

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

MARCH 21, 1892.

Opening of the Legislature.

INTEREST will centre upon the opening of the Legislature, to-morrow, in the hope that the Lieutenant-Governor will announce the results of the Peters-Farquharson policy of "drying up the Land Office" and selling debentures. Of course, we all know that considerable progress has been made in both these directions. But the people would like to find out particularly and definitely how much of the large amount due the Land Office has been given away and to what extent the debenture debt has been swelled, to the end that the Government may continue at ease. In the sale of debentures with the little coupons attached, the Government have acted upon the principle set forth by the man who, having first signed an interest-bearing note of hand, said, "Thank God, that debt's paid." But they have merely purchased, at a high price, a temporary relief from the embarrassment in which the Province must, inevitably, be involved unless a radical change is made in the financial policy of the Province, or unless a big windfall is obtained. By the allowance of large discounts upon amounts due the Land Office, they have merely reduced by so much the capital belonging to the people of the Province in order that they may obtain a revenue to meet the expenditure of the year, and float along. It will be interesting to hear from the Lieutenant-Governor a succinct official statement of the success which has attended the efforts of the Government to carry out their ruinous policy. Apart from this, it will be interesting to know what's to be done about the revision of the laws for which the Grit party clamored when in Opposition and for which there is a real necessity.

Sale of Debentures.

It has transpired that the Sunday evening departure of Premier Peters and one of the brace of honorable wise men from the east was intimately connected with the sale of debentures. From this fact it is to be inferred that satisfactory tenders for the amount of the loan were not received previous to the first of October last. Capitalists, as a rule, fight shy of Grit Government; and the experience of governments as of individuals is that it is very much easier to get into debt than to get out of it. But there seems to be no good reason—apart from the Grit Administration—why $100,000 worth of P. E. Island debentures at four per cent. should not at once have been disposed of here in a Province in which there are millions on deposit at three and a half per cent. We must, however, assume that nothing short of absolute necessity induced the Premier to go off, on a Sunday evening, at the beginning of the goose season, for the purpose of selling debentures in Nova Scotia. It is certain, at any rate, that the Premier and Hon. Mr. Kickham did not, on this occasion, go on a wild goose chase. The debentures have been sold. But at what price? Perhaps His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor will afford the desired information, to-morrow, in the course of his speech from the throne! At any rate, it is to be hoped that it will shortly appear that the debentures realized abroad at least as much money as they could have been sold for at home.

Some persons have wondered why the Premier took with him the Hon. Thomas Kickham. This is easily explained as an eminently wise provision. Twenty years ago, when another Liberal Government was hawking debentures in Nova Scotia, one of the precious documents, with coupons attached, was lost. Mr. Kickham's attendance was necessary to guard and provide against another such disaster.

Notes and Comments.

Charlottetown harbor is practically open. We shall soon be looking out for the Stanley and the Northumberland. James Fisher has rediscovered the famous Tomesconi mine, twenty miles west of Tubac, Sonora, Mexico, which was worked by Jesuits until they were driven off by Apaches.

It will have been noted with pleasure that the Abbott Government propose to reduce the ordinary public expenditure by $2,500,000. The taxpayers will appreciate this economy of the present Administration.

It would be a great thing to send a ship from Port Arthur direct to Liverpool. But it would cost seventy-seven millions of dollars (perhaps more) to deepen the canals in order that the ships may go through. The country is not prepared for this. Consequently the Government have been compelled to say no to the proposition.

The cause celebre of Honore Mercier vs. J. P. Whelan for criminal libel has come to an end. The charge against Whelan of procuring the publication in the Montreal Gazette of an interview in which the defendant charged Mercier, Langelier and other hoodlums of having obtained certain sums from him in connection with his court house contract has been dismissed.

All but nine States out of the forty-four in the United States now make scientific temperance education compulsory in their common schools. There are between twelve and thirteen million children in America, of whom the law says that they shall be taught the truth against strong drink and kindred narcotics. In the majority of these States no teacher who has not passed a satisfactory examination in the subject is granted a certificate or authorized to teach.

The London Free Press produces a decision of Judge Davis (said to be a former Liberal) in connection with the south Middlesex voters' list, in which it was held that writing "not qualified" after a voter's name was not a "ground" which the courts could consider. In the South Middlesex, as in the London case, it was decided that a person's name appearing on the list constituted a presumption that it had a right to be there, and that anyone wishing to have it removed should state wherein the qualification was deficient. This is what Judge Elliott held in London. Judge Davis also held that such a notice as was sent in South Middlesex (and London) was not a legal notice, and could not be amended. Precedent and common sense are, the Montreal Gazette remarks, equally against the Liberals in their attempt to rob the Conservative London electors of the franchise.

