Operations Resumed by Ch'town Milling Company

Company Re-organized and Will be Operated on An Extensive Scale. New Machinery Installed and Business Under Way.

The Charlottetown Milling Company has resumed operations again, after being closed for a time on account of circumstances which are quite familiar to the public, a settlement having been arranged with the Canadian Fairbanks Morse Company, Limited.

A meeting was held in this city recently with the following officers:—President, B. D. Howatt; Vice President, Col. H. M. Davison; Sec. Treas. B. W. LePage, M. P. P., General Manager, George S. Robson, Guelph; Directors, H. F. Walker and Mr. Thos. MacKinnon of Montreal, representing the Canadian Fairbanks Morse Company (who are taking stock) to the full amount of their interest Isaac Curtis, C. H. Chandler and R. H. Jenkins of Charlottetown.

For the past month expert mill engineers were busy designing and installing a modern mill equipped in the mills. This installation having been completed, the Company is now in a position to supply to the trade of Prince Edward Island a very high grade of hard Western wheat flour. The Company state that they have spared no expense and trouble, and have engaged the most competent engineers available to put the mill in modern shape. They believe that the plant is now in a class by itself, and second to none in the Dominion. The millers in charge are men who have had that long training and practical experience which qualify them for manufacturing a grade of flour which should be a credit to the mill and to Prince Edward Island.

Mr. George Robson the manager comes of a family of millers his father and six brothers following that time-honoured calling. He began work when fourteen years of age in his home town of Brantford, Ontario, and in his long mill experience of forty years he has had to do with the old stone process, the roller process, and the present short system which has made the Marvel Mills famous. One of the men from whom he received instruction was that veteran miller, David Plewes, Chairman of the Dominion Millers Association.

Mr. Robson will not only have supervision of the running of the mill, but will do the buying and selling, and upon his broad shoulders will rest the chief responsibility for the success of the enterprise under the new auspices. Mr. E. R. MacDonald, formerly chairman of the milling section of the Canada Food Board enthusiastically recommends Mr. Robson for his present position. Associated with him will be Mr. Wesley Thompson who was the first miller to operate the Tuttle mill system of Marvel mills and who has been head miller for Crane Bros., Niagara Falls, and consultant.

The C.W.L. Hears Eloquent Address

The Archbishop of Edmonton Addressed the Members on the Work of the League.

His Grace the Archbishop of Edmonton, addressed a large and appreciative audience of the Catholic Women's League in the basement of the Cathedral on Sunday evening. He briefly outlined the excellent work being done by the C.W.L. in the West. In fact, it was in the city of Edmonton that the League was first organized and has now a membership of over 800 in that city. Late on, Montreal and Toronto with two or three other cities together, with the result that the League was extended all over Canada and has now a membership of over 100,000. The Dominion Organizer, Mrs. Robert K. Knoll, is a P. E. Island, a niece of Archbishop O'Brien. She has gone from coast to coast and there is now scarcely any city of any size which has not a sub-division of the C.W.L. The motto of the League is "For God and Country." There is a vast amount of work to be done; work which at one time was left almost entirely to the clergy, but as the influence of woman is becoming her duty, her sacred duty and mission to take her part and to do her part nobly. The League has various committees to suit the needs of the particular territory in which it is situated. In Edmonton it has from twenty to thirty different committees, among which we find the care of homeless and orphan girls; the care of those who have fallen and who would otherwise be sent to prison; representatives to meet trains and find out if girls or women have anyone to whom to go upon arriving and if there seems to be any doubt in the matter, they will advise them of some good reliable place to go for the time being. If the traveller has the means to pay all right, but if not, they will be taken care of by the C.W.L. In the majority of cases, they pay it back when they get work. An employment bureau is also kept, thus finding work for them. There is a committee on remailing, that is, large parcels of literature which have been read are sent for redistribution to outlying districts to keep people in touch with what is going on. The juvenile court has going on. The juvenile court has or girl who would otherwise be sent to a prison or reformatory is taken and sent to an orphanage. His Grace remarked that he is in great need of an orphanage. He has one at St. Alberts, about seven miles from Edmonton, but with a boarding school in connection, it has 400 children and is very much overcrowded. A representative of the

Memorable Banquet at Hartz Memorial Hall

Rev. Dr. Hartz on the Occasion of His Diamond Jubilee of Active Service in the Methodist Ministry is the Guest of Honor of the Church Board Last Night.

The Official Board of the Methodist Church of Charlottetown honored last evening the Rev. W. H. Hartz, D. D., in celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of his active Christian Ministry, with a Complimentary banquet at the Hartz Memorial Hall which was undoubtedly one of the most memorable social events in the history of the congregation. About one hundred and twenty church officials, friends and relatives of Dr. Hartz sat down to the banquet which was very capably prepared and served by the Ladies' Aid of the Church. Col. F. S. Moore presided in his genial manner.

