Sun Appears, And Ends Tedious Spell Of Damp

Is there, we wonder now, anything more satisfying on farms, than to see the sun once more break through the clouds, bringing an end to a tedious spell of damp? It is, we think, like glimpsing a smile, catch, and spread on the face of a child, forlorn because his mother has momentarily deserted him. Or one come to that of a grownup, after some sorrow of heart or bereavement has left one quite lost in a world no longer interesting and beautiful, when at length one realizes, that no matter how dim and dark the future may appear, the frame of life still goes on. We have, each one some mission to perform, its duties none other can do.

So the sun shone this afternoon, and the green of the meadows, and new leaves, were diamond-jewelled in its rays. And the red fields, more, or less deserted during the recent damp spell of weather, turned busy seasonal convention at Pot- and Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cooke and Mrs. Elmer Paynter, Kensington left on Thursday for Poland Springs, Maine, to attend a Lion's International Convention, after which they will visit friends and relatives at Boston, Mass., and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Murphy, Morell, will be at home to their friends and neighbours on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary on June 18 in the afternoon and evening.

"There were no twigs after all!" Alex reported at the door this evening, of an event in the stable. "There's only one—but his eyes widened. "It's big! And he grinned happily. "It's a girl!"

So today a heifer was added to the little registered herd, it pleases our farmers to develop. And with only odd stalls extended, the stables are empty. We come with Alex to visit them. And in the quiet, where perhaps cats lounge or a little hen scratches for lost grains in a manger, he will take down the tying-chains from their nails, to catch the tinkling of the stable again—when cows munch on hay or meal, lowering, lifting heads, and there was a continual music along the rows.
