

The Daily Examiner

MAY 11, 1885.

Editorial Notes.

—A small force of Russians still occupies Penjdeh.

General Lumsden is expected to arrive in London the first week of June.

—Stockraising is suggested as the best employment of Indians deprived of their buffalo.

—Sir Arthur Sullivan, the composer, will start in June on a tour through the United States to California.

—Only think of it—there were two hundred and seven divorce cases in the May term docket in Boston.

—A movement is on foot in London to secure the freedom of the City of London for Lord Rauldolph Churchill.

—The proposed visit of the Prince of Wales to the Vatican is the occasion of much speculation and talk in Rome.

—A harpoon of the pattern made over forty years ago was taken from a whale caught near Coos Bay, Oregon, recently.

—The telegrams anticipate the probability of an early defeat in the House of Commons of the Gladstone Administration.

—For some time past "assisted passages" to Canada have only been given to agriculturists and to domestic servants.

—Archibald Forbes has written what he calls a character sketch of Gen. Wolseley, including a description of the band of disciples in the British army known as the "Wolseley gang."

—John Wiggins and Robt. Franks, Deputy Returning Officer and Poll Clerk at the last municipal elections in Toronto were on the 4th inst. sentenced to three months' confinement in the central prison for ballot-box stuffing.

—The Suez Canal is very largely used by English merchantmen. It is said that 90 per cent. of the enormous trade between England and British India passes through the canal. Two-thirds of the business done through the canal is of the Anglo-Indian origin.

—The balloon is said to be the most destructive implement of war known to modern science. General Thayer claims that he can lay a city in ashes with it in a night. Tons of dynamite percussion bombs may be carried into the clouds and dropped while the balloon sails over a camp or fortification or fleet of ships.

—The threatened strike of the Grand Trunk Railway workmen has resulted in a complete collapse of the movement. The leaders made two efforts to bring the men into harmony with their views, but good sense prevailed, and the army of employes have returned to their work.

—The New York Herald reports: "Captain Paul Boyton fastened an empty torpedo on the British man-of-war Garnet (lying in New York Harbor) at two o'clock yesterday morning as an experiment. A steam launch, manned by armed blue jackets, captured the Captain and a boat load of reporters, but released them. The British Consul General will not ask the United States to explain the matter."

—Dr. W. O. Ayres, of New Haven, Connecticut, has invented a machine for aerial navigation. The motive power is to be compressed air, which is intended to be condensed within two drums the air also fills a tubular framing of the machine. The air will be condensed under a pressure of say three thousand pounds to the square inch. The drums and tubes are expected to hold air enough to drive the engines and attached propellers for several hours.

—The Princess Louise, in addition to the gift of five hundred pounds of tobacco and pipes for the volunteers at the Northwest, cabled to the Dominion Government the following message:—

"If acceptable I propose to send ambulance appliances and a few men." Mr. Caron replied to the kindly message in these terms:—"The kind offer is gratefully accepted. Canada receives the gift at the hands of the Princess whose good wishes and kindness are so fondly remembered among us."

It is pleasant to know that Her Royal Highness has, in nowise, lost her interest in Canada and our people.

—The Minister of Inland Revenue having found the law respecting canned goods which he introduced last session impracticable in its working, has given notice that on Wednesday he will move that it is expedient to amend the act as follows: That the name and address of the packer shall be stamped on each can; that distinctive marks be applied to goods produced from dried articles and put up in cans; that weights, if marked on such cans, shall be correctly marked; that standard sizes of cans may be prescribed, and that no incorrect date shall be stamped on any can—such provisions not to apply to foreign canned goods of a description not put up in Canada and which are exempted by the Governor-in-Council.

CHARLOTTETOWN DIVISION S. of T. will meet in their room, Quirk's building, this evening at 8 o'clock. A full attendance of members is requested. Read advertisement of public meeting to-morrow.

The room paper at the Diamond Bookstore is unquestionably the best and cheapest in the city.

THE RIEL REBELLION

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

A SCOUT CAPTURED.

A scout named Ross, with three others, returned to Battleford on the 8th inst., from 30 miles up the river. When opposite Poundmaker's reserve they were seen by Indians from Poundmaker's camp. Thirty half-breeds and Indians started in pursuit and swam their horses across Battle River. The scouts discovered the enemy and retreated at full speed, the Indians firing from their horses. After going half a mile Baptiste La Fontaine, one of our scouts, was wounded and fell from his horse. He called his companions back, but they dared not return. When last seen he had his rifle in his hand, as though determined to die fighting. The moment he fell some Indians surrounded him, giving up the pursuit to others.

A GENERAL INDIAN RISING.