Among the relatives of Dr. Hartz present were His Hon. Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. McKinnon, Mrs. Dr. Jane Hartz Bell and son, of Halifax; Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, of Amherst; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hartz, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hartz; Mrs. P. P. Taylor and Mrs. Sarah Perkins. Col. Moore in a few introductory remarks at the conclusion of the excellent repast served by the ladies expressed his deep sense of the honor paid him by the church committee in requesting him to preside at such a memorable event as the Diamond Jubilee banquet to Rev. Dr. Hartz. His long and faithful service in the Methodist ministry must be familiar to all present, and particularly so to those of the older generation. Throughout his wonderful career Dr. Hartz had ever been true to his Master, Jesus Christ and he is preaching the simple word of God today as he preached it sixty years ago. He regretted one thing chiefly; that the late Mrs. Hartz could not be here this evening, though he felt sure she was present in spirit. Like every other man who has made an outstanding success in life, he felt sure Dr. Hartz would say that it was achieved in his case largely through the help and comfort he received from his beloved wife.

Rev. Mr. Glendenning expressed his sense of the privilege he felt it to pay honor to Dr. Hartz. He recalled his own experiences as a probationary minister on circuit work and the great kindness shown him by Dr. Hartz, who was then an outstanding figure in Canadian Methodism. In the name of the officials of the church of the 530 families of the congregation he welcomed the distinguished guest of honor and congratulated him most heartily upon this auspicious occasion. The prayer of the congregation, for his health and welfare, will go with him throughout the coming years. The congratulatory address from the Methodist Church presented by the Recording Steward, Mr. Henry Smith and the reply by Rev. Dr. Hartz, is given in full below.

Other speakers of the evening were His Honor the Lieutenant Governor, Mr. F. H. Beer and Mr. F. S. Hodgson. A hearty vote of thanks to the ladies for the excellent banquet was moved by Mr. P. W. Turner, seconded by Mr. C. H. Black, and unanimously carried and tendered by the chairman, Mrs. R. E. Mutch. The Rev. Dr. Hartz, who had been seated at the piano by Mr. G. H. Gorbell and Mr. Elmer Ritchie two quartettes by Messrs G. F. Hutcheson, E. Ritchie, G. H. Gorbell and R. H. McKie and a duet by Messrs. Ritchie and McKie (accompanied on the piano by Prof. W. E. Fletcher) were features of the programme which received enthusiastic applause.

At the conclusion of the programme the Chairman read the following telegram:—

House of Commons, Ottawa
To the Chairman of the Hartz Banquet:—
"Congratulations to the distinguished guest. I am proud to represent him in Parliament."
H. J. LOGAN."

His Grace that we owe the magnificent Cathedral, which is one of the finest on the Western continent.

The Rev. Maurice McDonald, Spiritual Director of the League, acted as Chairman, while the vote of thanks was tendered to His Grace in a most gracious manner by the President of the League, Mrs. Andrew Murphy.

The Charlottetown sub-division of the C.W.L. was organized last August. It has a most efficient and energetic staff of workers and it can be assured that various activities will meet with success in all directions.

British Sterling Still Going Up

(Special to The Guardian)
NEW YORK, June 5—Sterling continued to climb upwards today. It opened in New York at 4.49 and from there advanced a maximum of two cents, being quoted at one o'clock at 4.50 1/2. These quotations constitute a new high since 1919 and are due to the fact that the British Government has completed its dollar provision for full payment of interest in its debt to the United States.

God of all our mercies, that this time has come to us as a Providence, and that we live to participate in this Anniversary Service.

I wish very heartily to express my thanks to Rev. Mr. Glendenning, the officials and friends of this church, for their gracious kindness to me on this 60th Anniversary of my ministerial life. We shall never be able to do justice to represent an unlimited number of Hartz—all these Hartz cannot adequately express the sense of gratitude that throbs within me for your Christian and unselfish acts.

You will expect me to indulge somewhat in a reminiscence of my early life. Dr. Dobson used to say that it was a desirable thing to be born well. I was privileged in this way. My parents were Godly people and I had all the advantages of a Christian home. The Sabbath School with Jas. Moore as Superintendent, Bible Class with Wm. McKay as Teacher, early conversion under the Ministry of Rev. T. M. Abrighton, prayer services with such men as Paul Towan, William Heard, Isaac and Henry Smith and Ralph Brecken, leaders at the throne of God, Rev. A. W. Nicholson to impress upon me the demands of God for the Christian ministry. John Hobbs, a local preacher, to take me to my first appointment at Union Road, and a Godly woman, true and noble, who for 54 years was my companion and helper were under God the dominant factors of the early life of the one who speaks to you at this hour. Every one of these factors might be elaborated at considerable length but I must not do it now.

