TORONTO, September 22—10 a. m. Moderate north to northeast winds; fair, cool weather.

According to the Pall Mall Gazette, "the Englishman who goes to the seaside has the habit of taking into consideration all sorts of outside things. He wants to know about the scenery; whether there are walks and drives in the neighbourhood. He concerns himself much about the height of the cliffs, and condemns a flat coast as uninteresting. The average continental troubles his head about none of these things. He goes for the sea air and salt water only. The smoother the sand for his children and the better paved the promenade for himself and the greater the artificial attractions upon it, by so much the more is the place desirable in his eyes."

The advocates of cremation have found a new and powerful ally in the person of a Brazilian physician who has discovered, or asserts that he has discovered, that fever germs survive the burial of the victim, and fill the atmosphere of the cemetery "with poisonous vitality." The soil in a yellow fever cemetery, it is stated, has been found to teem with germs similar to those found in the bodies of the victims buried below. Guinea pigs fed on the grass grown in such cemeteries die of yellow fever, and the inference is drawn that it is quite possible for the victims of an epidemic to convert the place where they are buried into a vast breeding ground for contagion.

Lord Aylesford and his brother, who went out with the Rufus Hatch excursionists, have developed the intention, says London World, of buying a vast ranch down in Texas, and settling there permanently. He has started out southwest to find the ranch. As he goes under the auspices of an American who is "long" on ranches, this will be no difficult undertaking. Only there remains the melancholy but unquestionable fact that a Texas ranch even when bought by an English lord, has got to be paid for. But if his lordship does settle in Texas, he is sure to like the life, of which the keynotes are—virtue and temperance.

The Spanish Government has raised the direct taxes in Cuba fifty per cent.

Our Quebec Brethren.

WHAT THEY SAW AND HOW THEY ENJOYED THEMSELVES.

(Halifax Herald.)

The visiting journalists from Quebec, with their ladies, piloted by members of the city press, visited various points of interest in the city yesterday. In the legislative library, the book containing the autograph of the Queen and the original commission given by the Count de Raymond, commander of the French forces at Louisbourg, 120 years ago, to an Indian, appointing him chief of his tribe, were relics of great attraction. It may be stated that this document, carried through the woods of Nova Scotia and Cape Breton for over a century, was obtained for the Historical Society by a city journalist from an old squaw, a descendant of the chief to whom the commission was given. After doing the parliament building, the citadel was visited. They were delighted with the magnificent view there obtained in the city, the harbor, and Dartmouth. Nearly an hour was spent there "taking in the situation," and watching the troops being drilled. One and all admitted that they had never, in Canada or the United States, seen a spot even approaching in beauty our public gardens; and as Canadians they expressed themselves as proud of the beautiful spot as they imagined Haligonians were. They promised to sing the praises of these gardens all through the Province of Quebec. The visitors were also very much pleased with the other points of interest visited. At two o'clock the party embarked on the "Bertha" for a trip on the harbor, the guests of the city press. Besides the pressmen there were also present Hons. Messrs. Gayton and Church, of the Local Government; the Spanish Consul, the Legislative Librarian, the Mayor and lady, and George Ellis, uncle of Hon. W. S. Fielding, a Haligonian, who went to Boston forty years ago, accumulated wealth, and is now on a brief visit to his native place. After leaving the wharf, the Bertha made a bee line for the landing at Mount Hope. There the party disembarked, and after viewing and admiring Halifax from the other side of the harbor, were cordially received at the institution by commissioners of charity Somers and White, and Dr. Sinclair, clerk Hunt, storekeeper Dickson and other officials. Here an excellent repast had been provided, and the party did ample justice to the occasion. After the inner man and woman had been satisfied, the "flow of soul" commenced. C. C. Blackader, of the Recorder, proposed the first toast—the Queen, and in the course of his remarks warmly welcomed to the city the representatives of the Quebec press. The toast "our guests" was proposed by J. W. Longley, M. P. P. in a witty speech, and responded to by N. LeVasseur, president of the association. He pointed out the objects of the organization—the cultivation of a friendly spirit among the fraternity, and to obtain a personal knowledge of all parts of the Dominion. Mr. LeVasseur proposed an impromptu toast—the citizens and press of Halifax. This was acknowledged by the Mayor and Hon. W. S. Fielding. Mr. Fielding proposed "the ladies." The Frenchmen sang Vive La Canada; and the ladies were championed by Mr. Sylvain and F. St. Maurice, M. P. P. The toast of the board of public charities and officers of the Mount Hope institution, was proposed by William Dennis, and responded to by Hon. Albert Gayton and Dr. Sinclair. At half-past four o'clock the party re-embarked on the Bertha and enjoyed a most delightful sail up the North West Arm. This morning the excursionist leave for Pictou and Charlottetown, en route for home.
