NORMAL SCHOOL.

ANNUAL EXAMINATION.

There were present, as spectators of the closing oral exercises at the Normal School this forenoon, the Rev'd D. Fitzgerald, Isaac Murray, J. Lathern, Steele, J. McLeod, Dr. Johnston, His Worship the Mayor, Robert Shaw, Esq., M.P.P., H. J. Cundall, H. Lawson, P. R. Bowers, Aubrey C. Hamilton, and others. The Principal announced that he had received letters from the Lieutenant Governor and the Chief Justice expressing their regret that they could not attend. It is rather singular that no member of the Government was present. We felt it to be our duty to sensure the Davies administration on one occasion for a similar deliriction, though they called themselves, par excellence, the Free School Government; and we cannot allow the absence of all the members of the present Government to pass unnoticed. The Normal School is so important a branch of one of the most important departments of the Government, that the Administration of the day should take an active and personal interest in it; and any want of attention should not be very readily excused.

We felt it to be our duty to sensure the Davies administration on one occasion for a similar deliriction, though they called themselves, par excellence, the Free School Government; and we cannot allow the absence of all the members of the present Government to pass unnoticed. The Normal School is so important a branch of one of the most important departments of the Government, that the Administration of the day should take an active and personal interest in it; and any want of attention should not be very readily excused.

Several classes were examined by pupil teachers, who displayed a good deal of ability in the art of teaching. The exercises were very pleasing. When they were over the school was briefly addressed by the Principal, Rev. Mr. Lathern, Rev. Mr. Fitzgerald, the Mayor and Mr. Shaw. All expressed their gratification with the examination; and expressed the hope that the efficiency of the school would be fully maintained.

After the speeches came the following ADDRESS
To Mr. John Harper, Principal Provincial Normal School, Mr. John McSwain Assistant, and Miss Annie Montgomery Preceptress.

We, the Students of the Normal School, feel that we cannot allow the term to expire without expressing our regard, and our appreciation of the services you have rendered us during the past five months, in imparting to us the principles of a sound practical education.

The willingness displayed by you as teachers at all times, in assisting us to surmount the difficulties that seemed to rise before us to thwart us in our course, has been a great source of encouragement, inspiring us with new life and earnestness; and we assure you that the efforts thus put forth have not been lost sight of or passed by unappreciated.

In separating, we shall not sever the ties that have bound us together so closely during the term, and while we regret having to part we shall always remember the Normal School and its associations with feelings akin to patriotism; and in after life we shall look back on the time spent there as one of the pleasantest parts of our history.

Mr. Harper, we desire to thank you most cordially for the kindness and energy with which you have directed our studies, and particularly for your valuable lectures on professional work, and trust that we shall be able to show that we have profited by them when called upon to put the principles they inculcate into practice. We sincerely hope that you may long be spared to adorn the profession which you have chosen as your life work; and that this Island may continue to have the benefits of your services.

Please accept this gift as a slight expression of our esteem.

Mr. McSwain, for your patient and untiring efforts, and the great interest you have manifested in our behalf, we tender our heartfelt thanks, and rest assured that wherever you may be, the students of this term will think of you with sincere respect. We ask you to accept this gift from us as a remembrance.

Miss Montgomery, your amiable and gentle manner, your earnestness and diligence in imparting instruction, have won the admiration of us all. We ask you to accept this gift as a pledge of our regard.
Signed, on behalf of school,

Driven to the Wall.

"When you have no case—bustle—the plaintiff's attorney."

The late government expended over seventy thousand dollars more than they received. They would have deceived the public to the extent of $50,000. They directed moneys which were paid in 1878 to be charged in the accounts of 1879. Yet the Patriot expects to think them fine fellows—worthy of the people's confidence. But because the EXAMINER examines into their suspicious "suspense accounts" and questions their right to saddle the present Government with their extravagances, the Patriot attacks the Hon. D. Ferguson with the vigorous language of an accomplished fishwife. Mr. Ferguson is "mean," "dirty," "unmanly," "most dishonorable." He has acted the part "of a sneak," "a savage," "a coward." He is "neither clever nor honest;" and it is to be hoped that his colleagues are not parties to his "disgraceful and ruffianly proceeding" etc., etc., etc., etc. All of which shows that the Patriot is left without a fact or an argument upon which to hang a plea for the late Government.

Mr. Ferguson will not, of course, deign to notice the billingsgate to which he is treated. To do so would be to lower his position and himself in the eyes of the whole community. Character is a shield against calumny; and Mr. Ferguson's character as a man of genuine ability is too well established to suffer injury from such an enemy as the Patriot.

It is, perhaps, hardly necessary to add that the Hon. Mr. Ferguson was not the writer of the EXAMINER's article to which the Patriot alludes.

City Council.

The Council met at 8 o'clock last evening. There were present—the Mayor, the Recorder, Councillors Peake, Beer, Lawson, Davy, Horne, Hooper and Byrne.

