HORSESHOEING.
HAVING secured the services of MR. WILLIAM TUCKER, a native of this Island, who has had nine years' experience as a horse-shoer in the United States, I am prepared to supply a long-felt want in this line. Mr. Tucker has reduced horse-shoeing to a science, and is prepared to perform all classes of work in a common-sense and scientific manner. I need not inform the intelligent horse-owner that the art of the horse and condition of the feet must be understood to weight a horse properly and to successfully operate thereon. Numerous patrons already admit the merits of the work performed, and recommend his system of shoeing.
Customers can always depend on prompt attention and entire satisfaction.

THE CAMPAIGN.
MEETING AT THIRD POND.
On the 8th inst., the Dominion candidates for Queen's County met the electors of Lot 20, at the Third Pond schoolhouse, to discuss the political questions of the day.
The meeting was called to order by appointing Mr. William B. Donald chairman, and the undersigned secretary. By an agreement between themselves the candidates would speak only half an hour each.
Mr. Welsh, the Liberal candidate, was the first to address the meeting. He spoke in his usual humorous style, first on local politics, then on reciprocity and free trade.
Mr. Campbell, the Liberal-Conservative candidate, then addressed the meeting. He reviewed the policy of Sir John A. Macdonald, and that adopted by Mr. Blake, particularly the N. P. and free trade question, and showed that while the N. P. was strongly denounced here, it was one of the planks of Mr. Blake's platform. He also showed that the Dominion Government was willing at any time to come to terms with the United States Government on Free Trade. He dealt also with several other questions affecting the interest of this Province.
Mr. Davies then followed. He spoke with regard to the increase of taxation, the land grants in the Northwest, the piers question, the reduction of expenditure, the fishery award, and the work done by the delegates in England, and the terms of winter communication.
Mr. Ferguson then addressed the meeting, discussing ably the different questions. He showed that it was not the intention of Mr. Blake to make any reduction in the tariff. He replied to Mr. Davies' arguments in regard to the reduction of expenditure, fishery award, the piers question, the land grants, and other minor questions.
It was moved by William Campbell, seconded by L. H. Davies, that a vote of thanks be tendered to the chairman. The motion was carried unanimously.
J. McDONALD.

Vernon River Notes.
George Forbes, Esq., is doing a brisk business in limestone and coal. It is not an uncommon thing to see twenty or thirty teams leaving his yard at the same time. Mr. Forbes is erecting a fine new store, which, when complete, will make quite an improvement in the appearance of his premises. Mr. D. McDonald also intends building a wing the coming summer. He is doing a good business.

Politics are all the rage. The Grits are very much excited over the coming contest, as they are beginning to see that their chances are slim, and that the Liberal-Conservatives will undoubtedly retain power for at least another five years. The most violent in this locality are Mr. Lemuel Hayden and the Grit physician. They made a flying canvass through Alberr Plains not long ago, but to their chagrin, no rest could be found for the soles of their feet, as the District is solid Conservative, with the exception of three. Like the raven they did not return.

Entertainment at Milton.
A public temperance meeting and entertainment, under the auspices of Milton Star Division, No. 129, was held on Wednesday evening in Milton Hall. Joshua Westcott, P. W. P., occupied the chair, and faithfully carried out the following excellent and ample bill of fare:
Song—"It will never do to give it up so." Choir.
Recitation—"The Drunkard's Looking Glass."
Address on Father Mathew and his work. Ambrose Wise.
Recitation—"Leave the Liquor Alone." J. J. Chappell, P. G. W. P.
Solo—"Woman's Resolution." Sarah Westcott.
Dialogue—"A Sol." E. Westcott.
Solo—"The Temperance Cause of To-day." Wm. T. McKinnon, P. G. W. P.
Singing—"The Temperance Host." Choir.
Dialogue—"The Crooked Tree." E. Westcott.
Solo—"The King and the Miller." Sarah McKinnon and Sarah Westcott.
Singing—"The Country Milkmaid and City Daily." Jackson Bell and Annie McKinnon.
Dialogue—"The King and the Miller." George Carson and Henry Carson.
Recitation—"The Cause of Right." James Bell.
Dialogue—"The Marriage of Miss Grubbs." George Carson and Sarah Westcott.
Recitation—"The Social Glass." Wm. T. McKinnon.
Lett—"Won't you buy my pretty flowers." Annie McKinnon and Edith Bell.
Address on the Order of the Sons of Temperance. Nathaniel Pearson, P. W. P.
Dialogue—"The Widow's Mistake." H. Carson, Sarah McKinnon and Cassie Wise.
Solo—"Sweet Belle Matrone." Maggie Westcott.
Dialogue—"Much Ado About Nothing." G. Carson, J. Bell and Annie McKinnon.
Solo—"Help the Cause Along." Angelica Thomas.
Dialogue—"How to be Healthy and Wealthy." E. Prescott and Fred. Wise.
Singing—"The Siren Cup." Choir.
Dialogue—"Appearances are Very Deceitful."

