married previous to his union with Miss Hilton. The pefence in the case endeavored to show that the license produced by the second wife, who was called on as a witness for the prosecution, was a forgery, and hence the call on the Rev. gentleman. The case, however, was concluded when Dr. MacLise arrived there, resulting in the conviction of McNeil, who was sentenced to imprisonment during the remainder of his life. When Dr. MacLise arrived he was called upon to make affidavit of the marriage certificate, which he did in the event of the case being again taken up for argument.—St. John Telegraph.

The Law as to Speaking Out in a Methodist Church.

A curious case has been decided in a New York court of Justice. It appears that the Rev. Richard Harcourt, of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church in that city, was announced to preach a sermon on "The Lessons of the Narragansett Slaughter." Captain W. S. Young, of that vessel, attended, and hearing the preacher speak of the captain and crew of the steamer as arrant cowards, the captain cried out "You are a liar!" This caused all eyes to be turned on the speaker, who, while the closing prayer was being made and a prayer offered up for the person who interrupted the minister, committed another offence, by applying another epithet to the clergyman. These facts are admitted by Captain Young in a card published by him in the New York "Times," and are stated in an interview with him which appears in the "Tribune," the Captain affirming that no one could do more to save the passengers or to stand by the wreck than was done by himself and crew.

Captain Young was arrested towards the close of the meeting, though not by the wish of the minister, and was in due time tried before Judge Peloubet and acquitted. We have not the particulars of the trial before us, but the New York Times, in an editorial article, furnishes the following information:—

The acquittal of Captain Young was not based solely on the fact that he disapproved the teachings of the Rev. Mr. Harcourt. That indiscreet Minister, while preaching the gospel of steamboat accidents, remarked that the officers of the Narragansett were cowards. Of course Captain Young did not like this assertion, and he therefore exclaimed, to the Minister's great astonishment, "You're a liar." Judge Peloubet, however, did not discharge the captain on the ground that a man who is called a coward is always justified in calling his accuser a liar. The Judge based his decision on the fact that Mr. Harcourt was a Methodist, and as such is accustomed to have his sermons reviewed by his congregation with approving remarks as "Amen" and "Glory." If, argued the Judge, it was not disorderly conduct to interrupt it with exclamations of approval, it is not disorderly conduct to interrupt it with exclamations of disapproval. Har' Captain Young, when the minister called him a coward, exclaimed "Amen," or even remarked, "That's right, Brother!" no one would have dreamed of calling him disorderly. With what justice, then, can he be charged with disorderly conduct because he made an exclamation of disapproval?

The Judge seems to have had a genius for subtle points, and the "Times" happens to agree with him. It, however, directs attention to the fact that had Captain Young been in any of the other churches in which "such liberty of prophesying" is not allowed, he would not have got off so well. It would not have been safe for him to utter even an audible "amen!" in the middle of a sermon in Trinity church. It follows from these facts that besides the spiritual benefit of using such exclamations in worship as the "Times" quotes, there are certain immunities attached to that practice which may prove less agreeable to the clergyman than to the individual who indulges in them.

THE RESTORATION OF THE TAY BRIDGE.

An adjourned special general meeting of the North British Railway Company was held in Edinburgh recently in order to consider the bills dealing with the restoration of the bridge over the Tay, and authorizing the company to alter the level of certain parts of their railway. The meeting authorized the conversion of £709,111 (the residue not already issued of £3,000,000) into ordinary stock of the company to bear a dividend of 4 per cent. per annum until conversion, and ranking with the dividend on the rest of the three millions of preference stock. The question was then further adjourned.

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way, and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, and makes the proprietors rich, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple pure remedies, Hop Bitters that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. Try it once. Read of it in another column.

A Good Thing.

German Syrup is the special prescription of Dr. A. Boschee, a celebrated German Physician, and is acknowledged to be one of the most fortunate discoveries in Medicine. It quickly cures Coughs, Colds and all lung troubles of the severest nature, removing, as it does, the cause of the affection and leaving the parts in a strong and healthy condition. It is not an experimental medicine, but has stood the test of years, giving satisfaction in every case, which its rapidly increasing sale every season confirms. Two million bottles sold annually. Beware of medicines of similar names, lately introduced. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States in 1863, and is now sold in every town and village in the civilized world. Three doses will relieve any ordinary cough. Price 75 cents. Sample bottle, 10 cents.
