The Russian Cruisers,

The following is a translation of the proclamation issued by the Moscow Cruiser Committee, and which is now being dispersed, says the London Globe, all over Russia. The document has been revised by the character of a Russian State paper:—

APPEAL FOR SUBSCRIPTION IN AID OF THE ACQUISITION OF SHIPS FOR THE VOLUNTEER FLEET.

The Lord has sent Russia another trial. An implacable foe threatens us with war, fellow countrymen! Are we to bear patiently the wresting from us of the fruits of victory! Are we again to have to liberate our brothers! Our foe is strong on the sea. The number and might of his marine resources greatly exceed our own. But there is a way of striking him a blow on his sea path which he may sensibly feel. Who does not know that the interests of our foe lie in his profit and gains? He owns a mighty marine fleet. Thirty thousand vessels plough the seas for him. Here, then, is the way to strike him a blow. At that moment when the enemy closes our seas, and, as in the Crimean war time, burns and robs our undefended villages along the coast at that moment let us carry the misery of war into the midst of his marine. For this purpose we must have swift and powerful vessels that may present themselves suddenly and with terror upon the sea paths of our foe. The last war covered with glory our seamen, fighting with fragile vessels against the terrible ironclads, and issuing victorious from such an unequal combat. Give them regular sea ships, send them to the ocean to cruise among the enemy's merchant fleet, and our enemy will be rolled up in his self-presumption. Children of the Russian soil! ye have risen as one man each time that danger has threatened our holy mother, Russia. Answer to her call this time with united will and with every means create a fleet that will again show to the world the worth of the Russian people when they stand on guard for the honor of their country. But there is no time to be lost. We must act quickly. Dost thou want peace,—prepare for war.

A Great Institution.

The Bank of Montreal held its annual meeting in Montreal on Monday last. The report made on the occasion by the directors was, under the circumstances, an extremely favorable one. It showed that the Bank's profits for the year ended April 30th, 1878, after deducting charges of management and making full provision for all bad and doubtful debts, were no less than $1,430,903. It began the year with a balance of Profit and Loss of $199,081. It closed the year with a balance of $190,177, after paying meanwhile in dividends $1,439,808—the rate being 12 per cent. per annum.

Necessarily the bank did less business last year. The decrease in loans was well on to $3,000,000; yet the net profits were $242,000 in excess of those of the previous year.

The General Manager, however, cautioned shareholders against cherishing high expectations in the immediate future. Money was plentiful. There was competition with both British and American capital, and he could promise a continuance of 12 per cent. dividends.

Morbid institutions, large as well as little, cannot but feel the severe pressure of the times. But the manner in which this great institution is weathering the storm of commercial disaster, which meets it at a hundred points, is gratifying to witness.

Diphtheria is shewing its fearful malignity in some families in Halifax. One of the most distressing cases we have heard of is that of Mr. John Downey, in Wellington Street. Two children died a week or so ago, Lily Rozel, aged 7 years and 11 months, on the 24th ult.; and on the 29th, Florence, aged 3 years; and on Monday last, June 3rd, two more—Bessie May, aged 12 years, and Mary Ann, aged 10 years—were taken away almost at the same time. Two others are lying in a very precarious state. The hearts of the parents have thus been fearfully taxed.—Christian Messenger.

Medical research is not without difficulties and danger of its own, as the body-snatching case at Cincinnati shows. The Hon. Jno. Harrison was buried in the family vault on one day and discovered in the dissecting rooms of Ohio Medical College by the son on the next. The incident must have been a tolerably startling one to son, who believed his father's body to be quietly resting in the family vault, and it would be curious to know the reasons for such a daring flight of body-snatching genius. As a rule the subjects are got from the humbler classes of society, from those who die unfriended and unknown, in hospitals. What desperate resorts surgeons were at one time put to may be shown from the murders that used frequently to take place in London. England, in order to provide the materials the doctors wanted for the medical colleges. Of course they took their "subjects," and paid for them without enquiring too closely where they came from. Of the midnight marauding in graveyards, Dickens gives one of his humorous accounts in the exploits of Jerry Cruncher in "Tale of Two Cities," who used to "go fishing" at the curious hour of one in the morning.

Miscellaneous News.