I am a Prince Edward Islander and thank God for this. The Island is small so far as territorial considerations are concerned, it should not be judged solely by this or by the volume of business transacted nor by the wealth and social status of its inhabitants, but by the mental and moral characteristics of its people. These are very high. I take pride in stating that Sir Louis Davies, Chief Justice of the Highest Court of the Dominion, is an Islander, so is Dr. Schurman, who for years was President of Cornell University and now holds an important position under the Government of the United States. Born here was Dr. Cornelius O'Brien who filled, with great advantage to the people and credit to himself, the position of a Roman Catholic Archbishop. Dr. Leander McNeill who, in his day, was a power in the Presbyterian Church and a brilliant orator, married a young Methodist lady of this church who was an Islander, and let me not forget to state that the best product in my mind sent out by this church was a man of your own in the person of Rev. Dr. Ralph Brecken.

In literary and other spheres certain names have attained to high positions in the Temple of Fame—an authority of high repute is an author's credit. At the recent convocation of Dalhousie University Miss Alice Mease of Kensington, P. E. I., graduated with Great Distinction. This young lady two years since entered the University, having a high honor diploma from Prince of Wales College and subsequently won one of Sir William Young's scholarships and graduated second in a large class. All honor to such a young lady.

These are not the only names that could be mentioned in this connection but these are stars of the first magnitude and have brought glory and honor to their Island home.

Historic associations meet me here. One hundred and twenty years ago this month of June Thomas Dawson, my great grandfather, with his family reached Charlottetown. He was a local preacher. His soul was stirred by the moral conditions and needs of the people. Smith, the historian, reports that he frequently preached in Charlottetown and itinerated to all parts of the Island. To do this he waded streams and swam rivers. Provided with a pocket compass and often guided by blazed trees he walked to his appointments. No obstacle seemed so great to hinder him in his work. His labors, his exposures and his self-consuming zeal caused sickness which ended in his death, whilst yet a young man, in 1805. He died triumphant in Christ. It is pardonable for me to claim relationship to such a man as this. And yet what contrasts meet us between 1801 and 1922. Dawson preached in the home of a Mrs. Smith—you have now a magnificent church and Hall. Dawson, when he came here found but four persons mem-

Precarious Situation Confronts Government

Crerar Will Move Amendment to Drayton Resolution Demanding Further Tariff Reductions' Amendment Will be Disallowed by Speaker but Progressives Will Insist on Division.

(Special to The Guardian)
OTTAWA, June 5—The government's position with regard to the budget promises to develop some very precarious features. During the week Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the Progressives will move an amendment to the amendment of Sir Henry Drayton. The sub-amendment will declare against the recognition of the principle of protection and will it is understood call for further reductions of the tariff. It is fully expected that the sub amendment will be ruled out of order by Mr. Speaker if being held that on the motion to go into committee of ways and means only an amendment is permissible. Progressives however intend to protest against Mr. Speaker's ruling and to call for a division on this principle. Mr. Speaker will be upheld by the government and official opposi-

bers of the Wesleyan Church, now your number hundreds.

In other lines what changes. When Thomas Dawson lived a man could not ride upon a steamboat or an automobile—had never seen an electric light—never talked over a telephone—never looked pleasant before a camera or had his picture taken—never heard a phonograph talk—had never imagined such a thing as a type setting machine—never saw his wife using a sewing machine, nor could he buy a paper for a couple of cents and learn everything that had happened the day before all over the world.

Perhaps some one would like me to speak particularly about my ministerial life. I have no apologies to offer, no regrets to make for entering up on it, and prosecuting it to this hour. It has proved to be neither easy nor lucrative and, yet, put me back where I was 60 years ago. It would begin precisely where I did in 1862. Compensations more than counterbalance drawbacks and there is nothing grander than earnest, self-sacrificing service for such a master as the Lord Jesus Christ.

During five years of service before my marriage I received independent of my board and keep of my horse only $130. a year and after my marriage, and an appointment to a City Church, a salary of $650 a year. Financial matters did not trouble me. Certain discomforts and privations, some of which I narrated to-night, would surprise this audience, caused no worry. The joys of life have been neither few nor small—the delights of service have afforded comfort and satisfaction. Every phase of ministerial work brings with it rewards that more than pay the worker. When I think of my pastoral work in the old Conference of E. B. America from the M. E. Church of the United States. He told of a man interested in the erection of a church going to a wealthy man in a certain city for a subscription: He spoke in a pessimistic way. The gentleman appealed to him, after some conversation, and asked "Is there a man in the community who thoroughly believes that the Church can be built and will be built?" After a moment's hesitation the reply was given. "I have my doubts." Then said the city man "It will never be built. I won't give you a dollar" and dismissed him abruptly. The Solicitor for help went home, pondered over the incident—studied afresh the situation—reached the conclusion, the church must be built, and returned to the city and had another interview and stated his determination. The city man gave him a generous contribution. That incident produced a marked impression on me.

Three things I have found necessary to success in the Ministry—character fitly spoken of as the core on which the world turns and as the pivot of a destiny—courage face difficulties otherwise unsurmountable with the determination to succeed. Christ, a personal Saviour, the joy of life. These three C's—Character, Courage, Christ, my life has been helped—so far as they have not been prominent factors I have failed.
