City Badminton Players Defeat S'side In Opening Matches For Lewis Trophy

In a brilliant display of badminton, featured by close, thrilling struggles in every set Charlottetown racquet wielders last night took a big step in defence of the L. C. Lewis Trophy when they turned back the Summerside Association representatives 12 sets to 8 in the opening of the home and home series played on the recently laid courts in the Crystal Rink at Summerside. Slippery courts made for precarious footing for the players but despite this a large crowd in attendance witnessed some of the finest badminton ever played in Summerside. Although gaining a four-game lead, Charlottetown players were extended in every match and in the second tournament of the series, to be played at Charlottetown Thursday night next the present holders of the Trophy will have to be right on their game to hold their lead.

Fireworks Expected At Annual Meeting

Arrangements will also be made at the meeting for the Maritime track and field championships and the trials which, precede the Canadian Olympic tests.

IS HISTORY REPEATING ITSELF?

19 ENTRIES FOR RUNNING OF DERBY TODAY

(By Alan Gould Associated Press Sports Editor) LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 1—Threatening storm-clouds and speculative brain-storms, superimposed upon muggy weather and a muddy track, a Churchill Downs, floated tonight over the surging scenes of the Kentucky Derby, to be run tomorrow for the 62nd time and under the most opulent circumstances since boom days. No sooner had the names of 19 three-year-olds, including 15 colts, two geldings and two fillies, been drawn in the entry box today for the most popular and picturesque horse race of the United States than sensational reports spread that the 7-5 favorite, Joseph E. Widener's Brevity, had gone wrong. Persisting throughout the day, despite emphatic denial by trainer Pete Coyne, this development fired ahead the speculative probability that conditions will make for a wide-open race over the route of one mile and a quarter, with a $50,000 pot of gold at stake and close to 60,000 fans feverishly on edge.

(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) NEW YORK, May 1—Finishing his first game in four starts, Johnny Broaca gave Chicago White Sox seven hits here today and New York Yankees won their fifth straight victory 3-2. All the scoring was done in the first three innings of the ball game, Broaca shutting the White Sox out with only one hit in the last six. The Yankees scored their first run in the first on Roy Johnson's double error and Bill Dickey's single to centre. They got their other two in the second. The White Sox scored one in the second and another in the third.

Red Sox blanked Cleveland, 6-0. It was the lank southpaw's second shut-out of the season. During his 33 1-3 innings on the mound this season, he has given the opponent but one earned run. Grove gave the Indians seven scattered hits, struck out nine and did not give a single pass. Browns Swamped 17-1. Washington Senators, playing at home, inundated St. Louis under a deluge of base hits in the first three innings today and trimmed the Browns by 17-1. Jimmy De Shon, acquired from the Yankees last winter, almost duplicated the two-hit performance he recorded in his last start, setting the Browns down with five safe blows, good for only seven bases.

By a lucky chance he acquired for a small sum the ownership of International Stock Food and its products, which was then an almost unknown brand of goods. People thought that Savage was just another sucker upon whom something in the way of a dead enterprise had been unloaded; but Savage was a man of unquestioned ability and years in advance of his time as an advertiser. In two years newspapers circulated among stockmen and harness horse men were carrying advertisements bearing the slogan "Three Feeds for One Cent." Behind this quartette of words he built up a publicity marvelously adapted to hit the patrons that he aimed at.

At the same time a large picture of Dan in harness was dispensed gratis to everybody who asked for it— together with gaily printed booklets telling about him, how much he had earned, how many records he had broken, that he was an undefeated race horse and that three times daily he consumed a ration of "Three Feeds for One Cent" and neighed for more!

As an example of the way in which it paid I may mention that one season Mr. Savage contracted with a mid-western state fair to give an exhibition with Dan. He was on the opening day, hundreds of people came to see him and the management doubted the advisability of that date. Mr. Savage said to them: "I will stage the show for any excess over last year's gate receipts for that season when he can attract." This looked like easy money to the management so they signed up.

An extra intensive advertising campaign was then put forth which carried Dan into every home and every fence corner within a radius of a hundred miles. Before daylight on the morning of his exhibition the crowds began pouring into the fair grounds and long before the hour set for him to come forth the entire place was a sea of humanity, the like of which had never before been seen there. It took not only police but soldiers to get him from the stable to the race track and then back to the stable after his mile, in which he smashed the state record into smithereens. When the gate receipts were counted up it was found that Mr. Savage was due to draw down about $21,500, for by that much did they exceed the same day's receipts of the year before.

