Celebrated First Mass At Hunter River Sunday

Rev. Walter Reid, who was ordained to the Holy Priesthood at St. Dunstan's Basilica on Saturday morning celebrated his first High Mass yesterday in his native parish, St. Anne's Church, Hope River. Father Reid was assisted by Rev. W. MacGulgan of Saint Dunstan's University as Deacon and Rev. Francis Cameron of St. D. U. as sub-deacon.

The sermon was delivered by Rev. Francis Bolger. The Church was filled to capacity as the parishioners turned out to see their twelfth native son elevated to the ranks of the priesthood. The parish priest at Hope River is Rev. Earl Dalton.

Following Mass the parishioners made a presentation to Father Reid and read the following address: "Dear Father Reid: We are here today to welcome a new priest to the church. Our present Holy Father has said: 'Through Holy Orders men are set aside by God and consecrated to Him to offer in sacrifice the Eucharistic Victim, to feed the flock of the faithful with the bread of angels and the food of doctrine, to guide them in the way of God's commandments and councils, and to strengthen them with all the other supernatural helps.' And now, Father Wally, you are one of these."

"We are here to share your joy at this moment of great triumph. Your cooperation with God's many graces which brought you to the priesthood has been for us an inspiration. The road must at times seem long, and the burden heavy yet here you stand, after Christ, another Christ. What an inspiration to those of us who hope only for lesser things: 'We are here to share the pride of your parents, Father Reid, good and kind people, whom we all know as friends. We are blessed through them, in that God has chosen once more to honor our parish by calling one of us to continue Christ's work in His Mystical Body. We thank them for this blessing, but even more, we congratulate them, for they too co-

Meeting Of Teachers Board Of Governors

A meeting of the Board of Governors of the Prince Edward Island Teachers' Federation was held in Prince of Wales College on Saturday.

The following centres, Kensington, Montague, Summerside, Charlottetown Rural, Charlottetown Urban, Souris, Alberton, Kinkora, Abrams Village, Borden, reported having held a workshop in their respective areas since the Easter convention. The findings of these were: (a) That the Board of Governors should continue to press for the establishment of a Royal Commission; (b) The setting up of a certification committee on which the teachers should have adequate representation; (c) The desirability of a Summer School; (d) The need for the boundaries of the locals to be clearly defined.

Following the adjournment of the Board the executive met to plan the fall conventions with Dr. Shaw present in an advisory capacity. It was agreed that the two main features of these conventions would be (a) A period devoted to the teaching of writing in all grades; (b) A half day devoted to the discussion of reading—the letter to be chaired by Dr. Shaw. Newly Ordained Priest Welcomed At Kelly's Cross

Rev. Linus Austin Bradley, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John W. Bradley who was ordained priest on Saturday by Most Rev. Malcolm MacEachern, Bishop of Charlottetown, celebrated his first Solemn High Mass in his native parish of Kelly's Cross yesterday.

A very large crowd of parishioners, friends and well wishers were present and the beautiful church was filled with those who had come for this sacred and happy event.

Those taking part in the ceremony were Rev. Father Bradley, the celebrant; Rev. Francis Ledwell, Deacon and Rev. John Cash, sub-deacon. Rev. Clarence Pitre of South Rustico was master of ceremonies.

Rev. Kenneth MacMillan, like Father Pitre a former pastor of Kelly's Cross, preached an inspiring sermon in which he eloquently described the sublime duties of the Priesthood. He congratulated the young priest, his brothers and sisters and spoke very feelingly concerning the late parents of the young priest.

Father James Smith, parish priest and Rev. Father McCarthy of Tryone, Lot 65 were in the sanctuary. Father Bernard Gillis assisted in the choir. The following address was read by Mr. St. Clair Trainor and a purse was presented by Mr. J.P. Carragher.

"Rev. Father Bradley: It is with feelings of great pleasure and heartfelt joy we come today to tender you on behalf of the parishioners of St. Joseph's parish our warm congratulations on this happy occasion, the celebration of your first Solemn High Mass.

"It is only natural that every community notes with great interest the careers of her young men and rejoice with them in every success they may attain either at home or abroad in their chosen profession. Permit us to say that your native parish is no exception to this rule.

Improvement Noted In Employment Conditions

Although unfavorable weather has hampered many activities in the Province a large number of people who have been unseasonably unemployed have returned to work, reports the National Employment Office in Charlottetown. In some parts, notably in Souris, there is a distinct shortage of help in the fishing plants. In Charlottetown during the past week there has been a demand for construction laborers in excess of the supply, and very few laborers and skilled carpenters are idle. This shortage of construction workers has developed, although a number of Charlottetown building jobs have not yet started.

