LISTEN TO REASON!

NO DECEPTION!

L. E. PROWSE does not offer a discount of 33⅓ per cent; to do so, 50 per cent profit would need to be added. Such profit would ruin a farmer or any other man---33 per cent discount means a profit of 50 per cent. But the facts are: He buys for cash only, therefore buy from 15 to 25 per cent less than many houses in the trade, and can afford to sell even less than those who pretend to give those Fabulous Discounts.

Our Horses.

THE horse trade of this Province has for several years been the most remunerative trade in which our people have engaged. Farmers are beginning to see that "there's money in it"—if only the right horses are available. To obtain the right horses there must be care in breeding; and breeding is, consequently, a subject of increasing interest.

Already, the Island is, we are pleased to note, regarded as a place where the best horses can be obtained; and we have here a grand field for improvement. A gentleman now residing in New York, who is greatly interested in horses writes:—

"I never realized until now what a splendid country Prince Edward Island is for raising horses. I have seen colt shows in the Island that much surpassed the colt classes at the National Horse show in this city recently. The Islanders have the Kentucky of Canada, if the breeders only have the enterprise and intelligence to make it so."

And we find the following editorial remarks in Wallace's Monthly, for December:—

"The most popular strain of blood in Eastern Maine and the Lower Provinces at present would seem to be the Almonte branch of the Hambletonian family. There are in stud service in that region Constellation, Olympus, Hernando, Alice Clay and Rampart, and from time to time we hear good reports from all. Glenarm, son of Constellation, recently proved himself a good one when he scored a record of 2:16¼. Olympus, Alice Clay and Rampart are, we believe, all held in high regard by Eastern breeders, and our esteemed correspondent, Mr. Harry Townsend, a well-known Nova Scotia stockman, writes in the following glowing terms of a visit to the Prince Edward Island Fair: "I have just returned from a trip to the Prince Edward Island Exhibition. Such a show of horses would gladden the heart of even a Kentucky breeder. Hernando, 2.37½, and his sons and daughters were a sight to see, winning the leading prizes. One stately fellow, fully sixteen hands, a rich bay with a flowing mane and tail—a horse that was alone worth a thousand—won first prize in the two-year-old class. His action was grand, open, bold and free. If a king wrote me, asking just where to get a roadster that I thought would suit him, I would send him to Prince Edward Island and advise him to buy this son of Hernando. We are pleased to see that the Island in the gulf is making such rapid strides in breeding, and will always be glad to hear of what the breeders down by the sea—in Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, and New Brunswick—are doing. They seem to be building well, and we notice that this year several well-bred young stallions have been taken there by enterprising horsemen, among the rest, Preceptor, by Nutwood, 2.18¾, dam by Pancoast, 2.31¾, which was bought at the Glenview sale by Mr. Gardiner, of Prince Edward Island, and Sir Nutwood, by Nutwood, also purchased at Glenview by Mr. Etter, of Nova Scotia."

By the way, we also find in Wallace's Monthly, a first-rate description of Pancoast, one of the grand sires of Preceptor, recently imported by Mr. C. C. Gardiner. If we mistake not, it is from the pen of Mr. L. E. McLeod, now associate editor of the Monthly. It reads as follows:

"The fact of Pancoast bringing the princely price of $28,000 at public sale—the largest amount ever paid for a trotting stallion—drew the attention of thousands who would not otherwise have remembered Woodford Mambrino's great son. Sired by the great son of Mambrino Chief, and out of an own sister to McCurdy's Hambletonian, 2.26½, a daughter of Harold and Belle (by Mambrino Chief), Pancoast combines the blood of the founder of the Mambrino line through his greatest son and a producing daughter with that of Hambletonian through the channel that has given us a 2.08¾ performer. He proved his prowess on the turf, and retired with a record of 2.21¾. He sired the only three-year-old that ever trotted three heats at an average speed of 2.21¾. He has shown that he possesses the three essential prerequisites of a successful stallion—he inherits speed and quality, he has speed and quality, and he transmits speed and quality. I was quite anxious to see the stallion whose right to the rank of first of the Mambrinoes was so well grounded. I expected to see a remarkable horse, but I did not expect to see Pancoast as he is. When I arrived at Pancoast's stall an artist was at work on a painting of the horse, and thus an excellent opportunity was presented to look him over. Imagine a heavy-set mahogany-bay horse, standing 15.2 and looking scarce as tall, weighing 1,165 pounds and appearing heavier, with a body at every point the incarnation of enduring power set on rather short legs of marvellous strength, and you have a general conception of the style of horse Pancoast is. He has a large but well formed head, quite broad between the eyes, showing excellent brain development—a head indicative of an excellent disposition, but not lacking in suggestion of ample energy and will. He has a good eye and pleasant ear, and the head is nicely set. The neck is heavy and gross, with a highly curved crest—such a neck as we would not expect to find on a trotting stallion. The shoulders are strong and deep, quite oblique, and grandly swathed in muscle, and the deep, full chest could hardly be improved upon. The forearms are wondrously strong, and the lower limbs well proportioned, fat and clean. The barrel is deep and round, the back shorter than the average, the lion well spread and strongr and the coupling sufficiently good and smooth. The quarters are massive—muscle seems wrapped and packed in muscle; gaskins remarkably strong, well muscled outside and inside; wide, strong hocks well let down, and short, wide, clean cannon-bones, the whole set of limbs showing remarkable substance. At first one gets the idea that Pancoast is much more fleshy, or as it is oftener expressed, more "beefy" than he actually is. Closer inspection shows that he does not carry a great load of superfluous flat. That massive structure is bone and muscle. Pancoast is not a showy or handsome horse, but he is above all things well proportioned. Every part is in keeping with the general order of the structure, and every part is builded "strong and sure."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

"The Poor Frenchmen of King's County."

MR. EDITOR,—You may perhaps think that I am come to the assistance of the Commissioner of Crown Lands, in his quarrel with Mr. L. H. Davies; but I am not. No assistance should be given where no assistance is required. The Grit chieftain is in very good hands, and every one knows that he shall retire from the combat, if not a better, at least a very well-beaten and wiser man.

My object in addressing you is, therefore, rather to further explain the meaning of the title of this letter. Mr. Ferguson's version of it is certainly true as far as it goes; but I am convinced that Mr. Davies' little taunt is farther-reaching than is generally supposed. It really means what it expresses, viz: "that the Grits fear the influence of the French of King's County." And here let me remark, en passant, that (notwithstanding Mr. Davies never scruples to insult any one, friend or foe, whose political opinions or influence may mar the little-great man's schemes for personal aggrandizement) the insult is by no means original, as I shall presently show. Besides, it is hardly in the natural order of things that Mr. Davies should ridicule the French of Rollo Bay and Souris proper, as none better than he knows that a great many of these are his best friends—out-and-out Grits of an incorrigible type. No: Mr. Davies' insult is not new. Neither is it directed against the French of King's County properly so called; it is rather against those of Queen's, his own constituents. In order to thoroughly understand the full extent of the meaning of the Grit Chief's expression of reproach, one would need have been present at a certain indignation meeting of the crest fallen Grits of Souris and vicinity, which was held on that memorable evening last spring, when it became known that of all the brave Grit champions of which King's County boasted, only the modest J. R. McLean was left to bear the standard of the Party. Then it was that a series of weeping and gnashing of teeth took place, which had not been known in the Grit centre for many years past. Then it was also that a certain little group of Frenchmen, not a thousand miles from the village of Rollo Bay, suddenly became an object of fear, hatred and abuse. And why so? Simply because forsooth these obstinate tories had had the hardihood to exercise their rights in opposition to Dr. McIntyre's all-wise political views, and had thus become instrumental in turning the scales against the pet Fred C. Morrow.

So you see, Mr. Editor, that Mr. Davies is not the first insulter; but his extremely delicate organism—so prone to being affected by the political diseases of others, that it has been impossible to prevent its being smitten—has at last contracted the Francophobia so prevalent at Souris last spring, and hence the alarming symptoms exhibited at Murray Harborr.

But who are those Frenchmen whose influence in King's County must be guarded against even at the annual cost to the Colony of some $10,000? Simply a handful of the sons of the farmers of Rustico, who a few years ago became the proprietors of an extensive tract of woodland somewhere in the vicinity of Rollo Bay Station, known as the Burk Road. On this land they have settled, and by their industry, sobriety and perseverance are fast building homes for themselves, which even now entitle them to a voice in the councils of their native province, not inferior to that of Mr. Davies himself. Their only offence out there is to have had the courage of their political convictions, and for this they must, of course, become the butt for the vaporings of Mr. Davies and other Grit worthies. I am not a prophet nor the son of a prophet, but I am sadly mistaken if the French electors of Rustico do not take note of all this; and when the hero of Murray Harbor again presents himself for re-election, they be not prepared to avenge their insulted brothers of King's County.

Begging your pardon, sir, for trespassing so much on your valuable space, I remain, your obedient, humble servant,

AN ELECTOR.

Rustico, Dec. 14, 1886.

A Study in Phrenology.

Some time ago an English gentleman found a large turnip in his field of the shape of a man's head, and with the resemblance of the features of a man. Struck with curiosity he had a cast made of it, and sent the cast to a phrenologist, stating that it had been taken from the head of a celebrated professor, and requested an opinion thereon. After sitting in judgment, it was reported that it denoted a man of acute mind and deep research; that he had the organ of quick perception and also of perseverance, with another that indicated credulity. The opinion was transmitted to the owner of the cast, with a letter requesting, as a particular favor, that he would send them the head. To this he politely replied that he would willingly do so, but he was prevented, as he and his family had eaten it the day before with their mutton at dinner.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural quite sleep by relieving the child from pain; and the little shrub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other