At the Minnesota state fair of 1906 he drew 90,000 people and of four different big fairs that season he drew a total gate of nearly 250,000 people. Each season when he appeared over the half-mile track at Allentown, Pa., he was reported to have drawn 70,000 to it. A man who was there said with more force than elegance: "By gee, the world never saw anything like it. There was not a spot an inch square inside the gates that did not have a crowd being or two or three of them packed into it, until you could not have put a tissue paper between 'em. How I ever got in or out alive I do not know."

So compelling was the spell which his mere appearance caused upon people that they seemed just content to see him as they would have George Washington or Abraham Lincoln, and that alone was sufficient. He was guarded day and night from souvenir hunters or there would not have been a hair left in his tail, a strap of his harness or a rub-rag in his stable.

Blacksmith Nash, who always travelled with him, was besetted for Dan Patch shoes, more especially a dollar one. For years he received a record or two each and (Continued on Page 15)

Down The Sports Trail

(By Paul Mickelson, Associated Press Sports Writer) (A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) NEW YORK, May 1—Down the sports trail: Seventh Dugout: James Joseph Dykes, pilot of the luckless Chicago White Sox and number one cracker of baseball has been kicked around plenty this season but he won't change his mind about the American League race. "Before the season opened," said Jimmy as he pulled on one of his white stockings preparatory to donning his uniform, "I picked Detroit, Cleveland, New York and Boston to finish in that order. I've seen 'em all in action now but haven't seen anything to change my mind."

Foursome: Three of golf's most famous stars and one of golf's greatest writers—Bobby Jones, Horton Smith, Lawson Little and Granland Rice—started out for a game of golf today at Baltusrol, N. J., scene of the 1936 United States Open. "We three," said Bobby, "are going to play Horton. It's our best ball against his score and I wouldn't bet a dime on it either. He's too hot."

The ex-Joplin ghost, who leads in golf winnings this year with more than $7,000, said he won $15,000 in 1929-30. He also revealed that he had withdrawn his entry in the British open. "No, I'm not discouraged with my showing at Augusta," said Bobby. "I could get into good playing condition if I really wanted to. You know I never was any good in winter golf."

Dean's Hurling And Cards Hitting Trim Dodgers 12-0; Boston Downs Pirates 6-4

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) NEW YORK, May 1—Boston Bees opened their western invasion today at Pittsburgh by beating Buccaners 6-4, aided by a long home run by Gene Moore and seven innings of fine hurling by Wayne Osborne. Moore's first homer came in the third off Bill Smith's pitching and he drove the ball over the left field wall in the seventh.

First Start A Winning One Leo Grissom, lefthander making his first start for the Reds, pitched Cincinnati playing at home to a 4-3 victory over Philadelphia with the aid of some timely hitting. Grissom's performance of granting seven hits was matched by J. Bowman of the Phillies who was the victim of two costly bobbles in the eighth that set the stage for Tommy Thorenson, utility infielder, to score Grissom and Kiki Cuyler with a double.

"Gas House" Gang Beat Dodgers With Dizzy Dean pitching three-hit ball, St. Louis Cardinals went wild at St. Louis to beat Brooklyn Dodgers, 12-0 and take second place in the league. Dizzy let the Brooklyn have a hit in the first and then set them down in order until the sixth when he loosened up and let them have another. Meantime, the Cards were piling up a five run lead through the sixth. In the seventh, however, Frisch's team started hitting and scored seven runs.

Four base hits accounted for the Cards' runs in the first two innings. They got their seven runs in the seventh on five hits, doubles by Terry Moore and Charley Gelbert, and singles by Pepper Martin, Leo Durocher and Dizzy himself, and two errors.

FAVORITE IS THIRD IN CLASSIC

(C. P. Cable By Guardian's Special Wire) NEWMARKET, May 1—Carrying the colors of Lord Derby, Tide-way today won the One Thousand Guineas, classic one-mile race for three-year-old fillies. The handy victory automatically made the brown daughter of Fairway-Drift a favorite for the Oaks, second of the classics for fillies only, to be run over a 1 1/2-mile route at Epsom May 29.

His Majesty's filly Feola placed second, three lengths behind Tide-way. Owing to court mourning, however, Feola carried the colors of a member of Lord Derby's family. The Royal Stable is being operated by Lord Derby for the time being.

R. F. Watson's Ferrybridge was third, a neck back of Feola. Ferrybridge was the favorite at post-time, at 11 to 4. Tide-way was held at 100 to 30 and Feola at 28 to 1. Twenty horses ran.

Tide-way was among the leaders from the post and forged ahead before the half-way mark was reached to win easily in 1:41 4-5. It was the fifth time Lord Derby has won the One Thousand Guineas, which is worth approximately $10,000 to the winner. Tide-way is not listed as a starter in the Derby, at Epsom May 27.