Farming operations have been greatly retarded by cold and wet weather. It is estimated that ten percent of seeding has been carried out in the Province because of adverse weather conditions. A few early potatoes have been planted, but in general the farmers are forced to wait for drier and warmer weather. Agriculturalists agree that seeding will be from two to three weeks later than a year ago.

Lumbering operations continue to bring some money to the Province and the cutting of pulp wood and pitprops is general throughout the Island. A great deal of this material has been stock piled and much of it will be shipped this summer through the ports of Summerside, Souris and Georgetown. This type of lumbering is in most cases a side line for farmers, who cut timber from their own wood lots.

FISHING INDUSTRY There is a cheerful feeling in the fishing industry, principally because lobster fishing got away to a very good start. Catches of lobsters have been generally good since the opening of the season on May 1st, although stormy weather has interfered with fishing. So far the price to fishermen has been very good. Many fishermen are shipping the lobsters to New Brunswick and fewer lobster plants are operating in this Province.

The druggers operating out of Souris are bringing in a plentiful supply of cod, haddock and flounders, and two large packing plants are very busy processing these fish into filets. Last year only one plant was in operation. Since the new plant opened the demand for workers has almost doubled and it may be necessary to import help from the mainland.

Although the Province is not a manufacturing centre, such plants as the Canadian Packers and the Central Creameries of Charlottetown are employing about the same number of men as last year, and expect to employ more when the weather improves.

"We feel sure that your whole life has been a continuous preparation for the Sacred Office to which he has pleased God to call you. This old parish of St. Joseph's was once noted for its numerous vocations to the priesthood and the Religious Life.

"May we hope and pray that now after a lapse of a number of years your example may induce others to follow in your footsteps and dedicate their lives to the love and service of God. It is therefore with feelings of unfeigned pleasure that we the parishioners of Kelly's Cross offer you our warmest congratulations on your elevation to the exalted dignity of the priesthood.

"We need to tell you with what joy and gladness we assisted at your first mass this morning in our lovely new church here in your native parish and received your blessing the first time your freshly anointed hands were raised in benediction at God's altar. Here it is but fitting to say that the great pleasure we feel on this occasion is heightened by the fact that the eloquent sermon this morning came from the lips of a former beloved pastor of this parish.

"However, even on the most joyful and happy occasions there is often a note of sadness mingled therein. That note is present today in that your good father and mother did not live to see this happy day. While we can well imagine their pride and joy in this day if they were still here to celebrate with you, how much greater must be their celestial joy and happiness as they view from the heights of heaven the happy and sacred events of this day. As their prayers and sacrifices have led in the path towards the Holy Priesthood their paternal solicitude and grateful praise before God's heavenly throne will

Both of these plants depend upon farm production. Though hard hit by weather conditions construction work in the Province is assured of a good year. Charlottetown alone has a number of such jobs on hand including a new theatre and a new naval establishment, and already building tradesmen are in short supply according to the Charlottetown National Employment Office. There will be a demand for workers for construction work, and the Trans Canada Highway, and for a paved road through the National Park as well as for the usual Provincial Government highway repairs and construction.

OPERATING FULL TIME Provincial highways suffered greatly from the severe winter, but bus companies and truckers are now operating full time throughout the province and many men formerly idle for several months have been reemployed. The two principal public utilities in the Province, the P.E.I. Telephone Company and the Maritime Light and Power Company, will employ many men this summer. These companies are continuing to repair the damage of last winter's sleet storm and will, in addition, continue to build new extension lines in the rural areas as well.

The National Employment Office in Charlottetown in its monthly summary of trade conditions is of the opinion that retail sales are not quite as brisk as they were one year ago. It is believed now ever that a big improvement has taken place during the month of May, and the outlook for this summer is very good. It is felt there will be a considerable increase in retail sales during the summer months, when the farming population can reach the buying centres of the province due to improved roads.

The Office in Charlottetown has registered a considerable number of high school students seeking employment during the past week, and some university students who want summer employment. It has not been possible to secure employment for all of these immediately, but they are being placed gradually as orders from employers are being received. The Office has had very little difficulty in placing girl graduates of commercial schools.

The Office is having difficulty in filling short time jobs, because many of the men now idle live in the rural areas and it is not worth their while to come to Charlottetown for a few days work.
