OBITUARY.

On the morning of the 19th ult., at his home at Rollo Bay, at the ripe age of 88 years, Lawrence Peters, Esq., passed his reward. He was a man of exemplary piety, of irreproachable character, of ordinary talent, while his skill as a mechanic and architect was universally acknowledged. The early years of his life brings us back to the time when the colony was in its infancy, and when many of the improvements which we enjoy to-day were first planned and gradually realized. In the realization of much of that he took a prominent part. In his time he discharged the duties of various public offices with credit, and he lived his last on the date above mentioned. He remains were followed to the grave by a large concourse of sorrowing friends, and were buried in the cemetery at Rollo Bay, there to await the final resurrection.

MARSHFIELD NOTES.

Our school is progressing favourably under the teaching of Mr. Morson who in our opinion is above the average as a teacher.

Mr. Stewart, our popular storekeeper, is ever ready to supply the wants of the public with groceries of no 1 quality, and is doing a good business.

Our popular horseman, Mr. Shaw, has reason to be proud of some colts sired by his noble sire, the Welgwood which are owned around here.

Our cheese factory has ceased operation for the season. We farmers are loud in our praises of the Dominion Government which has helped us in this branch of farming whereby we are not depending on our Yankee neighbors.

Our local veterinary is kept busy attending to the wants of the public who find him willing and skillful.

Our branch of the Farmers and Dairy-men's Association has commenced their regular meetings for the winter months. The first meeting was addressed by Mr. McDonald, our cheese maker, and was highly appreciated by the many members present.

THE EVANGELISTIC SERVICES.

Yesterday morning Mr. Hunter preached in the Christian Church, to a large and most appreciative congregation.

In the afternoon, at the First Methodist Church, Mr. Hunter addressed a large congregation of women. He spoke with reference to the model woman, his remarks being based on the 31st chapter of Proverbs, and 11 Kings 4:26. His remarks were pointed and forcible, and his illustrations striking.

At the evening service in the same church Mr. Hunter delivered one of the best addresses yet given by him in this city. His text was Genesis 28: 10-22—a description of Jacob's ladder. In a forcible manner he contrasted Jacob's ladder and the Devil's ladder, the ladder of death, and closed with an eloquent and earnest appeal to get off the ladder of death and on to the one leading to the heavenly Kingdom.

In the morning Mr. Crossley preached an able sermon in Zion Church, and also sang one or two solos. His discourse dealt with the rest of parson. 2. The rest of service. 3. The rest of Heaven. The large congregation was much impressed.

At the Opera House in the afternoon Mr. Crossley spoke on "Mysteries in the material and spiritual world," to a large audience of men. After showing that heat, light, electricity, sound, gravitation, in fact everything in the natural world is a mystery, he spoke about five mysteries in the spiritual world, viz.: (1) God, (2) The Incarnation, (3) The Atonement, (4) degeneration, (5) Heaven. The discourse was in the opinion of many the best yet given in this city by the evangelist.

In the evening Mr. Crossley spoke concerning business, professional and working men and women, and sang a solo very effectively.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD.

Sir John was fond of making verses but none have been preserved, with the exception of some birthday lines composed when he was only thirteen years of age, and addressed to his cousin Maria (Chaff), afterwards Mrs. Macpherson, of Kingston, the mother of the author of Sir John's biography, and through her kindness they have appeared as follows in the Kingston Whig:—

"The laughter-loving goddess Mirth: Whom lovely Venus at a birth With two sister Graces more, To ivy-crowned Bacchus bore."

To Scotia's favored mountain dew: She there met Love, that wanton boy, Who does the hearts of youth annoy, And there resolved to form a mind With wit and loveliness combined.

For this they got some white, clear clay, And then, before the dawn of day, They picked the wild flowers of the mount.

And shed their bosoms in a fountain; With these they formed a beautiful frame, Well known for wit and mirth by fame; Mirth then found a lovely smile, And Cupid added a wanton wife;

To these, the sigh which Pitt wears, And Phœnix's piping sister's tears, All these, with clay our earthily part, Formed a feeling, laughing heart, To these were placed the ethereal spark, Aed from this rose Maria Chaff.

NEWS NOTES.

Lord Aberdeen has returned to Ottawa.

The centenary of the birth of Thomas Carlyle was celebrated at Chelsea and at his birthplace near Dumfries.

It is stated on the authority of J. A. Beland Oimmet, president of the club conservative, that Sir Charles Tupper, bart, will be asked to address a meeting at the drill shed on Dec. 20th, in the interests of Sir William Hingston.

Several of the female members of Olive Baptist Church, Montreal, have lately been meeting in the church for various purposes. At these meetings, BIBLES have been offered up that Mr. Hingston will not accept the call to Mancton, but will return to Montreal prepared to take up the pastorate again. Mr. Hingston preached in Mancton yesterday.

Premier Greenway, at a banquet given in Winnipeg to Lord Aberdeen the other night, forehadowed what the Government crop bulletin, shortly to be issued, would contain. He said the twenty-five thousand farmers of Manitoba had raised this year just thirty-one million five hundred thousand bushels of wheat, and a total of six million bushels of grain. Not 60 for a country that was known a few years ago the Great Lone Land.
