

N. Y. Yankees Win Fifth Straight Pennant

Set Baseball Record As Yogi Berra Hits Two-Run Homer To Whip Indians

The clutch-hitting New York Yankees nailed down their record-breaking fifth consecutive American League pennant by coming from behind Monday for an 8-5 victory against Cleveland Indians that sent the Bronx Bombers into a second straight world series with Brooklyn Dodgers.

For a time, the crowd of 10,463 Yankee Stadium fans thought the clincher would be deferred as the second-place Indians landed heavily on starter Whitely Ford and had a 5-0 lead after three innings.

The Yankees, led by second baseman Billy Martin, began to slice into the Cleveland lead. Martin hit two doubles, the last one tying the score 5-5 in the sixth.

That set the stage for a typical Yankee rally and Yogi Berra polished it off with a two-run homer in the seventh. Martin then singled some Mickey Mantle for another insurance run.

The crowd let loose with a mighty roar as Berra's homer hit the seats, for they sensed that was it. And it was.

In Monday's only other afternoon action the third place Chicago White Sox nipped Boston 10-4 and in the National League Chicago Cubs hung up their 10th straight victory, a 3-1 defeat of the league champion Dodgers.

The White Sox won out with a big eight-run sixth inning but slugger Ted Williams, pinch-hitting despite a sprained wrist, threw a scare into them with a three-run homer in the eighth. It was Williams' 12th homer since leaving the Marines.

The Cubs, in seventh place despite their hot late-season streak, were helped along by Ralph Kiner's 33rd homer in the sixth. Rookie Wayne Belardi hit his 11th for Brooklyn's only run.

Ambitious Football Plan Mapped Out For Abbies

The Charlottetown Abbies, who have been holding daily workouts for the past week, have an ambitious football program mapped out for this season. It has been learned from Elmer Blanchard, Chairman of the Abbies Football Committee.

With the McCurdy Cup not too far from their training grounds the Abbies are gearing their sights towards the famed mug and hope to transfer the Cup out of the Saint Dunstan's halls to a resting place nearer home for the year 1953-54.

However that's a matter that will be decided sometime around the first of November. In the meantime the Abbies are working to whip a senior team into shape and to interest as many young players as possible in the game.

Mr. Blanchard stated that every effort will be made to field an intermediate team. "We need more recruits for the football field and we want every young athlete to turn out for practice sessions," he said. Everyone will be welcome.

If the Abbies get enough players for an intermediate squad they hope to compete in a league against the Second Saints and Prince of Wales College. The latter will hold their first workout of the year this evening.

Another very important development is taking place in the City football setup. With Earl Nicholson, Supervisor of Physical Education for City Schools, showing the way plans are being laid for the formation of two house leagues for school players.

One league would comprise all players under 140 pounds and the other would be for players over that weight. The players of the three City Schools, Parkdale and Spring Park would be grouped together and teams selected from their midst.

Nicholson is presently busy giving the senior Abbies physical training drill in the evenings. Under his direction about 15 players underwent a strenuous workout yesterday evening. These workouts will be continued until the boys' muscles have been conditioned for actual playing.

When darkness limits the time for evening practices the boys will workout under the lights on Memorial Field.

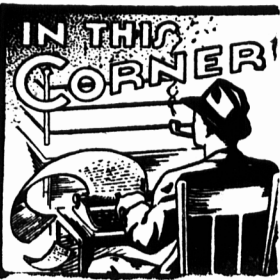

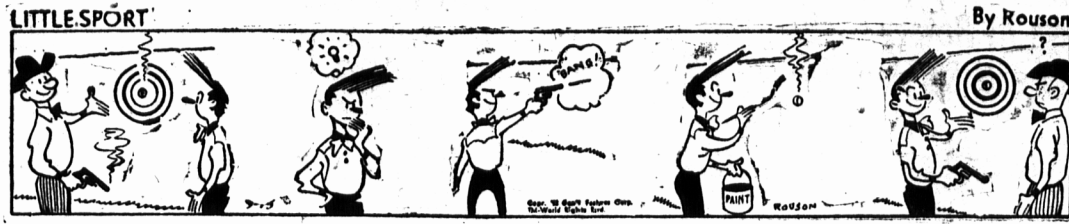

The team this year is being coached by Jim Coyle, Gordon Bennett and Elmer Blanchard. There is a possibility that a number of games will be played under the lights.

Among last year's forwards who have been working out are Noel Wilson, Bill Ledwell, Claude Field, Charlie Reedy, Charlie Heustis and Jack Hennessey. Newcomers among the forwards are Ebbie Devine and Joe Coyle.

Hold-overs from last season's back field include George Scantlebury, Harold Howatt, Frank Strain, Cliff Gillis, Jim Flannagan and Jerry MacDonald. New faces in the backfield will include Jack "Spy" Reedy, Art Perry and Jackie Turner.

Plant life in the Arctic consists mainly of Arctic willows, mosses and grasses.

The University of Naples, largest in Italy, was founded by Frederick II in 1224.

It was with a few pang of regret that we learned that the Junior Abbies would not be continuing in their search of new baseball fields to conquer this year. The Abbies had a pretty smart ball club and given a chance they might have been able to accomplish what no other Charlottetown Junior team has ever done and that is won a Maritime baseball championship. Charlottetown junior teams in the past have been finalists but never Maritime champions.

There were a few obstacles in the way which prompted the Abbies to call it a season. First they had to wait for over a week before they could meet the New Brunswick winners in the Maritime semi-finals. Secondly a number of players will be leaving for college within a few days. Among those players are pitchers Benny Carson, Johnny Squarebriggs and Jan Kennedy all of whom will be attending Acadia University. Thirdly catcher Forbes Kennedy will soon be heading for Montreal and the training camp of the Junior Canadians.