The Montreal Gazette remarks that the interdependence of industries, one upon the other, is well illustrated in the case of the English miners' strike, which has thrown out of employment a quarter of a million employers not concerned in the subject of the original dispute. This, of course, means a tremendous loss, and were it brought about by the action of the employer, it would give demagogic agitation no end of material for railing against the callousness of capital. The experience in great strikes such as these is however, that the evil does not last. The United States has had two such struggles. In the great Southwestern strike of 1887 and in the New York longshoremen's strike a couple of years later, hundreds of thousands of men were thrown out of work; but the very violence of the fever extinguished the strength of the strikers, and while the country was still talking of the tremendousness of the struggles they collapsed, and the organizations which inaugurated them never fully recovered from the effects. English workmen's unions are better managed and better supplied with the means of resistance than are those of the United States; but the care of an army of 350,000 men and their dependents is a task that a national treasury can alone expect to fulfil. The holiday is too exhausting to last long.

Boston Markets.

Boston, March 17. Eggs.—Arrivals are still very heavy, although not quite so large as last week. Demand shows but little if any improvement. Prices advanced a cent immediately following our last weekly report, but fell back again on Saturday, and since then they have been mainly at 14c. Yesterday afternoon under the influence of the steady cold weather and strong advices from other markets, holders advanced prices a half cent, but how long this state of things will continue, or which way the market will turn is very uncertain. Nearby and Cape Fancy 15 to 16 Eastern extra 14 to 15 Vt. and N. H. extras 14 to 15 Southern, choice fresh 14 to 15 Potatoes.—Best Houlton Rose are quoted steady at 49c., and Arrostok lots at 50c. Best Maine Hebrons selling as wanted at 50c. Dakota Red in fair demand at 35c. Barbkans have a moderate sale at 40 to 45c. as to quality.

[We couldn't make much by sending eggs and potatoes to Boston at these prices—even if there were no duty.]

Personal.

It is pleasing to hear that the Hon. James R. McLean, Commissioner of Public Works, has sufficiently recovered from his recent illness to be able to resume work. James F. White, Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Assembly, and John Arsenault, doorkeeper, are in the city for the opening of the Provincial Legislature. Last session the Grits, evidently foreseeing that they would never again see so numerous in this Parliament, had themselves photographed in a group, and their forethought was justified by the designation of their ranks during the bye-elections. The Conservatives have also decided to have a "group" taken during the present session, but, unlike the Grits, they will hold the picture open as long as possible so as to allow the members who have yet to capture Grit seats a chance to come in. The work has been entrusted to Mr. S. J. Jarvis. In the centre will be a photograph of the Privy Council, with the cabinet ministers seated about the round red table. This will be flanked by the photographers of the party whips, and the group will be completed by the likenesses of the rank and file of the party.

News Notes.

The New South Wales Legislature has approved a bill for the settlement of labor disputes by arbitration.

President Carnot, of France, has signed the commercial treaty with the United States. The wilful destruction of property by means of explosives will hereafter be punishable by death in France.

The United States Government has decided to issue a proclamation of retaliation against those South American countries which have refused to enter into reciprocal trade relations with the United States.

The Pulpit.

SOMETHING LIKE A COLLECTION.

Rev. J. A. Gordon's sermon last night was listened to by a large audience, and was eloquently delivered. He said that it is not wise to live in the past, but retrospective glances and faith in the future make up a great part of our lives. In reviewing the history of the Baptist Church, showing the work, struggles and success during the past three years and saw that only with the interposition of Divine Providence have we been led through and stand where we do to-day. Eighty-five members have been added to our number, a mission in another part of the city is supported by the evangelists, a society for young people in connection with the Church, and prayer meetings and study of God's word were factors sufficient to keep the people united as they were. At the close he asked for a collection of $1000. He said that bazaars and teas, etc., were not the means by which we raise funds for our church, but by the willing offerings of living hearts. The clerk took down the amount of the donations as follows: that he might in about 15 minutes get the sum of nearly $1200 was voluntarily contributed. When the amount was made known the congregation rose and sang "Praise God from whom all blessings flow."

SERMONS IN THE FIRST METHODIST CHURCH.

