

Scraps.

The secrets of life are not shown except to sympathy and likeness.—Montaigne.

Courage is, on all hands, considered as an essential of high character.—Fraude.

The flatterer has not an opinion good enough either of himself or others.—De La Bunyere.

Most of our misfortunes are more supportable than the comments of our friends upon them.—C. C. Colton.

A hypocrite is in himself both the archer and the mark, in all actions shooting at his own praise or profit.—Fuller.

There ought to be a system of manners in every nation which a well formed mind would be disposed to relish. To make us love our country, our country ought to be lovely.—Burke.

Show me the man you honor. I know by that symptom, better than any other, what you are yourself. For you show me then what your ideal of manhood is, what kind of a man you long inexpressively to be.—Carlyle.

You've got to save your own soul first, and then the souls of your neighbors, if they will let you; and for that reason you must cultivate not a spirit of criticism, but the talents that attract people to the hearing of the word.—George MacDonald.

Doubtless the human face is the grandest of all mysteries; yet fixed on canvas it can hardly tell of more than one sensation; no struggle, no successive contrasts accessible to dramatic art, can painting give, as neither time nor motion exists for her.—Madame de Staël.

Fruit Tree Culture.

1. Instead of "trimming up" trees, according to the old fashion, to make them long-legged and long-armed, trim them down, so as to make them even, snug, and symmetrical.

2. Instead of manuring heavily in a small circle at the foot of the tree, spread the manure, if needed at all, broadcast over the whole surface, especially where the end of the roots can get it.

3. Instead of spading a small circle about the stem, cultivate the whole surface broadcast.

4. Prefer a well pulverized, clean surface, in an orchard with moderately rich soil, to heavy manuring, and a surface covered with a hard crust and weeds and grass.

5. Remember that it is better to set out ten trees with all the necessary care to make them live and flourish, than to set out a hundred trees, and have them all die from carelessness.

6. Remember that tobacco is a poison, and will kill insects rapidly, if properly applied to them, and is one of the best drugs for freeing fruit trees rapidly of small vermin—and is better used in this way than to make men repulsive and diseased.

Insects seem to be ravaging the crops of New Brunswick. Hon. W. E. Perley describes the terrible work of insects in Sunbury County, N. B. Much of the standing hay at Mangerville and Sheffield, especially on the intervals, has been utterly ruined by the army worm. One hundred tons of hay belonging to Lieutenant Governor Wilmot, at Belmont, is destroyed, and Mr. Geo. Perley, of Mangerville, will lose fifty tons of hay which a fortnight ago was in prime condition. Other farmers lose more or less. The potato bug is also doing some damage, and the efforts of the farmers to resist their advances have had little effect. They are far more numerous than ever before, and had they commenced operations early this season, would entirely destroy the potato crop along the river counties. From various sections of Sunbury County reports arrive, that the Hessian fly is holding high carnival among the oats. Drought is also burning up the crops at Upper Gagetown and back of Lakeville.

The entire product of the Yarmouth Woollen Mills for the current year has been contracted for, and the capacity of those mills, ere long, be doubled to meet the demands for their excellent goods that are everywhere coming into use. A Montreal house has given to this manufactory a permanent order that for years to come will also consume more than half of its entire production and in Montreal alone the Yarmouth Woollen Mills can find a market for all the cloth they may choose to make. The impetus thus given to Yarmouth enterprise, will, it is thought, result in the immediate construction of a Cotton Manufactory in that town, a large proportion of the stock for which has already been subscribed.—Exchange.