Possibly most and probably all of these obstacles could be overcome. But there was another obstacle which faced the club and that concerned the procuring of money to pay coach Randy Edwards. The fact is that there was no more money available with which to pay Randy and Randy being a working man felt he couldn't live off this air.

Thus it was a combination of events which caused the Abbies' disbandment. The Abegweit Club and the Rotary Club deserve the most commendation for their efforts in bringing Randy here and financing an expensive baseball project throughout the summer. They deserve credit for being able to sponsor the project as long as they did yet it is a rather sad commentary on our appreciation of athletic development when we could not procure a few hundred extra dollars and carry the program through to completion.

Of the money spent in bringing outside talent here to improve local athletic conditions none was put to better use than that paid out to Randy Edwards. Randy worked hard with the kids under his control and he developed them into championship ball players in the Junior, Midget and Little League brackets. But there were other things Randy wanted in his ball players. He wanted them to be champions on and off the diamond and he took stern measures to discipline them when he thought that discipline was needed.

That was one of the things that impressed us about Randy Edwards and Johnny Carroll. Both young men worked on the theory that there was much more to building teams than teaching the fundamental technique of baseball. They wanted their players to act like gentlemen on the playing field and away from it and they instructed their players accordingly. That was the way Randy and Johnny were taught to play.

Johnny Carroll was deeply disappointed over the showing of his team in the Island Junior finals. He told us after the final game that he had never worked so hard with a group of ball players and achieved so little. He laid most of the blame at his own feet. However we can see it that way. The fact that his team didn't produce with the chips on the line could not be blamed on Johnny. The Currantites had the chances but couldn't produce like the Abbies at the crucial moment. As Jimmy Dykes once said "You can't make chicken soup out of chicken feathers."

The keenly contested Little League playdowns between the Abbies and the Summerside team was enough to show that Carroll and Edwards were capable instructors. Some of the best baseball we witnessed this year was played in that series. Those weren't long draw-out games. They were snappily played affairs with piston-like put-outs and plays. These are the boys who need competent instruction throughout the summer months in the years ahead. If they get it there are going to be a lot of good ball players on this Island. We hope that Randy and Johnny are around to see them develop.

Ottawa Bound Today

Goalie Ray Frederick (above) will leave this morning for the Ottawa Senators training camp. Frederick, who claims that he is a free agent, will either play for Ottawa or Charlottetown this winter.

Smith Stops Arthur King In Five Rounds

BROOKLYN, (AP)—Wallace (Bud) Smith, fifth-ranking lightweight contender from Cincinnati, came from behind Monday to stop Arthur King, Canadian lightweight champion from Toronto, in five rounds of their main 10-rounder at the Eastern Parkway Arena.

The bout was stopped at the end of the fifth as King staggered to his corner. It was listed a fifth-round knockout according to New York rules. Smith weighed 139½, King 135½.

A crowd of about 1,000 paid approximately $1,200.

Win Confirmed

SAINT JOHN, N. B. (CP)—The New Brunswick senior baseball semi-final series between Dalhousie Dodgers and Saint John Dodgers will continue to a finish and Saint John's 7-5 win over Dalhousie Sunday has been confirmed.

This was the effect of a decision Monday night by the New Brunswick Baseball Association, which ordered the fourth game in the best-of-five series to be played next Sunday at Dalhousie.

The association investigated the third contest after it was called in the seventh inning following a riot involving fans and players when the base umpire ruled a Saint John Dodger out on an attempted steal. The deciding factor was a signed statement by the Maritime Wildlife Fed. Annual Meeting This Friday On Abegweit

George Boyer, Dominion Wildlife Officer from Sackville, N. B., who has been conducting an investigation on Migratory Bird Work in Eastern Canada will speak on the results of his findings during the annual meeting of the Maritime Wildlife Federation this Friday evening.

This meeting of the Federation is being held on board the ferry Abegweit with Mr. Boyer being one of the main speakers. Another interesting address will be given by J. F. Donley who will speak on salmon studies. He will also show some colored slides.

This year's meeting will be something of an international get-together. It has been learned from the Maritime Wildlife President, F. A. Stewart Jones. Among those present will be a number of representatives from the New England States.

The New England Vice President of the American Wildlife Institute will be one of the honored guests. A number of the State of Maine Fish and Game members will also be on hand.

Discussion will be held on a number of subjects submitted by the different provinces and films will be shown by the National Film Board.

Island members, who plan to attend the meeting should be at Bordentown in time to catch the 4:30 sailing. Those attending from New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Newfoundland and the Eastern United States will catch the 5:30 crossing.

Furillo On Ailing List

NEW YORK, (AP)—Brooklyn's Carl Furillo, on the ailing list and not expected to play again until the World Series, looks a clutch to replace Stan Musial as National League baseball batting champion this season.

The St. Louis Cardinal's slugger six-time National League champion, gained three points to 321 last week on 12 hits in 31 times at bat but is still in eighth place in the American League. Mickey Vernon increased his lead to nine points over runner-up Al Rosen of Cleveland. The Washington first baseman climbed eight points to 327 while Rosen moved up three to 329. Rosen's 40 home runs and 135 runs batted in are still tops however.

Eddie Mathews of Milwaukee Braves heads the National League home runs with 45 and Brooklyn's Roy Campanella has batted in the most runs, 139.

Lefty Eddie Lopat has compiled the best won-lost record in the American League with 15 wins and three defeats for an .833 average. Lew Burdette of Milwaukee has a 14-4 record for a .778 average, best in the National League.

umpire-in-chief saying he called the game because of rain. A second shower started just before the brawl ended.

Dalhousie leads the series 2-1, having won the first two games 5-4 and 4-0.
