To the Editor of the Examiner.
SIR,—In last Saturday's issue of the Patriot, I noticed a writer, over the signature of "Belfaster," endeavouring to show why it was that the Liberal-Conservatives were so anxious to be returned to power. He says all those parties who oppose the administration of the Hon. Alexander McKenzie, have axes to grind, and launches forth by saying, "We might commence with Sir John & Co." "Belfaster" is perfectly right when he says Sir John is preaching against the reckless extravagance of the Government in the Steel Rail matter, and condemning, in unmeasured terms, the Neehing Hotel and other transactions, which necessitates the squandering of the people's money. "Belfaster" says Sir John draws a tremendously dark picture of these things. Sir John is quite right. Such dark transactions admit of none other than a dark picture. "Belfaster" says if the Liberal-Conservatives would tell the truth, they would say that ever since Sir John went into Opposition, we have been living in a dry and parched land where no dollars be. When Sir John resigned, Hon. Alexander McKenzie assumed the reins of Government; and, of course, it follows that ever since McKenzie came into power, we have been living in a dry and parched land. We are heartily pleased to see "Belfaster" taking the right view of this matter. "Belfaster" reminds the Editor of the Patriot that those who have axes to grind are, as the sand on the sea-shore—immovable. Then, of course, he admits that the supporters of Sir John are—as the sand on the sea-shore—immovable. This is quiet encouraging to the Liberal-Conservatives—coming, as it does—from the Patriot.

"Belfaster" then goes on to tell the people about editors of papers having axes to grind and saying that their pile of dollars is in store for them. Although he is a staunch supporter of McKenzie he feels it his duty to take an estimate of the editor of the Patriot. The Liberal-Conservatives are quite satisfied to abide by the estimate. "Belfaster" tells us something Pope said at Ottawa about six men going up to support Sir John after the next Dominion election. But as he seems to know so little about what Pope really did say while in Ottawa, and as he seems to be so anxious that Canada should not compete with the United States in manufacturing industries but that the States should have it all their own way and crowd down the infant industries of a young country. I am inclined to believe that "Belfaster" is not of Belfast, and that in assuming the name he has done an injury to the intelligent electors of Belfast, to whom he should make, at the earliest opportunity, an humble apology. "Belfaster" says something about the trade question. I would like him to tell us what sort of trade robbed us of a seat in the Cabinet and placed at the Council Board an Ontario man? What sort of trade was carried on by McKenzie when he voted with Messrs Sinclair, Yeo, Perry, McIntyre and Davis to disfranchise the young men of this Island and deprive them of the right to vote? What sort of trade was McKenzie guilty of in plunging the country into financial difficulty by purchasing 50,000 tons of steel rails at an enormous loss to the country without the consent of Parliament?

What sort of trade is carried on by McKenzie & Co. that brings about an enormous deficit year after year? What sort of trade does the Government carry on that is ruining the prosperity of the country? If the Government is allowed to continue such a system of trade this country will soon be plunged into bankruptcy. I think the intelligent electors of this Island will see that it is time that they arouse themselves in behalf of their country, and hurl from power a Government that seems to be determined to sink to the Treasury Benches though the county sink into financial ruin. Fellow-electors, let us have a change. Let us send men to Ottawa who will stand up boldly for the people's rights; who will see that the interests of the country receive their support, and under whose legislation our own fair Island will receive a large share of attention, which will conduce to the general prosperity of our country. Let us not be guilty of sending men to Ottawa who will sit silent when the interests of the Island are overlooked, or quietly follow a Government in a system of the most reckless extravagance. Feeling confident, Mr. Editor, that the cause of justice will ultimately triumph,
I remain, etc.,

An Astonishing Fact.
A large proportion of the American people are to-day dying from the effects of Dyspepsia or disordered liver. The result of these diseases upon the masses of intelligent and valuable people is most alarming, making life actually a burden instead of a pleasant existence of enjoyment and usefulness as it ought to be. There is no good reason for this, if you will only throw aside prejudice and skepticism, take the advice of druggists and your friends, and try one bottle of Green's August Flower. Your speedy relief is certain. Millions of bottles of this medicine have been given away to try its virtues, with satisfactory results in every case. You can buy a sample bottle for 19 cents to try. Three doses will relieve the worst case. Positively sold by all druggists on the Western Continent.

THE MCCARTHY MURDER.

DORCHESTER, Aug. 10.
The "mysterious stranger" has at length appeared on the scene. He was the first witness called to-day.

