

AT THE THIRD Biennial convention of King's Daughters of Prince Edward Island left to right front row are: Mrs. W.J. Davis, Saint John, N.B.; Mrs. Graham Bruce, past national president, Vancouver; Mrs. Ira Brown, president of the P.E.I. Branch; Mrs. G.C. Poole, president national branch; Mrs. Lester Albright, Ottawa. Back row, left to right, Miss Ethel Sutherland, Mrs. G.D. Steel, Mrs. L.H. Simmons, past president; Mrs. Stanley Thompson, Mrs. A. Bagnall, Mrs. Hiram Howatt, Mrs. J.F. Moore, Mrs. John Brown, Ottawa, president for Ontario Branch.

No Blame On Driver In Death

"That Stephanie Ann MacDonald came to her death at the Souris Hospital on September 29th, 1957, at approximately 12 noon as a result of injuries received previously on the same date by being struck by a half ton Dodge 1952 truck under the care and control of John Francis McInyre at Fairfield, in Kings County, on the highway in front of St. Colombo Church; From the evidence presented, we the jury in our own minds, are satisfied that John Francis McInyre did all in his power to avoid said accident, and we the jury do recommend that parking on the highway in front of churches be restricted," this was the verdict of the jury after hearing nine witnesses at the coroner's inquest held last night at Souris before the Coroner Dr. G.S. A. Inman.

Members of the Jury were: J. Innis (foreman), Keith MacKenzie, Sterling Gillespie, Wally MacKenzie, Roderick Chaisson and Bruce L. Stewart. Ian M. MacLeod Crown prosecutor for Kings represented the Crown.

Anniversary Of Hungarian Revolt

BUDAPEST (Reuters)—Armed Communist militia and government police stood by Tuesday night in an atmosphere of growing tension on the eve of the first anniversary today of the revolution that shattered Hungary, shook the Communist bloc and shocked the world.

Communist officials introduced elaborate measures to prevent unauthorized persons having access to vehicles, typewriters and duplicating machines, in case someone tries to circulate a new call to arms.

National flags—the red, white and green banner without the Communist insignia in the centre—were locked up.

Back flags and clothes of mourning vanished from stores in what appeared to observers as a move to prevent Hungarians from even a silent commemoration of the bloody revolution, crushed by Soviet troops and tanks.

Caretakers of apartment buildings have orders to report any meetings held in buildings which are under their supervision.

Most Hungarians seemed outwardly undisturbed by this activity. Nor were they perturbed by repeated warnings by Communist leaders that they will crush without mercy any attempt to mark the anniversary.

King's Daughters Hold 3rd Biennial Convention Here

The third biennial convention of the Prince Edward Island branch of the International Order of the King's Daughters and Sons met in Hearts Hall at Trinity Church yesterday morning.

The convention was declared open by the P.E.I. branch president, Mrs. L.H. Simmons. The following distinguished guests were introduced: Mrs. Graham Bruce, immediate past Dominion president; Mrs. G.C. Poole, Dominion president; Mrs. W. Davis, president New Brunswick Branch; Mrs. J. Brown, president Ontario branch; Mrs. Lester Albright, guest from Ottawa.

The devotions were led by Mrs. B.C. Keeping. Reports of Branch officers and Circles were read and accepted.

Letters of greeting were read from a number of international and national officers from various parts of Canada and the United States.

At the election of officers held in the afternoon, Mrs. Ira Brown of Charlottetown was named president. Other officers for the next two years are: past president, Mrs. L.H. Simmons; 1st vice president, Mrs. S. C. Thompson; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Sinclair Cutcliffe; 3rd vice president, Mrs. A.B. Bagnall; secretary, Ethel Sutherland; treasurer, Mrs. Hiram Howatt; chairman, Silver Cross magazine, Mrs. J.F. Moore; historian, Mrs. G.D. Steel; executive committee, Mrs. E.S. Coffin, Mrs. J.M. Burgess, Mrs. F.G. Osborne.

Following the business meeting games were enjoyed in the lower hall, with Miss Anna MacMillan the leader.

The devotional period, which opened the meeting, was led by Anne MacEachern and Louise Cummings. The scripture lesson was Cor. 4: 1, 10, and the theme, "In quest of the highest."