Mr. J. Peters' King George won the Queen's Plate at London.

Nine lawyers and nine insurance men are to play a game of base ball in Chicago.

A monument to the late President Johnson was unveiled at Knoxville, Tenn., last week.

Edison is perfecting an ear trumpet without wires, enabling one to hear conversation from a distance of a mile.

The English Government prefer female telegraph operators, because they always wait for the last word of news.

The 26th Annual Convention of the International Typographical Union opened at Detroit, Mich., on the 3d inst.

The Courier-Journal states that when Judge Hilton owned a farm he used to try to run his hen coops with hens alone.

Sir Frederick Graham came out from England on purpose to fish the Restigouche. He and Hon. Col. Letellier were at Campbellton on Saturday.

A good story is told of a tom-cat that was in Paris during the siege of 1870. The animal has a good memory. Whenever it hears artillery firing it collects morsels of bread and meat and retires to the cellar for safety.

The men employed in the Department building, Quebec, struck on the 3rd inst., because the contractor reduced their wages from 60c. to 50c., and have appealed to Mr. Premier Joly.

In Montreal the other day Jos. Boudon took four young robins out of a nest, and was fined $5 and costs for doing so, under the local law which protects insectivorous birds.

The assassins of the Japanese Minister Okubo sent a letter to the newspaper, defending their act on the ground that their victim was tyrannical. The body was body was shockingly mutilated.

A London special to a Berlin paper states that the London detectives on Saturday informed the British Government that there was great agitation among the Socialists, and important events were imminent.

Five of the ringleaders in the recent outbreak at Constantinople have been executed—their trial revealing the fact that the murder of the Sultan, as well as the reinstatement of Murad, was contemplated.

While one despatch from Constantinople declares in consequence of the representations of Mr. Layard, the order banishing the editor of the "Levant Herald" has been revoked, another states that the suppression of the paper continues, and that the editor has been forced to quit the city.

A plot is believed to exist in Germany to assassinate the Imperial family. Thirty-seven persons have been arrested for speaking disrespectfully of the Emperor Wilhelm; one, a printer, has been sentenced to four years' imprisonment, and another to two years and a half for expressing their regrets that Nobeling's attempt failed.

An important combination of railroad interests west of the Missouri river is reported by which the Union Pacific, Kansas Pacific, Colorado and Denver and Rio Grande, St. Joe and Denver City, Denver City, Denver Pacific, and St. Louis, Kansas City and Northern Railroad Companies will be consolidated and pass substantially under Jay Gould's control.

The Imperial Government have promised to supply the Dominion Government with two hundred copies of the report of the Halifax Fishery Commission, thus saving Canada the expense of printing a very bulky volume. The question now arises whether it will be necessary to translate and print the report in French, which would involve the outlay of $8,000.

The Times declares that a more honorable triumph than that achieved by England in securing the discussion of the whole Treaty of San Stefano has seldom been won by diplomacy or statesmanship. The hasty generalizations and hasty outlines of General Ignatieff, it says, will be keenly criticized at Congress, and it will prove a very different thing to draw a map of Bulgaria at San Stefano in the presence of trembling Pashas, and to justify such a map before the most experienced statesmen in Europe. The Agence Russe says the presence of the leading Ministers in Congress and the spirit which animates the Cabinet gives hope that the Eastern question will be dealt with on a broad basis and an understanding be reached which will consolidate the peace of Europe. In consequence of the possibility of Turkey provoking a renewal of hostilities, Russia and England have agreed to keep their forces in their respective position in the neighborhood of Constantinople until after the Congress. The Russians are said, however, to have occupied in force Tholoni, a central position between Constantinople, Adrianople and Gallipoli. Ministers Bratiana and Coganiceno are charged with having signed an agreement with Russia for the occupation of a part of Roumania, without fixing any date for its evacuation. This has given rise to a suspicion that those Ministers have a leaning towards Russia. Plojesti is reported to have been occupied by the Russians on the ground that the Roumanian army was threatening their communications. Russia has granted an amnesty to the Mohammedan insurgents, and the insurrection is subsiding. Sadyk Pasha, late Chief of the Ottoman Ministry, and Catherdori Effendi, Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, will represent Turkey at Congress.
