Boston Markets.

MARCH 2.
EGGS.—There was a short supply of eggs on Monday and Tuesday, and prices advanced a little. Eastern sold at 20 to 20c and Western at 19 to 20c per dozen. Market closed slow, as lower prices were expected with increased receipts.

POTATOES.—There has been a fair demand for Rose and Hebrons, and prices are steady at 93 to 65c for best Houlton stock. Aroostook and Maine Central rule at 58 to 60c. Potatoes are quiet at 53 to 55c. Northern stock 53 to 55c.

FISH.—The jobbing trade has shown more animation, but buyers are still operating in a small way and the Leuten business is not up to expectation. Nova Scotia mackerel are slow of sale, and receipts still go into store. Extras are quoted at $18 to $22, and No 1 at $15 to $16 per bbl, but it is hard to effect sales at the inside figures. Separate lots of No 2 command $14 to $15, but receivers are indifferent about selling except with No 1s. For No 3, the range is $9 to $10, but only late caught mediums command the outside figure. Receipts of mackerel for the week closing Friday were 1,432 bbls, of which 1,300 bbls were from the Provinces.

The Irish Police Force.

In the English House of Commons, a few days ago, Dillon, commenting on the vote of £30,000 for Irish police, pointed out that the claim was in addition to £83,500 already voted the police for extra pay and traveling expenses. The greater portion of the money, he said, had been spent in endeavoring to suppress public meetings and in carrying on the work of evictions. If the English people knew how their money was spent they would rise in rebellion against such a system. No amount of such expenditures would ever suppress the plan of campaign or public meetings. He warned the government that the meetings would continue to be held in defiance of them and if bloodshed should follow, shame and crime would be on the head of the government. (Hear, hear.) It was the action of the government that led to the commission of outrages. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, chief secretary for Ireland, contended that the expenditures for Irish police were necessary to maintain order. While agitators like Dillon and his friends incited the people to resist the law the police expenditures were necessarily greater. The plan of campaign, for which Dillon was largely responsible, was a mere organized system of robbery. (Cheers.) Dillon appealed to the chair, asking if the expression was justifiable. The chairman replied that the expression did not impute robbery to the member. Sir Michael, continuing, said the government intended to ask parliament for such changes in the law as would make it possible to obtain convictions. Dillon's speech afforded additional proof of the absolute necessity of giving further powers to the government, if law and order were to be restored in Ireland. (Unionist cheers.)

Enjoy Life.

What a truly beautiful world we live in! Nature gives us grandeur of mountains, glens and oceans, and thousands of means of enjoyment. We can desire no better when in perfect health; but how often do the majority of people feel like giving it up, disheartened, discouraged and worn out with disease, when there is no occasion for this feeling, as every sufferer can easily obtain satisfactory proof, that Green's August Flower will make them free from disease, as when born. Dyspepsia and liver complaint are the direct causes of seventy-five per cent. of such maladies as biliousness, sick headache, costiveness, nervous prostration, indigestion, dizziness of the head, palpitation of the heart, and other distressing symptoms. Three doses of August Flower will prove its wonderful effect. Sample bottle, 10 cts. Try it.

Benjamin Sheppard, who was employed on the I. C. R., shovelling snow, was thrown under a train near Newcastle station, N. B., on the afternoon of the 3rd inst., and crushed to death. He was standing between two box cars on his return to work after dinner, and in attempting to jump off fell backward and was thrown across the rails. He was pushed along in front of the wheels for about a quarter of a mile, and when the train was stopped he was found to be terribly crushed. He died almost instantly. The deceased was a young man about 21. He was a native of Chatham and was married about a year ago.

Charles Quoy, 38 years of age, was run over and killed Wednesday night by a train on the northern division of the Intercolonial Railway. He had been engaged shovelling snow on the line and was overtaken by a train while walking home. Being deaf, he failed to hear the train approaching.

Several young women of Aylmer, Ont., have formed a society, the object of which is to better the moral condition of the young men into whose society they are constantly thrown. The vow they young woman takes when becoming a member is that she will not associate with a young man who partakes of the intoxicating cup, frequents billiard rooms, indulges in tobacco in any form, or uses profane language or slang.

Forty-nine years ago the father of Harrison Gilbert, of Chili, Ill., bought a two-year-old pony from the Indians. When the war of the rebellion began the pony was 25 years old, but Mr. Gilbert rode him all through the war, and neither was hurt. The old fellow still lives, tenderly cared for. He hasn't a tooth in his head, lives on corn bread and bran mush, and is probably the oldest horse in America, if not in the world.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt writes to the London Times to show that the troubles in Ireland arise from the attempt of the government to enforce the payment of rents which their own land commission has declared people are unable to pay. He quotes from speeches of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach and other Conservatives, made last year, in which it was admitted that if Mr. Parnell was able to prove the promises of his tenants relief bill the government would be bound to attempt to supply a remedy. The land commission, says the writer, proved Mr. Parnell to be in the right, yet the government instead of bringing in a bill to deal with judicial rents proposed fresh coercive measures.