The memorial of J. J. O'Reilly, with reference to his salary as reporter to the Council and to other matters, was read.

Councillor Beer thought the memorial a singular document. He supposed that if O'Reilly had a just claim against the city it would have been preferred and satisfied long ago. He did not think any notice should be taken of it.

COUNCILLOR BYRNE said he could throw little or no light upon the matter. But if the Council justly owed the money to O'Reilly he thought the amount should be placed to his credit.

COUNCILLOR PEAKE was surprised that Mr. O'Reilly should have sent in this petition now; for last year the city, by advertisement, requested the presentation of all accounts against it; but Mr. O'Reilly then made no claim.

On motion of Councillor Byrne the memorial was referred to the Finance Committee.

COUNCILLOR PEAKE introduced a bye-law relating to the Fire Department, which was read a first and second time. The Council then resolved itself into a committee of the whole; Councillor Byrne in the chair, and the bye-law was read and passed clause by clause. The Mayor then resumed the chair and the bye-law was reported agreed to. Sixteen other bye-laws were passed in the same way before the Council adjourned.

The annual meeting of the General Assembly of the Canada Presbyterian Church opened in St. Andrew's church, Ottawa, on Wednesday last. Some 350 delegates were present. In order to provide for the accommodation of the visitors a billeting committee composed of two representatives from each of the Presbyterian churches in the city had been appointed; but there was a good deal of delay in billeting the delegates, owing to the clerks of the different Presbyteries not being prompt in sending in the list of delegates.

PEDESTRIANISM.

Close of the 12 Hours Walk.

61 Miles and 3 Laps in 12 Hours.

The conclusion of the walking match at the citizens' Skating Rink attracted much attention. From seven o'clock until the result was made known the interior of the Rink was crowded and the street and lot adjoining the building were thronged with spectators. Towards ten o'clock the excitement became intense, and as each contestant lapped his leader he was lustily cheered by his admirers. With the exception of Franshaw, all contestants appeared to be at variance with their feet wear. McNeill, who appeared in a pair of new prunellas, had to abandon the track on account of sore feet, at 2.15. McInnis at first wore light prunella shoes. He got lame in the afternoon, and changed these shoes for a heavy pair of new "ankle jacks." They appeared to hurt him sorely, but he continued to walk—displaying unrivalled pluck—to the end. McCloskey at the start wore new canvas shoes. In turn his feet rapidly heated and towards evening he was compelled to don a pair of old shoes. Wakeland wore common walking boots. His feet heated several times, but he continued to plod along with great endurance till eight o'clock, when he left the track for an hour's rest, and returned with renewed vigor. Crowley, who at first took everything easily, fell back a greater distance than he could expect to recover at the close, and therefore abandoned the track about six o'clock. Carroll for like reasons followed suit shortly afterwards. Bevan, who is a man about forty-five years of age, spurred with remarkable agility during the match. His attempts to lap a leader caused much merriment among the spectators. McKinnon an Pemphrass led until the eighth hour. After this time Pemphrass commenced to lag and fell back entirely towards the close. It was the opinion of many that he would leave the track. McKinnon, though much exhausted, kept up his killing pace throughout. Franshaw, at the ninth hour, held second position, and McKinnon first. Franshaw began to lap him, and in less than half an hour came up abreast, and assumed the lead. From this point forth the contest was most exciting. All seemed to dash for the fore. Bevan spurred, Wakeland spurred, McCloskey spurred, and Franshaw kept up his lively staying pace, constantly increasing his lead. As one contestant lapped another loud cheers would greet the latter's success. McCloskey, who was constantly lapping McKinnon, and pushing for second place, fell sick about twenty minutes past ten, and was obliged to leave the track. McCloskey's departure from the track clearly decided that Franshaw was the winner of the first, and McKinnon the winner of the second prize. The contest was then between Bevan, Wakeland, and McInnis, for the third Wakeland was far behind Bevan and McInnis at 10 o'clock, but on the last hour he gained sixteen laps over each, and thus carried off the third money. The following is a summary of the scores:—

6th Hour.	12th Hour.	Total.
NO. LAPS.	NO. LAPS.	MS. LS.
J. Franshaw.....	492	979 61 3

which is a combination of Pure Quinine, with Lime Fruit Juice, cordialised by the addition of Aromatics, but

ENTIRELY FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

Upon the medicinal virtues of Lime Juice and Quinine it is unnecessary to dilate. The combination of two agents of such universally acknowledged value, in at once a palatable and innocuous form, has been a desideratum long sought, but only now successfully accomplished; for although the Tonic qualities of Quinine have been popularised in the form of QUININE WINES, it is well known these combinations have been attended with serious evils consequent upon the Alcoholic Stimulants they all contain, at once prejudicial to health and demoralising in their tendency.

Aromatic Montserrat Quinine Cordial is guaranteed to contain one grain of Quinine in each wineglassful, and to be entirely free from alcohol, being prepared solely from the Montserrat Lime Fruit Juice combined with Aromatics.
