Miscellaneous Shower

One of the most interesting functions of the season took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Scott, Friday evening, July 3rd, when Jack and his bride (formerly Miss Ernestine Marchbanks) returned home after a short honeymoon trip through the Maritimes.

To the strains of the Wedding March, played by Mrs. T. MacMillan, Miss Helen Scott and Mr. Gunner Assos ushered the bride and groom to the seat of honor.

Miss Lillian and Lloyd Scott acting the part of bride and groom, entered the room carrying a basinette beautifully decorated in pink and white, following the color scheme of the evening.

Many useful and beautiful gifts, which showed the popularity of both bride and groom, were opened by Mrs. Waldron Lowther and Miss Mary Walker.

After singing "For My True Love's Sake" the remainder of the evening was spent in instrumental music, singing and social intercourse.

The instrumental music for the evening on the organ was furnished by Mrs. G. MacMillan and on the mouth organ by Messrs. Keith Duns, Wilbur Gillespie, Herbert Scott, Freddie Scott and Vernon Drake.

Ice cream and cake were served by the ladies. The evening passed all too soon, and as another day dawned each one returned to his home after one of the most delightful showers this spring.

His bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Marchbanks, of New Annan, and has been a successful school teacher for the past few years and has many friends in New Annan and elsewhere.

Very best wishes go out to Mr. and Mrs. Scott.

Is Anniversary of Great Fire of St. John.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., July 17.—(C.P.)—Forty-four years ago today, St. John's was laid waste by one of the great conflagrations of history, a fire which destroyed 2,000 buildings, made 11,000 persons homeless, and did damage estimated at $20,000,000.

It was not the first time flames swept through the city. St. John's had been visited several times before by destructive fires, one of which almost completely destroyed the Newfoundland capital.

On June 9, 1892, a glue-pot upset in a carpenter's shop, and from this trivial cause started a conflagration which brought a loss of $4,000,000.

When the city was re-built, all premises on Water Street, the principal business and mercantile thoroughfare and on Duckworth Street, parallel to and just above it, were constructed of brick, stone or some other non-combustible material.

Firebreaks and open spaces were inserted and it was thought a repetition of the disastrous blaze was impossible.

But on July 8, 1932 a man drowned in a state of insubordination. The smoking fell from his hand to the straw beside him. The flames spread rapidly, building after building caught. The water pipes had been out for repairs and it was impossible for the firefighters to obtain water.

A fierce wind arose, fanning the flames and carrying embers and sparks for miles, even firing the stone-constructed fever hospital on Signal Hill and threatening a wooden blockhouse 300 feet above the rest of the city on the summit of the hill.

Workmen and citizens strove frantically to repair the water system. Dynamite blasted open spaces ahead of the fire and it finally burned itself out. Of the $20,000,000 damage less than $5,000,000 was insured.

Neglect a Hazard For Job Seekers

BOSTON, July 16.—(CP)—Elizabeth Gregg MacGibbon has made an intensive study of women and their jobs. Last year she travelled about 28,000 miles and talked before 85,000 women in 26 cities.

She says that though business women "may be rated mental giants with every qualification for their jobs, sheer ability won't help them half as much as keeping themselves free of the tell-tale marks of neglect or age."

"Theoretically," continued Mrs. MacGibbon, "a girl's appearance should have nothing to do with her getting and holding a job. Actually, however, it counts 75 per cent."

The head of the alumnae placement bureau of a well-known college has found that younger women are preferred and that older women are relegated to the sidelines of business life.

"I find myself fighting harder in behalf of these fading creatures than I do for those who suffer merely from their own neglect. I urge them to refuse to resign the job they have to a useless degree. I try to instil in them the spirit of fighting youth. I tell them they have the balanced judgment of maturity which business men need in their assistants. And if they will bestir themselves in the matter of dress and spirits they can command far higher pay than the kitchens thing who has no more than simple and smirching youth to recommend her."

much time and effort with each and all of us, thereby giving us a careful and thorough training. During your year's residence among us you have proved yourself a wise friend and helper to us all, but more especially you have endeared yourself as a guide to the children.

Your decision to remain with us for another year at least has brought a relief and evident happiness to the rate payers of the district as well as to the children. At the close of this term we take this opportunity showing our appreciation of your year's work well done, we bid you a hearty and unanimous welcome back among us, to our school, to our homes and to all the efforts we may mutually undertake in the course of the next year.

Head Office Association Toronto

Branch Office: Bank of Nova Scotia Building, Charlottetown—W. G. HOGG, Manager.

The following is the address:—Miss Charlotte Drake.

Dear Teacher:

During the past number of weeks we, your pupils, have been hearing reports to the effect, that you, our highly esteemed teacher, were going to leave us at the end of the present year. We had hoped that such reports were false but of late we have come to know that they are only too true.

Before you depart, we your pupils wish to take this opportunity of telling you how much we have enjoyed having you as our teacher for the past three years and how we shall miss you when you have gone. Ever since you came to work among us you have taken a deep interest in our welfare.

In helping us to work out all of our problems you never spared yourself. We realize that we have not been as grateful as we should have been in return for all that you have done for us but we trust that you will overlook our failings in this respect, and while, at times, it may have seemed to you that we did not appreciate the many kindness you have shown us, we have indeed appreciated all that you have done for us.

The memory of your kindness and thoughtfulness will remain with us throughout our life. Before saying farewell we would ask you to accept this small gift as a slight token of the esteem in which you are held by us. We trust that you will value it as an expression of admiration and good-will.

And now for the present, farewell. May life's richest blessings ever follow you wherever you may go, and should it be that in the near or even the far distant future you should come back to Belle River, kindly remember that a hearty welcome will be found awaiting you from all of your old pupils and all well-wishers of this community.

With passage by the Chamber of Deputies today of legislation nationalizing the munitions industry and the approval yesterday of the bill reforming the Bank of France, the only major project of Premier Blum's leftist government awaiting approval of the Lower House was the 20,000,000,000 franc (about $1,200,000,000) public works bill.

Sporadic strikes continued in the 58rd day of the national movement of workers which has struck at most branches of business and industry. Sailors who occupied four freighters at Le Havre ended their strike when shipowners acceded to demands for better ventilation of their quarters.

The dissolved league's name, however, leaders said, might be continued through the Croix de Feu social movement which is attached to de la Rocque's French social party, which emerged following the ban.