Other officers elected included: vice-president, Arline Larter; secretary, Corina Steele; treasurer, Adele Jardine, convener of worship, Judy Miller; convener of program, Florence Montgomery; convener of socials, Fay Hickox; convener of games, Edgard Ellis; convener of membership, Anna MacMillan; pianist, Fay Hickox; assistant, Sandra Sutherland.

Following the business meeting games were enjoyed in the lower hall, with Miss Anna MacMillan the leader.

The devotional period, which opened the meeting, was led by Anne MacEachern and Louise Cummings. The scripture lesson was Cor. 4: 1, 10, and the theme, "In quest of the highest."

Other officers elected included: vice-president, Arline Larter; secretary, Corina Steele; treasurer, Adele Jardine, convener of worship, Judy Miller; convener of program, Florence Montgomery; convener of socials, Fay Hickox; convener of games, Edgard Ellis; convener of membership, Anna MacMillan; pianist, Fay Hickox; assistant, Sandra Sutherland.

Following the business meeting games were enjoyed in the lower hall, with Miss Anna MacMillan the leader.

The devotional period, which opened the meeting, was led by Anne MacEachern and Louise Cummings. The scripture lesson was Cor. 4: 1, 10, and the theme, "In quest of the highest."

Other officers elected included: vice-president, Arline Larter; secretary, Corina Steele; treasurer, Adele Jardine, convener of worship, Judy Miller; convener of program, Florence Montgomery; convener of socials, Fay Hickox; convener of games, Edgard Ellis; convener of membership, Anna MacMillan; pianist, Fay Hickox; assistant, Sandra Sutherland.

Following the business meeting games were enjoyed in the lower hall, with Miss Anna MacMillan the leader.

The devotional period, which opened the meeting, was led by Anne MacEachern and Louise Cummings. The scripture lesson was Cor. 4: 1, 10, and the theme, "In quest of the highest."

Other officers elected included: vice-president, Arline Larter; secretary, Corina Steele; treasurer, Adele Jardine, convener of worship, Judy Miller; convener of program, Florence Montgomery; convener of socials, Fay Hickox; convener of games, Edgard Ellis; convener of membership, Anna MacMillan; pianist, Fay Hickox; assistant, Sandra Sutherland.

Following the business meeting games were enjoyed in the lower hall, with Miss Anna MacMillan the leader.

The devotional period, which opened the meeting, was led by Anne MacEachern and Louise Cummings. The scripture lesson was Cor. 4: 1, 10, and the theme, "In quest of the highest."

Other officers elected included: vice-president, Arline Larter; secretary, Corina Steele; treasurer, Adele Jardine, convener of worship, Judy Miller; convener of program, Florence Montgomery; convener of socials, Fay Hickox; convener of games, Edgard Ellis; convener of membership, Anna MacMillan; pianist, Fay Hickox; assistant, Sandra Sutherland.

Plan December Series Of Blood Donor Clinics

Plans for the next series of Red Cross blood donor clinics to be held during the week of December 2nd were made last night at an initial meeting of the Charlottetown Red Cross blood donor committee presided over by Mr. A. Fremont Archer, chairman. It was decided to hold a general meeting of this committee at Red Cross headquarters next Wednesday evening, October 30th. Members of this nucleus committee will be contacting representatives of the different organizations within the next few days to notify them of the forthcoming meeting, and they in turn will contact those who signed up as "Life Savers" last spring in preparation for a record attendance at the Charlottetown clinics to be held at The and 5th.

The schedule for the week of December 2nd will also include clinics to be held at the R.C.A.P. Station, Summerside, at North Rustico and Crapaud.

Mr. Walter R. Shaw, president chaired the October meeting of the Provincial Council of the Red Cross headquarters, at which tenders for repairs to the outside of the headquarters' building were received. Budget requirements for 1958 amounting to $45,573, were approved and included a sufficient sum for the cost of building repairs as well as other amounts necessary to cover the costs of expanding services.

Plans were made to hold a meeting of the Provincial Council on November 13th., and for an annual meeting on February 17th. when Mr. George Aitken, of Winnipeg, chairman of the Central Council, Canadian Red Cross Society, will be in attendance as the special speaker.