The meeting was a grand success, and reflected great credit upon the committee of management. The Hall was so crowded that there was not even standing room, and many had to remain outside. The meeting was brought to a close at 9.30 p. m., the audience singing the National Anthem. A vote of thanks was deservedly given to the organist, Miss Thomas, and the Choir for their efficient services, and three rousing cheers for Milton Star.

A Treat in Store.
Charles Gounod and Bret Harle are a rather curious juxtaposition. The French musician and the American poet have united in one composition, shortly to be published in London. True to his Californian inspiration, Bret Harle wrote a new song, called the "Bells of Monterey," which so delighted the author of "Faust"—for whom it was intended—that he set it to equally beautiful music. Lovers of the two divine arts have a rare treat in store.

Jumped One Thousand Feet.
The Brooklyn Bridge idiots have been outdone by T. B. Baldwin, a tight-rope walker who jumped from a balloon 1,000 feet up in the air Sunday afternoon. His feat was witnessed by 12,000 people in an enclosure outside Golden Gate park. To the basket, was attached an enormous white canvas parachute about ten feet long, closed up, and with a fixed trapeze. At Baldwin's signal the rope attached to the balloon was paid out until a trifle over a thousand feet had been reeled off the windlass. Baldwin was then seen to step on the rim of the basket and, grasping the trapeze in his hands, gave a shout and jumped into space. For a second athlete and canvas attached fell with lightning speed, while a great scream went up from below. Another second and the parachute opened and the fall was so visibly arrested that the machine and man halted in mid air like a great strange bird. Then gravitation asserted itself, and once more Baldwin began to fall. The rush downward increased with every foot until the velocity was frightful, and again people began to scream. And instant Baldwin was crashing through branches of small wattletrees. Thousands rushed to his aid, but, picking himself up, he threw back somersaults, ran a 50-yard spurt and said he would make the drop 1,300 next time.—Ez.

A Fishy Bill.
In the House of Representatives at Washington on the 7th inst., Mr. Dingley, of Maine, introduced a bill which provides that any vessel of foreign nationality or ownership within the meaning of the term "vessel," as defined in section 3, revised statutes, found engaged in taking fish of any kind within three marine miles of any of the marine coasts, bays, creeks or harbors of the United States, shall be liable to seizure and forfeiture and to proceedings to enforce said forfeiture; and any person employed in or with such vessels, found taking fish of any kind in such waters shall be liable to a fine of $50 for each such offence. Said penalty shall be a lien upon the vessel in connexion with which such person is employed, to recover which penalty such vessel shall be subject to libel. The penalties and forfeitures herein described may be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of the Treasury when incurred without wilful disregard of the law under such regulations and modes of ascertaining facts as may seem to him advisable.

Some War Statistics.
At the beginning of the present year the aggregate war strength of the great European nations was about 13,000,000 men. This is about forty per cent more than it was in 1851, twice as great as in 1873, and four times as great as in 1853. The militia and volunteer forces, in addition, are estimated at about 5,000,000. On paper, France has the strongest military force, her army state being put at 1,300,500, capable of increase in time of war to 3,750,000. The German army is 1,425,026 strong, and can be doubled when necessary. The result of the Franco-Prussian war, however, proved the delusiveness of such figures, and few will be found to believe that the French army, with all its boasted strength and efficiency, is the equal of the magnificently trained army corps of Germany.
