Railway Improvements.

The present Government have, it will be admitted, greatly improved the P. E. Island Railway. Under the superintendence of experienced and careful officials the road is now highly creditable to the Ministry, to the Province, and to all concerned.

Editorial Notes.

Mr. Cyrus W. Field, the great railroad magnate, has just returned from a trip over the Canada Pacific Railway. In an interview he said: "I went simply for pleasure and recreation. I haven't a dollar's interest in the Canadian Pacific, and did not make the trip with the view of having any interest."

It is sometimes interesting to know how our neighbors are getting along. The State of New York had, in 1845, a population of 2,800,000. To-day it has 5,500,000. The aggregate value of property during the lapse of years, has risen from $606,000,000 to $3,000,000,000.

The Montreal Gazette remarks that Canadian vessels in the so-called American waters of Alaska evidently pay as little attention to the restrictions sought to be imposed upon the prosecution of the seal hunt as their American rivals are inclined to give to the laws of the Canadian Government on the eastern coast.

Bradstreet's Journal says: "There is a chance that the recent seizures of British vessels off the Alaska coast will lead to a comprehensive consideration of the fisheries question in its entirety. The Canadian Minister of Marine and Fisheries has satisfied himself that the seizures were unjustifiable, and has announced his intention of submitting a statement of the case to the imperial government immediately with a view of having a demand made upon the United States for the release of the vessels."

An exchange says that "a book rapidly becoming popular among our golden youth is a volume of convenient size and of neat but humble binding, which contains instead of letters and leaves, a flask of whiskey." By close application to such a book a youth will become a well-red man, about the nose.

Stipendiary Magistrate's Court.

At half-past ten o'clock this forenoon, when His Honor the Stipendiary Magistrate entered the Court Room, he found it well filled with spectators. The docket was also unusually large, consisting of three ordinary drunks, a boy who observed the Sabbath by plundering orchards, and four Scott Act cases.

The first case called was that of a man charged with being drunk on Queen Street yesterday afternoon. He had no excuse to offer and was ordered to contribute $1 to the civic finances.

The next man was charged with the same offence. He owned up to his folly and was obliged to fork over $1.

The next called was a man who, while laboring under an overdose of "bug juice," occupied too much of the sidewalk on Queen Street last evening, and had to be taken in charge by a "Good Samaritan" in brass buttons.

Another boy for stealing apples and plums from the orchard of L. L. Beer, Esq., on Sunday last, pleaded guilty, and said that his brother had advised him to do the harm.

The first of the four Scott Act cases was then called. The defendant denied the charge and in the absence of witnesses the hearing of the case was postponed till Friday next.

The defendant in the second case pleaded guilty. As this was his second offence, he was fined $100.

The third case afforded much amusement to the spectators. There were two witnesses summoned, but only one was present. The witness present was a Frenchman who spoke English imperfectly. He said that he was a stranger in the city, and was not much acquainted with the streets or the people.

He went along with him to the place where they had got the "poor stuff" on Saturday, and had the "same again." He did not see the man pay for the drinks, but if he did, the amount would be about five cents for each glass. The drink was likely hop beer, and was taken from a cask by a pump on the counter.

Owing to the absence of the other witness summoned the case was adjourned till Friday next.

The fourth offender was not present, and a postponement was asked for on that account. The Magistrate could not see any good to be gained by a postponement, and ordered the case to be proceeded with.

The first witness had, in company with two companions, purchased liquor on the defendant's premises on Sunday last, and paid the barkeeper from whom he obtained the liquor.

The second witness corroborated this testimony.

The third was in the defendant's house on Sunday, but was in doubt as to the nature of the drink he got. He asked for whiskey but as it was getting dark he would not be positive that it was that he obtained.

The fourth witness was also in the defendant's house on Sunday. He got two half-glasses of brandy. He did not see any money pass but supposed that the man who treated him paid for the drinks.

The fifth and last witness had also been Sunday visiting at the defendant's house. A man took him in and stood the drink—a half-glass of brandy—but he did not see him pay for it.

St. Matthew's Temperance Society.

An enthusiastic meeting was held last evening for the purpose of instituting a temperance organization, as previously announced in our columns. A number of titles were suggested, when it was decided to adopt the above, it being St. Matthew's Day. The following were elected as officers:

President—M. J. Moran. 1st Vice-President—William Heartz. 2nd Vice-President—W. C. DesBrisay. Recorder—Theo. L. Chappelle. Financier—Thomas E. Flynn. Cashier—James R. McKie. Doorkeeper—James Robison.

The institution begins its work under good circumstances, and has prospects of a large membership. After routine business, a committee was appointed to procure a proper place in which its sessions may be held, and to report at the next meeting.

Wedding Bells.

We clip the following interesting paragraph from the Acton Free Press, of Ontario:—

"The residence of Mr. L. Gray, 106 Barton St., Hamilton, was the scene of an event in which was centered more than ordinary interest yesterday afternoon. The occasion was the marriage of Miss Maggie Moore, second daughter of Mrs. L. Gray, for many years a much respected resident of Acton, and Mr. Henry T. LePage, of Charlottetown, P. E. I. The ceremony was performed at 2 o'clock, by Rev. T. A. Moore, of Prince, brother of the bride, assisted by Rev. V. H. Emory, of Hamilton. Miss Alice Hughes, of Detroit, was bridesmaid and Mr. J. A. Speight, Acton, assisted the groom. The bride was "given away" by her brother, Mr. H. P. Moore, editor Free Press. After the ceremony the happy couple received the hearty congratulations of the guests present, and then adjourned to the dining room and partook of a sumptuous wedding repast.