A committee was appointed to procure a Provincial chairman for the 1958 Campaign.

Members of the Kingston Branch, Canadian Legion along with the school children of the district paraded to the cenotaph and the Legion placed a wreath and the children placed bouquets of flowers. The Women's Institute of Clyde River also placed a wreath.

Present for the occasion was President of the Provincial Command, Canadian Legion, A. C. MacEachern, M.C.

Speakers for the occasion were Rev. Fr. C.J. McCarthy, Lot 65 and Rev. Owen Cochran, North River. Both spoke feelingly of the sacrifices made by the men in the service and reminded those present to not soon forget these sacrifices.

Piper Wilfred Burke led the parade and played the lament. There was a good turnout of veterans for the occasion.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS TUESDAY

The government gave notice of plans to increase old age pension and aid to the needy aged, blind and disabled by $8 monthly to $55.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced Canada will contribute $35,000,000 to the Colombo Plan in 1958—about $600,000 more than this year.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he will discuss pooling of the West's scientific knowledge with British Prime Minister Macmillan.

Re. Hon. James G. Gardiner (L—Melville) accused the CCF and Social Credit of putting party ahead of country in moving non-confidence motions.

J. C. Van Horne (PC—Restigouche—Madawaska) urged old age pensions of $80 monthly for everyone at 65.

The Senate gave approval in principle to the government's request for a month's supply of money to carry on its operations.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS TUESDAY

The Commons meets at 2:30 p.m. EDT to continue the three speech debate. The Senate sits at 3 p.m.

Strong Indication No Budget Planned For This Session

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Fleming Tuesday parried opposition questions as to whether he plans to introduce a budget during the current session of Parliament. His replies left the Commons with a strong indication that he does not.

He said only that the government will do "whatever is required to give effect to its decisions in accordance with the rules of Parliament" and that resolutions will be introduced to implement the government's promises.

There has been wide speculation that instead of presenting a formal budget this session, the government will present any tax changes as amendments to specific taxing laws under last spring's Liberal budget.

Hon. James Sinclair (L—Coast Capilano) said Mr. Fleming had made a "solemn promise in July" that there would be a budget.

Mr. Fleming said he made no "solemn promise in July" but all promises given during the campaign for the June 10 election would be fulfilled to the letter.

At another point he said that resolutions will be introduced to implement the government's promises.

There has been wide speculation that instead of presenting a formal budget this session, the government will present any tax changes as amendments to specific taxing laws under last spring's Liberal budget.

Hon. James Sinclair (L—Coast Capilano) said Mr. Fleming had made a "solemn promise in July" that there would be a budget.

Mr. Fleming said he made no "solemn promise in July" but all promises given during the campaign for the June 10 election would be fulfilled to the letter.

At another point he said that resolutions will be introduced to implement the government's promises.

There has been wide speculation that instead of presenting a formal budget this session, the government will present any tax changes as amendments to specific taxing laws under last spring's Liberal budget.

Hon. James Sinclair (L—Coast Capilano) said Mr. Fleming had made a "solemn promise in July" that there would be a budget.

Mr. Fleming said he made no "solemn promise in July" but all promises given during the campaign for the June 10 election would be fulfilled to the letter.

At another point he said that resolutions will be introduced to implement the government's promises.

There has been wide speculation that instead of presenting a formal budget this session, the government will present any tax changes as amendments to specific taxing laws under last spring's Liberal budget.

Hon. James Sinclair (L—Coast Capilano) said Mr. Fleming had made a "solemn promise in July" that there would be a budget.

Mr. Fleming said he made no "solemn promise in July" but all promises given during the campaign for the June 10 election would be fulfilled to the letter.

At another point he said that resolutions will be introduced to implement the government's promises.

There has been wide speculation that instead of presenting a formal budget this session, the government will present any tax changes as amendments to specific taxing laws under last spring's Liberal budget.

Hon. James Sinclair (L—Coast Capilano) said Mr. Fleming had made a "solemn promise in July" that there would be a budget.

Mr. Fleming said he made no "solemn promise in July" but all promises given during the campaign for the June 10 election would be fulfilled to the letter.

At another point he said that resolutions will be introduced to implement the government's promises.

