MINING IN THE NORTH.

It is a great mistake, says a correspondent of the Witness at Dawson City, to imagine that a man can walk to a claim and shovel loose earth filled with gold into a sluice box. Undoubtedly gold has been found near the surface in one or two instances. To wash the dump a fall of water of about three feet in twelve is necessary, whereas on the creeks the natural fall is only about fifty feet to a mile. On one occasion after the miners had spent weeks of labor in constructing dams a heavy rain came down and swept away all the dams in a night. In the spring there is, on the other hand, liable to be too much water to work with, and then dams have to be built to turn it, so they dam the water when it is high and when it is low. Wood has to be brought from a distance and labor at high prices paid for. On the other hand there are great rewards. A Nova Scotian named Aleck McDonald, went in with very little experience in mining and staked out a claim on Eldorado Creek and worked all through the winter of 1887 making a dump. When water came in the spring he shoveled for five hours the first day, when he had to stop and clean up and found $16,000 in the box. The total yield of his whole dump was $110,000. To get this he worked hard all through the Arctic winter, with five men, to whom he paid one dollar and a half an hour in wages. A great deal of the time was taken up in getting wood to feed the fires which burn down through the frost which never leaves the ground otherwise. The big brawny Nova Scotian is at present buying up all the properties he can get, thus showing his faith in the region. Here is another actual case which in all honesty should be given alongside of McDonald's. An Englishman named Leonard had spent two years on Bonanza Creek and sunk nine holes down to hard pan without striking a dollar, although the claims on both sides of his were enormously rich. Finally, last August he offered the claim for sale, telling just what his experience had been. He got $2,500 for it, and quit.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS.
THE WEATHER.—Strong breezes or moderate gales southerly to westerly; unsettled mild and showery mostly fair and cool Sunday.
CONTRACTS AWARDED.—The Summerside correspondent of the Guardian says: "The contract for laying the new area around the post office, it is said, has been awarded to Mr. J. Frost, and it is expected the work will be proceeded with very shortly." It is said that the contract for the bridge across the Hill-borough has been awarded to an individual of the same name, probably the same person.
CRUSADERS' ENTERTAINMENT.—The entertainment given by the Loyal Crusaders before Orient Division last evening was most interesting and was greatly enjoyed by those privileged to be present. The various musical and literary selections by the little ones were given in a manner worthy of commendation. Mr. J. J. Chappell delivered a very interesting address on the occasion, and Mr. C. B. Warren gave a splendid reading.
 —The Toronto Globe says of Sir Charles Tupper's mining enterprises, that "there is more true patriotism in a little business enterprise and productive energy than 'volumes of speeches.'" The Globe has at least progressed in the march to independence so far as to recognize a virtue in an opponent, says the Gazette. Its admission is the more noteworthy, also, because it was in the making of volumes of speeches that its political chief, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, won his only fame. The leader of the Liberal Government is associated with no business enterprise.
 —The New York Herald has estimated the cost of the New York election to be $2,374,000. This estimate includes what are called legitimate expenses. There are 200 offices to be filled, and there were 854 candidates in the field. The expenses of the municipality amount to $497,000. This seems an enormous sum, but it must be remembered that provision had to be made for the voting of 567,636 voters. There were 1,522 polling places, in charge of 12,176 paid attendants. The printing of 1,900,000 ballots cost $26,000. If these ballots were placed end to end they would reach 720 miles. They weighed forty tons, and laid on the ground would cover 116 acres. Besides this maps had to be printed and advertisements paid for. The post office handled 3,000,000 packages of campaign matter.
 The diseases cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla are many, because most ailments disappear as soon as the blood is enriched and purified by it.
 You know that Sovereign Flavoring Extracts are good and reliable. Then why not insist upon having them when an attempt is made to substitute.
 The report that Spain has ordered a number of warships from English builders is denied.
 Recent statistics show that there are in the United States 79,800 divorced persons, of whom 44,582 are men and 35,218 are women.