Benjamin Allen, farmer, of Botsford, sworn, and examined by Dr. Tuck, said he came from Summerside, P. E. I., to Point du Chene on the boat the 12th of October last, and had a rough passage. He stopped at the Widow Clark's at the Point, and walked up the track to Shediac in the evening, starting from the Point about 11. There was no light in the Weldon House, but he saw one in Osborne's. He went in the front door through the hall to the bar-room door, on the right. There was a young man and woman in the hall. The young man met him, and he told him he wanted a drink. He said witness need not come in the bar-room; he would bring it to him, which he did, and witness drank it, and paid for it a twelve cent piece. He saw a woman behind the counter. He also saw a tall, stout man there, dressed in dark clothes. He could not tell whether he had a rubber coat or not, but he had a felt hat on. Witness spoke to no one but the boy or young man, as he called him. Witness had a pair of gray pants on and a black reefer. This was between 11 and 12 o'clock. Witness had no watch, and was not acquainted with McCarthy. He thought he saw McCarthy and his wife on the day he came from Summerside. He thought he had seen the woman in the dock (Mrs. Osborne) at Shediac in the Osborne House. The parties the witness saw in the Waverly were two women, one in the hall and one in the bar-room; two men, one in the bar-room and the other met him and brought him the brandy. Witness then went out and went to Mrs. Friars and stopped all night. Next day he took the train for Au Lac and got his brother-in-law to drive him to Port Elgin. He has been to Shediac since at different times.

Cross-examined by Mr. Palmer—That night, after leaving the Osbornes' we went to Guthro's. They were in bed and he went to Friar's and remained all night. Hon. Mr. Pope and Mr. Harris, of Moncton, came over in the boat with witness. He went to Mrs. Clark's, and left there about eleven. He had no watch, but Mrs. Clark said it was eleven. Witness left Mrs. Clark's before she went to bed. He thought it is none of Mr. Palmer's business whether he paid Mrs. Clark money or not; but His Honor thinking it was his business, witness said he did not pay her any. She did not ask him. He never testified in this case before. He walked up over the bridge from the Point, but can't give any idea of the bridge. He reckoned he was smart enough to jump over the hole. He was a little tight. It cleared off at nine and did not rain till twelve. Mr. Palmer wished to ascertain the number of drinks witness had, but he is afraid his wife will hear. However he can't remember. The woman in the hall was near the door and the other one was behind the counter. He could not describe the stout man in the bar-room. He just caught his eyes. He was at the Weldon House next morning and drank. He says he never told any one he had gray pants on, for they were black. When he came to the point, he left Schurman's about 6 o'clock. Mr. Palmer wished witness to detail his whereabouts from six to twelve. Witness said he didn't wish to go into vulgarity. Here the ladies left, and witness said he was playing euchre, courting, etc., and didn't wish to tell the rest; he would rather be locked up. However, it turned out unimportant to the court or public. He explained his whereabouts the remainder of the night again.

Half an hour was occupied in getting Annie Parker, who came on the stand about three o'clock. She denied ever having seen the man Peltier who said he was her father. She never told Miss Buchanan she got money from a friend; she never met Miss Buchanan up the road and said she was looking for Millidge Lockhart. She never had a child nor tried to swear one on Alexander Ferguson. She knew Ferguson and Squire McLaughlan. She never made a complaint before any magistrate; she was in a store in Bathurst and saw the parish book on the counter; she saw a woman's name on it who was on the parish; she could read a little; she could read a name; she was used to some writing; she could read some and some she could not. (Witness expressed great indignation at Mr. Palmer, and the Judge informed her he would be compelled to deal with her in a way she did not wish if she did not answer the counsel.)
Mr. Palmer read a complaint made by the witness before Mr. Bishop against Alexander Ferguson, which witness denied. She said she never bore the name of Peltie.

This closed the prosecution and Mr. Palmer began his address to the jury.

Second Dispatch.
DORCHESTER, Aug. 10.
Mr. Palmer began his address at nearly 4 o'clock in opening the case for the defence. He first referred to the slanders that had been hurled from all quarters upon the prisoners, and of the danger in harboring public opinion. Referring to Annie Parker, he hoped the day of her prosperity was at an end. He referred to her as a character of the worst possible description, and this he is calculated to demonstrate. Coming into the sacred precincts of a court where the truth and nothing but the truth is supposed to be told, there is nothing but falsehood falls from her lips; not only that, she herself acknowledges to be an accom-
