THE VACANT JUDGESHIP.

"It's an ill wind that blows nobody good." So we see as one result of the loss and sorrow of this week a prize for some member of the legal fraternity in the Liberal party, viz a County Judgeship. Speculation has lately been rife as to who the lucky one will be. The names of Hon. A. B. Warburton, D. C. L., Premier of the Province, Mr. H. James Palmer, Hon. Hector Macdonald, B. A., Attorney General, and Mr. Blanchard are freely canvassed; and some persons say that Mr. J. H. Reddin may be appointed by the Liberal Government as an off-set to the appointment of his deceased uncle by a Conservative Government. But Mr. Reddin has not yet served long in the Liberal party, and he "hasn't got the pull,"—so he may be considered out of the game. Of the others the Hon. A. B. Warburton and the Hon. Hector Macdonald hold trump cards; for they are in the provincial Government. But the question arises, can either of these gentlemen be spared from the administration of Provincial affairs? As to this question, it matters little who is in the Government so long as it remains with the Liberals. The Province has been run into a rut, out of which—as has been demonstrated over and over again—the balky, and unsteady, and useless Liberal team will never move it. It is, indeed, month by month, and year by year, sinking deeper and deeper into the slough of debt, discredit and disorder. Not until a strong, and capable, and Conservative administration has been given control of the Province with large powers of retrenchment and reform, as well as of taxation, will the Provincial carriage be brought again to solid ground. It matters not who may compose the Liberal team; for the Province cannot go ahead under existing conditions,—it is stuck in the mud. Therefore the appointment of Mr. Warburton or Mr. Macdonald to a judgeship is of no consequence, in so far as the Province is concerned; and, consequently Messrs. Blanchard and Palmer will have to count upon their competition for the vacant position. To make selection between these four for the purpose of indicating who is the best fitted for the responsible office of Judge, is an invidious task which belongs to Sir Louis Davies and the Minister of Justice. We only hope that the choice will be carefully and wisely made.

PRINCIPAL GRANT'S ARGUMENT.

In the General Assembly, a few days ago, the Very Rev. Dr. Grant contended—in opposition to the supposition of many persons—that "the church could not afford to interfere in the high region of citizenship; its duty was to cultivate the high moral conceptions of the people and not to employ a method of coercion. The prohibition question was a political one. It was now a fast ball between the two parties, and the church could not afford to make a tool of itself. Each party was afraid to touch the question, and the church should be very careful also. There were public questions upon which the church should speak. For instance, the church should always speak against the sin of intemperance, and there were many other sins against which the voice of the church was not as strong as it should be. In the last Ontario Provincial election there had actually been seventy protests entered for corruption and bribery. Why did not the church take part in the condemnation of this evil? If a man was guilty of the sin of drunkenness there was hope for him, but the man who had bought his fellow-man had made him a traitor. I ask the question, said Principal Grant, does conscience affirm prohibition? and I answer decidedly no. There is not a country in the world which affirms it. Does conscience speak in Canada against it? I answer, no. Does it in this church? How can a man ask such a question?"

The argument of the duty of self-sacrifice was frequently used by prohibitionists. This was not a question of self-sacrifice, as was urged, but of coercion. When a matter became a question of coercion it was instantly removed from one of self-sacrifice. For his part, if he could not have a man's conscience he did not want him at all.

This is the gist of the learned doctor's argument before the General Assembly.

AN ENGLISH OPINION

New York, June 16—A despatch to the World from London says: Neither Russia nor France—and still less England—would tolerate any attempt to turn America's gallant overthrow of the Spanish fleet and virtual capture of Manila to Germany's special advantage.

International jealousies guarantee that America will not be troubled by any interference in the Philippines. This is the opinion in high political quarters here, where the fulminations of the Berlin's chauvinist press are treated as of no account.