The services in the First Methodist Church yesterday were very interesting. The pastor, Rev. W. W. Brewer, preached on both occasions. In the morning he selected as his text, 1 Kings, 19:4: "And he fasted forty days and forty nights." When a strong man wishes to get out of this world very quickly, there must surely be something wrong. Such conduct needs accounting for. What led Elijah to act as he did. 1st. Want of success. He considered that he labored in vain. 2nd. Fear of a woman. The passionate Queen decided to have his blood in twenty-four hours. This made him weary of life. His mission was frustrated by an idolatrous woman. When one feels the magnitude of human opposition, faith fails and "a juniper tree" is the only ending such a man will desire. Elijah measured Jezebel against Jehovah. 3rd. Elijah was a grateful man of yesterday. How it would bless us. Then when standing in the presence of some failure the victories of the past would become promises of victory in the future. Many who attend the churches, are not known as christian men and women, but are truly the Lord's. But for this positive belief I could not preach another sermon. I only plow and watch the field while, it matters not to me who shall reap. The people were unfair to Elijah—they should have spoken words of cheer and made him feel that he did not stand alone. There is repeated in all our churches a cowardly retreating—loveliness—which is heart-breaking to the minister. Oh! why not declare yourselves. How often might you bravely speak out in tones of right and on the side of truth. Often we ponder with sinking hearts the apparent growth of evil, and well may we consider it, for if the evils in our land be not stayed, they will strangle that which is good. But rather than force them, we say we would rather die than stand bravely up. A grant, however, Remember ever that the future is with God.

In the evening Mr. Brewer spoke from Exodus 14:15 "Go forward." Help thyself and heaven will help thee. It does not say "Throw all on the promises of God and he shall come and help thee." There are around and about us influences which greatly aid. People imagine a great many things that are not taught in the Bible about salvation. God could not do any more than he has done—all in love, revelation and opportunity. We are not asked to meet heaven half way; God is about and around us. The picture of God standing aloof is not found in the Scriptures, for "When there was no eye to pity—he pitied us." The father of the prodigal saw his son a great way off and ran to him. At the banks of the Red Sea there came ringing down from the throne of God, "Is forward." What is the principle here? Is it, "March and I will meet you somewhere, or is it, "March, for I have led? It was by no fault of their own that they were there. The facts were exactly the reverse. The God who had brought them out was there to help them. Doubt is easy here and faith a very hard thing. What knowledge about this great God. The history of the Exodus, in many particulars, is ours. Man is a child of heaven—a truth the church did not learn at first, but a truth that everywhere is being accepted to-day. Man is a captive in a house of bondage. Who does not often long again for his youths days—the dreams of childhood's dream? Gather around the bed of sleeping infancy. Its little brow already signetted with thought so pure that if God should take it the warden at heaven's gate would admit it at once. It belongs to God. Forty years pass away, and that man's heart is all dark with transgression. He lives in utter forgetfulness of his God. Did you ever talk to a man held in the tyranny of some sin? I have. To such I say, "Why do such things? You are a man. Now, while you may stand up in your strength and say, 'I will no longer be held in bondage.'" But he replies, "What can I do?" The habit of some particular sin paralyzes me. It makes the days all darkness. You tell me it is God's command for me to go forward. How can I? There are men who are held in the grasp of sin. Do such say, I may as well die? No, no. It is God's will that you live. Don't stay with praying; move away. In God's name go forth; so shall you pass safely through to a place of victory and grand moral triumph. The enemy has been conquered by Him who is both human and divine. The old crusaders went forth with the cry, "It is the will of God." Press with your bleeding feet the wilderness you will have to travel and you shall pass on and out into a new world. We have no right to ask God to do for us what we can do for ourselves. You say, "We are praying for salvation." You will never get salvation by merely praying for it. No man was ever saved who merely did this. You must turn and obey. Here is a man who wishes to be delivered from strong drink. He prays, "Oh Lord deliver." God cannot do it, or force him into sobriety and decency. You will have to be a man. It is yours to keep away from those places where mocking devils gibber. It business some ascribe success to prayer. It is not so. Energy and frugality will make and preserve a business. There are such things as stupid honesty and thoughtless honesty, and again there is the thrifty and farsighted honesty. A lazy saint is a contradiction and God will never bless him. God must have a bold and courageous people. Prayer and effort will bring success. It is because we fail to do that many of us are where we are. Let us arise and do and pray and act and act, and the blessing of God will surely rest upon us.

St. Patrick's Entertainment at Alberton.

We have just received the report of the Alberton entertainment, which was pronounced a splendid success in every respect. Woodman's Hall was packed to the vestibule. Good river ice and fair roads put it within the reach of all to enjoy a first-class programme, and, judging by reports, it was enjoyed to the full. We are unable to give a detailed criticism of the different numbers, but a professional musician who was present assures us that "the vocal music was cleverly rendered, evincing on the part of the singers not only the possession of good voices, but also a degree of artistic interpretation seldom encountered in small communities." Our informant also spoke highly of the instrumental pieces, as well as of Mr. Hackett's superior address on Irish Patriotism, and of the first-class manner in which the actors presented their parts in "Miles Boy." The entire absence of the least shadow of that roughness which sometimes creeps into Irish farces was a feature in this very generally appreciated. The proceeds were happy to state amounted to $80. We append the programme as nearly as we could ascertain:
