Are Upset By Derogatory Remarks About The Links

The Canadian Open golf championship at Kitchener, Ont., produced some shortcomings as well as fine golf.

Petro Ramos Leading In Gopher Ball Department

NEW YORK (AP)—Pedro Ramos of Washington Senators who needs only to yield three more home runs to set an American League mark, and Robb Roberts of Philadelphia Phillies, the majors' record holder, have given up the most gopher balls among big league pitchers this season.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press show that Ramos, a 22-year-old righthander with a 6-8 record, has allowed 32 homers in 140 innings. The American League standard is 34 set by Camillo Pascual of the Senators last season.

DOGERS GET MOST

Brooklyn Dodgers have hit the most homers off Roberts—seven. Then come Chicago Cubs with five, Cincinnati and St. Louis four each, Milwaukee and New York three apiece and Pittsburgh two.

LONDON (Reuters)—Asian and other forms of flu continue to hit communities in various parts of the world. In the Sudan in Africa, an epidemic swept through the entire country, with more than 2,000 cases in the capital city of Khartoum.

Ibbotson Sets New World Record For Mile Friday

LONDON (AP)—Derek Ibbotson, a genial RAF electrician, set a world record for the mile at 3:57.2 Friday and three others in the race also ran under four minutes for the first time in history.

Braves Have No Reason To Regret Schoendienst Trade

NEW YORK (AP)—Milwaukee Braves have little reason to regret the June 15 trade that brought Red Schoendienst to their midst. With a 19-game hitting streak, the 33-year-old second baseman currently is one of the National League's most effective batsmen.

Schoendienst, with a lifetime big league mark of 290 and 300-plus average in five of his last six seasons, is within three games of the season's high for consecutive games jointly held by Wally Moon of St. Louis Cardinals and Hector Lopez of Kansas City Athletics.

Moon's 22-game skein was snapped June 1 and Lopez' July 17. Schoendienst's streak has boosted his year's percentage to .314. Since his acquisition from New York Giants in exchange for Bobby Thomson, Danny O'Connell and Ray Crone, Schoendienst has hit a .328 clip. During the same span, Thomson has batted .267, O'Connell .283 and Crone, a righthanded pitcher, has won one game and lost two.

LONG WAY TO GO
The Braves' switch-hitter, however has a long way to go to challenge for the batting lead held by teammate Hank Aaron. Aaron took over the lead from Stan Musial of St. Louis last Tuesday and was sidetracked with a leg injury the following night. Except for a pinch-hitting effort Sunday, Hank has remained idle and with a .352 average, he holds a 12-point margin over Musial. Stan lost three points in last week's games.

Dee Fondy of Pittsburgh remained in third place at .329. He's followed by Dick Groat, also of the Pirates, with .326, Willie Mays of the Giants with .321 and George Crowe of Cincinnati and Fran Thomas of Pittsburgh with .315 apiece. Mays climbed from 10th place on a 16-point gain.

In the American League, the batting competition still is close between Ted Williams of Boston, a four-time champion, and New York Yankees' Mickey Mantle, last year's head man. Williams leads by one point—361 to 360. The Red Sox' lugger held an 11-point edge Saturday but he went hitless in four trips against Chicago White Sox on Sunday while Mantle had three safeties in five trips against Cleveland.

There were seven men in the special mile race. Michael Blagrove of Great Britain set the early, sizzling pace, with Jungwirth at his heels. They tore by the first quarter mile in :55.3, and hit the half mile in 1:55.8, a fast race in itself.

Half way through the race the order of running was Blagrove, Jungwirth, Ibbotson, Delany, Lewandowski, Wood, and Alan Gordon of Britain. Jungwirth, who recently set a world record for 1,500 meters of 3:38.1, jumped in front and Blagrove faded on the third lap. Jungwirth reached the three quarters mark in 3:00, and soon after passing it Ibbotson turned on the gas. The crowd went wild as he opened up the yards on the brilliant field.

ALMOST 4 MINUTES
Even Stefan Lewandowski of Poland, who finished out of contention in fifth place, was timed in 4:00.6.

After the race, Ibbotson recovered his breath and told newspapermen that the first lap was "agony." "I had never run a 55-second lap in my life before and I didn't think I could last, but after that things settled down," he said. "In the last 200 yards I expected someone to pass me at every stride. I just couldn't believe I was going to do it."

He was asked if the mile record was his ambition. "No, I really want to set a new world three mile record," he replied. The mark is now 13:14.2 by Sandor Tharos of Hungary, but Ibbotson has come close to it.

Until Friday the most brilliant mile race ever run occurred in this same stadium on May 28, 1955, when three men broke under four minutes. Laszlo Tabori of Hungary won that race in 3:59, with Chris Chataway of Great Britain second in 3:59.8 and Brian Hewson of Great Britain third in the same time.

"You can take the word of an old newspaper man that the ill wind which blew through the first rounds of the Canadian Open golf championship will, in the long run, do a lot of people a lot of good."
Ed Carter, head of the U.S. PGA told Taylor: "We've had only seven incidents this year, a mere fraction of those occurring regularly in other seasons. I would like your community to know that I have nothing but apologies for the actions of the players. We don't want players to make derogatory remarks about courses."

Later, he revealed the Westmount course wasn't such a bad piece of real estate as he first had charged. By that time, of course, he had the cheque and cup.
Other incidents occurred that upset the tone of the tournament—incidents' born of golf's unique situation that players and spectators must be on the course together.
For instance, on the final day, challenged a spectator who had made some remark about Doug's they make a shot."

The Phillies Haven't Got A Hero But They're Tops

NEW YORK (AP)—Notice who it was, or might be again on top in the over-heated National League pennant race? Only the forgotten Phillies, that's all.
Forgotten because in the pre-season ratings they were considered also-rans. Naturally that's possible yet, with five teams playing musical chairs for the lead. But they look good.
Two years ago when Mayo Smith was named manager, the public asked in effect: "Who's Mayo Smith?" Now the question is: "Who are the Phillies?"

Horace Stoneham Signs TV Contract In San Francisco

WASHINGTON (AP)—Horace Stoneham, president of New York Giants, told a House anti-trust subcommittee Wednesday he will recommend to his board of directors that the club move to San Francisco before next season. He added he already has signed a contract for pay-as-you-see television there.
The paid-television contract applies to both New York and San Francisco, Stoneham said, but would not be practical in New York where a see-for-free contract still has two years to run.
He estimated the pay TV would gross $125,000 for each of 77 games.

McCarthy And Crawford Are Inducted In Hall Of Fame

By JACK HAND
COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Joe McCarthy and Sam Crawford Monday were formally inducted into baseball's Hall of Fame by commissioner Ford Frick at brief, colorful ceremonies.
"Gee, I wish I could do it all over again," said McCarthy referring to his 43 years in baseball.
Joe, now 70, spoke for several minutes pouring generous praise on the players, club officials, scouts, coaches, trainers and even the umpires who helped him reach this last highest pinnacle in baseball.
Visibly affected by the excitement of the occasion, the 77-year-old Crawford said only a few words of thanks.
"I had a speech ready but I don't believe I can go through with it," he said as he sat down with tears in his eyes.
Crawford was one of the great sluggers of the early 20th century. In 19 years with Cincinnati and Detroit he had a lifetime .309 average with 2,964 hits. His 312 triples still stand as the major league record.

Long Bike Trip

MILFORD, Conn. (AP)—John Wilkinson Jr., 14, pedaled into Milford Wednesday and said "no more biking for a while."
He'd been on the road a month and three days—since June 14—and had covered an estimated 3,600 miles since leaving his parents' home in Los Angeles.
He came here to visit his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilkinson.

who spent last year with Schenectady after coming out of the service, and their first baseman, Bouchee, was with Miami in 1956, playing only nine games with the Phillies at the tag end of the season. Both have been doing well.
Chico Fernandez was considered expendable by the Dodgers, who traded him to the Phillies. Shortstop Fernandez has teamed with Granny Hamner to give Smith a first class second-base combination.
But it is the pitching which has astonished, particularly with the failure of Robb Roberts to be his usual self. Roberts is the man with the 6-12 record.

Jack Sanford whipped the Cardinals Monday to knock them out of first place, making his record to date 12-2.
Curt Simmons has made a fine comeback and he's 9-4 now. Harvey Haddix is 8-3 and Warren Hacker is 2-0.
Don Cardwell has won three while losing five, and Jim Hearn is 4-1.
It's quite an assembly job, and maybe general manager Roy Hamme should come on for a few bows along with Smith.

THE GIANTS president said in his early talks with San Francisco officials he understood other major league clubs, such as Cleveland, Kansas City and Baltimore, had been contacted.
He said "If we don't make the move somebody may move in ahead of us and pre-empt the location."

Stoneham pointed for the subcommittee, which is studying application of the anti-trust laws to baseball and other sports, a picture of declining major league attendance in New York as more people move to the suburbs, and harness races and other competitive attractions draw bigger crowds.
"In my thinking, the city of New York can't support three clubs of a major league proportions," Stoneham said.

Stoneham also said if San Francisco plans fall three other coast cities were eager. None was named but the description of one left no doubt it was Oakland.
Stoneham said the Giants were guaranteed a pay-TV return that "is quite some more than we receive now." He testified the Giants in 1956 received $700,000 from all television and radio sources, of which the regular broadcast of home games accounted for $600,000.

OBSCURE MEET
For many years the four-minute mile was considered unattainable. Then on May 6, 1954, Dr. Roger Banister of Great Britain, running in an obscure meet at Oxford, broke through the psychological barrier and set a mark of 3:59.4. Now that time has been bettered on a score of occasions, including the four runners here and Waern in weden.

Ibbotson is no newcomer to the record ranks. On June 15 he ran the mile in 3:58.4, a record fastest up to then. He also has a 3:59.4 to his credit and in the Olympic games he finished third in Vladimir Kuts of Russia in the 5,000 meters although his time of 13:54.4 was well under the Olympic record of 14:06.6.

There were seven men in the special mile race. Michael Blagrove of Great Britain set the early, sizzling pace, with Jungwirth at his heels. They tore by the first quarter mile in :55.3, and hit the half mile in 1:55.8, a fast race in itself.
