Reprisal Prospects Worry Quebec Judge

HAMILTON (CP)—A Quebec Supreme Court judge said here he feared a speech to the men's Canadian Club of Hamilton could lead to an attempt on his life when he returns to Montreal.

Mr. Justice Roger Ouimet said in an interview that anti-separatist comments contained in his luncheon speech could lead to terrorist reprisals against him.

"I am worried that publicity in Quebec newspaper reporting the speech could lead to a bomb or dynamite attack," he said.

"I shall be careful how I look my car when I get back for fear of it being tampered with. After all, they set Balcer's car on fire. Anyone who opposes separatism runs a risk."

His speech — titled "Canada 1964: Harmony or Chaos?" - castigated the separatists while calling for decisive action on the federal and provincial level to solve Quebec's problems.

Mr. Justice Ouimet said he fears the separatist movement will become worse and there will be more bombings and deaths.

"I hope there will not be civil war," he said, "but we have to admit it is possible."

He said many of the revolutionary leaders now are in jail but they are keeping in touch, and the movement, especially among young people, is growing.

Many people criticized the presence of 5,000 troops and police in Quebec when the queen visited the city earlier this month.

"If it hadn't been for that invasion there might have been some crazy fool who might have attempted another Dallas," said the judge. "That's the mood of these people. It's unbelievable what's going on in the minds of young people in Quebec today."

Mr. Justice Ouimet said in the interview he believes many leading citizens of Quebec are giving financial support to the separatist movement.

"It's an emotional support from the older people," he explained, "But I can only see it leading to violence and serious trouble for Quebec. I don't think some of them realize what they are contributing towards."

Bilingualism Is Supported For The Army

HALIFAX (CP) — Maj.-Gen. G.A. Turcot, newly-appointed commanding officer of the Eastern Command, said here he is all for bilingualism in the army.

He told a press conference any French - speaking soldier who wishes to join an English-speaking unit is given the opportunity to learn the language. He said the same applies for an English-speaking soldier who wants to transfer to a French unit.

Gen. Turcot, 46, a native of Quebec City, commanded the Royal 22nd Regiment (Van Doo) during the Second World War and later had charge of administration of the Quebec Command. He was director-general of military training for the army before his new appointment.

Gen. Turcot, who arrived here this week from Ottawa, succeeds Maj.-Gen. R. W. Moncel, who has been appointed to a senior position in the integrated Canadian forces head quarters in Ottawa. His command includes the four Atlantic Provinces

Customers No Worry For Power

MONTREAL (CP) — With no lack of customers for power developed by Hamilton Falls, the only problem is to get it to them, Robert Winters, chairman of the British Newfoundland Corporation, said here today.

The corporation, better known as Brinco, has development rights to the falls, located in Labrador.

The province of Quebec and New York are the most logical large markets for Hamilton Falls power, he told the Montreal branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada.

But talks with Quebec officials were broken off last July by Premier Lesage. It is believed the nub of the issue is the price at which Quebec would buy power developed by the falls.

Mr. Winters said Wednesday that the price offered has "economic advantages" to Quebec and New York.

"But with demands everywhere being so great, there is no lack of consumers for power at the price Brinco is able to offer. Markets therefore present no great problem. The only real problem is to get the power to the most appropriate markets."

EARLIER AGREEMENT

Before talks were broken off, it had been agreed that Quebec would purchase Hamilton Falls power at the Quebec-Labrador boundary and feed it into the province's power grid.

At the other end, the excess would be sold to Consolidated Edison of New York.

Now, Premier Smallwood has a firm of British engineers studying the possibility of transmitting power from the site by undersea cable across the Belle Isle and Cabot Straits.

Mr. Winters said the prospect of supplying power to the Maritimes, where it is in short supply and high in cost, "is most challenging indeed."

The power site could generate up to 34,000,000,000 kilowatt hours per year, he said, just under the amount of electricity consumed by the entire province of Ontario in 1963.

The text of his remarks was released to the press before delivery.

Canadian Exports Increase Faster Than Do Imports

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian exports continued to rise faster than imports in both July and the first seven months of 1963 the bureau of statistics said here.

Imports in July rose 9.3 per cent in value to $639,800,000 from $585,200,000 in the same month last year. However, exports were up by 29.8 per cent, at $788,300,000 compared with $607,400,000 a year previous.

This resulted in a surplus of $148,400,000 in world-wide trade in July, up sharply from the $22,200,000 surplus in the same month last year.

Value of imports in the first seven months of the year rose by 17.8 per cent to $4,345,900,000 from $3,686,000,000 in the 1963 January-July period. But the seven-month total for exports was up 23 per cent at $4,723,300,000 from $3,840,500,000

Result was a surplus of $377,400,000 in trade in the first seven months of the year, compared with one of $144,600,000 in the same 1963 period.

Canada's trade deficit with the United States continued to rise in July and in the seven-month period. Seven-month imports from the U.S. advanced 17.9 per cent to $3,040,100,000, outstripping a gain of 10.6 per cent in Canadian exports to the U.S. totalling $2,475,600,000

Canada's trade surplus with Britain rose to $347,100,000 from $279,000,000 in the seven months.

Saturday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X B
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Opening lead—ace of spades

This hand was played in the World Bridge Olympics in 1961. Par on the deal was for North-South to six clubs and go down one against the opening lead of the ace of spades.

As usual, points were awarded to each side for both the bidding and the play. East-West were required, if necessary, to bid up to five spades (which could be made), and either North or South was then expected to go on to six clubs.

If West, after taking the ace of spades, continued with a spade or shifted to the king of hearts, South was then supposed to make twelve tricks by cashing the ace of diamonds and establishing dummy's diamonds, being careful to trump high each time he ruffed. This would permit him to discard the J-10-9 of hearts on the established diamonds.

However, the chief point of the hand was West's play at trick two. His proper lead after cashing the ace of spades was a trump.

This play, from West's viewpoint, was bound to defeat the contract regardless of what distribution South might have. The trump lead would have the effect of pulling the rug from under declarer's feet, since he would wind up one entry short of being able to establish the diamonds and also cash them.

In fact, against a club lead at trick two. His proper lead after play well to avoid going down two.

West can tell after trick one, especially if East drops the queen on the opening lead, that declarer started with one spade and at most seven clubs.

It is not difficult for West then to deduce that South must have at least five red cards and that a trump play is certain to defeat the contract. The defensive problem was not really difficult, though it did turn out that many Wests missed their cue.