There has been wide speculation that instead of presenting a formal budget this session, the government will present any tax changes as amendments to specific taxing laws under last spring's Liberal budget.

P. E. I. FIGURES GIVEN

Larger Farms, Net Income Noted In Federal Report

OTTAWA (Special)—Net income of Prince Edward Island farms between 1951 and 1955 averaged $1,500 per farm and represented a 340.5 percent increase over 1935-39. The size of P.E.I. farms has been progressively increasing through the years, with the result that the number of farms in operation has been declining. In 1911 there were 14,163 farms; in 1941 the number had dropped to 12,230 and in 1951 to 10,137.

These interesting facts were disclosed Tuesday in a supplementary report of the Royal Commission on Canada's economic prospects. The report "Progress and Prospects of Canadian Agriculture," was prepared by Dr. W.M. Drummond, of the Ontario Agricultural College, and William MacKenzie of the University of Alberta.

In connection with the growing number of larger farms the report points out that most of them consist of between 51 and 100 acres. There has been a steady increase in farms of 200 acres or more.

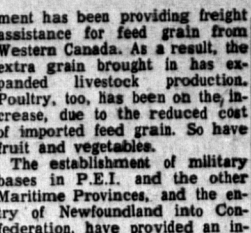

While fixed farming continues to hold sway in P.E.I., several developments in recent years have altered the situation to some extent, the report said. Since 1941 the Federal Government has been providing freight assistance for feed grain from Western Canada. As a result, the extra grain brought in has expanded livestock production. Poultry, too, has been on the increase, due to the reduced cost of imported feed grain. So have fruit and vegetables.

The establishment of military farms in P.E.I. and the other Maritime Provinces, and the entry of Newfoundland into Confederation, have provided an increased demand for P.E.I. agricultural products. Livestock, which showed a sharp decline for several decades, is now on the increase in P.E.I.

A typical example is sheep. Between 1950 and 1955, the sheep population increased by 26 percent, from 34,366 in 1951 to more than 40,000 in 1955. Cattle, too, have been climbing. Mechanization of farms has been showing a steady progress.

In a 20-year period from 1931 to 1951 the number of tractors increased from 176 to 2,776. Milk machines, electric motors and grain combines are now fairly prevalent throughout P.E.I.

Fur farming is still carried on in certain parts of P.E.I. in a slow way, but not to the extent of seven, ten or fifteen years ago.

Mr. W.E. Bentley, Q.C. is observing his 85th birthday anniversary today. It is sixty-five years this month since he started to study law. He was called to the bar in 1897 and in 1900 became associated with what has been known ever since as the firm of MacLeod and Bentley. Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

85 TODAY

Mr. W.E. Bentley, Q.C. is observing his 85th birthday anniversary today. It is sixty-five years this month since he started to study law. He was called to the bar in 1897 and in 1900 became associated with what has been known ever since as the firm of MacLeod and Bentley. Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bentley noted yesterday that two men served as secretary-treasurer of the Prince Edward Island Law Society for the first seventy-five years of its existence—F.L. Hazard, later Judge Hazard, was secretary-treasurer for the first thirty-five years and Mr. Bentley, who succeeded him, filled the office for forty years.

It was in 1933 that the Society presented Mr. Bentley with a gold watch in appreciation of twenty-five years of service. He was in the office fifteen years more before resigning the position. Mr. Bentley is in excellent health and it was business as usual for him when a Guardian representative called to say hello yesterday afternoon.

WEATHER

Table with weather data for Toronto (CP) and Halifax (CP), including observed temperatures, min/max, and forecasts.

Page 2 The Guardian

mark the arrival of very cold air that has brought wintry weather to the Prairies and Northern Ontario. Forecast: Prince Edward Island and northern Nova Scotia: Clear with a few cloudy intervals; warmer; southwest winds 15. Low-high at Charlottetown 49 and 59, New Glasgow 35 and 60. Eastern N.B. counties, lower St. John River valley clear with a few cloudy intervals becoming cloudy in the evening; warmer; High tide today at Charlottetown at 10:40 a.m. and 10:57 p.m. At Rustico at 6:11 a.m. and 5:41 p.m. Summerside tide eight-eleven minutes later than Charlottetown. Sun rises today at 6:38 a.m. and sets at 5:15 p.m.