The Mail's correspondent writes from Middleton's camp on the 8th inst. as follows: "It is evident from what we hear that the most serious part of the campaign has yet to come. The arrival of Col. Otter at Battleford has, of course, relieved the anxiety of the garrison there. But Poundmaker and Big Bear are not a bit frightened. On the contrary, a general Indian uprising is going on west of Battleford and north of the North Saskatchewan as far as Lac LaBiche. We have no means of knowing how things go at Edmonton, but Battleford advises say General Strange will have his hands full. Big Bear is the moving spirit, with Poundmaker a very able lieutenant in devilry. Hudson Bay officers say nothing can now keep the northern Indians quiet. The government some weeks ago interdicted the sale of cartridges to Indians and since the troubles began it has been impossible for agents to get food supplies in. With nothing to eat and no means of getting it even the Indians who were inclined to be loyal, are mutinous and bent on joining Big Bear, who is living like a lord on stolen cattle and canned goods. I have it from good authority that Catholic missionaries in the region fully expect a war that will throw our operations here into the shade. What about the Blackfeet? If at our next meeting with him we can give Dumont a thorough smashing, the Indians to the west may be cowed. Unfortunately the government forces have not up to the present had a fair chance at the rebels. At Duck Lake the police and volunteers had to retreat after fighting bravely, leaving their dead. At Port Pitt Inspector Dickens had to retreat before overwhelming numbers. At Fish Creek we did not retreat, but we did not advance. Under these circumstances Riel and Dumont are, from their point of view, justified in proclaiming that they are a match for us, and this is enough for the Indians to side with the half-breeds to turn the scale, as he supposes. I don't see now, even with the best of luck, the campaign can be finished this summer. A despatch from Clarke's Crossing states Middleton advanced on the 7th to Gabriel's Crossing, and a decisive battle is expected. Mounted police under Col. Irvine and Major Crozier are expected to co-operate on the north side from Prince Albert, and the steamer Northcoote will also assist as a gun boat by water.

OTTER'S FIGHT.

Col. Otter has not yet decided his plans for the future. The attack on Poundmaker must be renewed, but cannot be without reinforcements. The scouts sent out to reconnoitre the Indian position returned to-day and reported them to be still at Cut Knife Hill, where Saturday's battle occurred. It is believed that their loss in the action was heavy. It is not known whether Big Bear is with Poundmaker or not. They are in comfortable quarters with the best attendance. Private Lloyd was wounded in the back while assisting Private Atchison in an heroic rescue of one of the dead from falling into the hands of the enemy. Three of the other wounded men, Cooper, Varney and Watts, were shot in a gallant charge upon the enemy, led by Lieut. Brock. Watts is wounded in the scalp, but it is not severe. Cooper got a deep flesh wound in the hip; he is doing well. Varney is slightly wounded in the right shoulder. Skeerman's wound is in the fleshy part of the upper arm. Winters has a bullet through the cheek and under the nose. McQuillen is rather deeply wounded in the left side, below the ribs. Gilbert was shot in the back part of the neck, no bones touched. Ward, whose lower abdomen was pierced, is getting on well. Gefney is wounded in the fleshy part of the arm. Morton has a slight wound in the thigh. Gunner Reynolds was shot through the shoulder and the bone is shattered. Lieut. Pelletier was wounded in the fleshy part of the thigh. It is reported to-night that a letter was received in camp from a priest at Poundmaker's stating that the Indians loss was 125. Two seven pounders became disabled by a track breaking down during the engagement and to this Col. Otter's withdrawal is attributed before the enemy was almost completely silenced. The return was made in perfect order, and was covered by a perfect piece of generalship. The men had no sleep the night before and to-morrow. Several of the men fell asleep while lying in the skirmishing line, where the enemy had been silenced for some time. The sun was very hot and no water could be got. The Indians have received severe punishment and will get more of it. Reinforcements are now on the way up from Swift Current.

Mr. W. H. OLIVE, who has had an extensive business connexion in the Maritime Provinces for a number of years, has been appointed General Eastern Agent of the Waterous Engine Works Company, with headquarters at Montreal. Mr. Olive has left for his new home. His head office will be at No. 154, St. James Street, Montreal, where letters should be addressed. Mr. I. Chipman Olive, No. 169 Prince William Street, will act as local agent. Although Mr. Olive has practically moved his residence from St. John he will likely be a frequent visitor, and is always sure of a warm welcome from his old friends.—St. John Telegraph.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—A lamentable accident happened at the saw mill of Edward Walker, at Kingston, Kent Co., recently, by which John Fahey lost his life. Mr. Fahey, whose sight was poor, was struck by a slab wagon and knocked from the mill railway and killed. He leaves a wife and three children. Mr. Fahey was an industrious, sober, inoffensive man and his family have the sympathy of the community.—Moncton Times.

We gather from the reports that up to the close of the debate on the Franchise Bill, on Saturday night last, at 12 o'clock, the Opposition had got in its talk to the tune of 319 speeches. And yet Mr. Blake declared they were fighting for liberty of discussion!

The smallpox shows no signs of abatement in Montreal. The public vaccinators are accused by Dr. E. J. Bourke of creating a large number of cases of erysipelas. The chairman of the Board of Health denies the statement. The officials have their hands full watching the dreaded disease.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company has expended nearly 50 millions of dollars over and above all subsidies and loans from the Government and proceeds from land sales.

Our little rose bud breathed his last
To shine in Heaven an Angel fair.

At Pinette, Belfast, on the 4th of May, after five months' illness of enlargement of the liver, which he bore with patience and resignation to the Divine Will, Roderick, fourth son of John and Euphemia McDonald, aged 15 years and 5 months. Dearest Roderick thou hast left us,

That we in Him might dwell.
