Dominion Tar Takes Over Big Brick Plant

TORONTO, (CP)—Dominion Tar and Chemical Company Limited of Montreal has acquired one of Canada's biggest brickmakers, Cooksville Company Limited.

The acquisition, announced Wednesday, puts Dominion Tar, which owns or controls 32 plants, "in the building material industry with both feet," a company spokesman said. "With the exception of lumber, we can now almost build a house ourselves."

The major shareholder of Dominion Tar is Argus Corp., a holding company of which industrialist E. P. Taylor of Toronto is president. Mr. Taylor is also chairman of the board of Dominion Tar. Control of the Cooksville company was reported brought about by an offering to shareholders to purchase some $3,115,000 of class A and B stock. Dominion Tar offered $20 a share for the 89,000 class A shares outstanding and $15 a share for a similar number of class B shares.

Even Small

Among other things, the American bomb makers are working on a technique for "triggering" the mighty hydrogen bomb without using the unearthly heat of a standard fission bomb to set off the atomic fusion process of hydrogen.

Until recently, the popular supposition was that unless a nation already possessed fission bombs there would be no way to detonate the hydrogen fusion bomb with the million or more degree heat supposedly required for creating the explosion.

That may no longer be necessary, although the technical details of the process being worked on may not be disclosed at this time. However, it may be said they involve basic facts considered by physicists during early studies of atomic reaction in the mid-30s—and thus must be presumed to be available to Russia also.

Speculation has been that the United States may have between two and five years' lead over Russia in making usable hydrogen bombs. Conservative officials here guess at about three years, but point out that the Russians may stumble on a short-cut process that will put Russia even or ahead.

Russian Progress

An assessment of what is known or guessed at about Russian progress shows among other things that:

- 1. The foundation for enormous scientific progress in Russia has been laid.
2. The educational pattern in physical sciences has changed rapidly. Contrary to its policy in dealing with everything else in Russia, the Kremlin politicians are keeping hands off the physicists.
3. Scientists in Russia are virtually free of political restrictions to which all other Russians are subjected in their daily work.
4. Analyses of Soviet-made weapons captured in the Korean war show far greater progress in design and manufacturing methods than United States military men had been willing to admit.

Step Dancing At Dundas

Gerald Clarkin of Peakes Road won the Men's Step-Dancing competition at the Provincial Plowing in Dundas yesterday.

Mrs. Wilfred Peters, St. Charles Street, class for the women while Robert Ross of Lower Montague led the boys' class and Jean Campbell of Dundas won the girls' class.

The judges were Herb MacLeod and Walter Burdett while Lorne Mackay and Wallace Turner were the accompanists. Following are the results: Men's Step-Dancing: 1. Gerald Clarkin, Peakes Rd.; 2. Ervan, MacLeod, Mt. Hope; 3. Malcolm MacKinnon, Charlottetown.

Cornwall Man

Continued from page 1 Match for the past thirteen years, had warm praise for the progress which the tractor plowmen have made in recent competitions.

He stated that there was a lot of good plowing throughout the match and that the average was much higher than it had been on any previous year.

Dr. Albert E. Ings of Souris earned the distinction of becoming the first doctor to win an event at the Provincial Meet. Dr. Ings topped the class in the tractor three-sod competitions. The plowing was done on Wednesday but the results were not announced until yesterday.

Wendell MacLeod of Forest Hill placed second in this event and Preston Wood of Southport third. Stanley Willis swept the honors in the tractor two-sod as he won the straightest furrow, best crown and best finish. Malcolm MacRae of Pownal was runner-up and Arthur Jones of Pownal, third.

Florence Matheson of Albion Cross, was runner-up in an application for an increase in rates. Under existing legislation a rate increase can only be made after a public hearing at which the necessity for such increase has been established.

An examination of provincial legislation dealing with the matters in question seems to disclose that the provisions of the Arbitration Act must be construed as general legislation, while those of the Public Utilities Commission Act and of the Electric Power and Telephone Act, notably Section 26 of the latter, are special legislation dealing with the special problem of rate making for public utilities supplying telephone service or electrical energy.

Following the competitions the champions and judges were called to the president's stand by president Leslie Hunter for the presentation of prizes and an introduction to the crowd. In addition to the plowing the horse show attracted considerable interest as a number of spectators crowded round the ring to watch judge Cecil J. Stewart of Hampshire place the classes.

A program of sports and step-dancing rounded out the day's activities. Herbert Ross of Strathcona showed himself a shrewd judge of cattle when he guessed the correct weight of Tea Hill Boy, a purebred Red Fella calf. The weight of the eight month old calf was 720 pounds and Mr. Ross won a 98-lb. bag of Quaker flour.

Following are the results: Championship Class: 1. Stanley Willis, Cornwall; 2. Glen Morrissey, Cherry Valley; 3. Stirling Moore, Pownal; 4. Edward Wood, Pownal; 5. Florence Matheson, Albion Cross; 6. Donald Smith, Pownal; 7. Claude Matheson, Dundas; 8. Sterling MacSwain, Morell; 9. Harley Ings, Southport; 10. Douglas MacDonald, Forest Hill.

Straightest furrow: Stirling Moore; best crown and best finish: Stanley Willis. Tractor two-sod: 1. Stanley Willis, Cornwall; 2. Malcolm MacRae, Pownal; 3. Arthur Jones, Pownal; 4. Arnold Burke, Strathcona; 5. Clayton Morrissey, Cherry Valley.

Straightest furrow, best crown and best finish: Stanley Willis. Tractor, three-sod: 1. Dr. A. E. Ings, Souris; 2. Wendell MacLeod, Forest Hill; 3. Preston Wood, Southport; 4. Ed. Robertson, Pownal; 5. Hadden MacLeod, Bridgetown.

Gang Plow, boys under 16: 1. Stewart Hunter, Strathcona; 2. Wylie Taylor, Upton. Women and Girls' Tractor: 1. Miss Florence Matheson, Dundas; 2. Hilda Jones, Pownal; 3. Mrs. Lloyd MacLeod, Bridgetown; 4. Miss Annie Matheson, Forest Hill.

Straightest furrow, best crown and best finish, Florence Matheson.

Mayors End

The mayors also asked the federal government to provide more funds for civil defence, and to take over the province's share of the cost where the province did not approve a city's civil defence program and was willing to match the 50-per-cent federal grant.

The resolution was amended from the floor to read that cities should be permitted to pay the 50 per cent and seek the additional help from the federal government, only when the provincial government concerned approved the measure. This meant the city was undertaking to pay the 50 per cent normally carried by the province, so the municipality might claim the remainder from federal authorities. Three delegates dissented.

In his address at the luncheon Mr. Prevost said Quebec needs its full tax powers to finance the

So that blind-and-deaf individuals may communicate more easily with persons who have all their faculties, Rev. Ernst Christian Sibberson, of the Church of the Deaf, in Topeka, Kan., has designed the "communications" glove at left. Utilities Board On Status Of Arbitrators In Telephone Dispute

A further complication in the current dispute between the Island Telephone Company, Ltd., and its employees is indicated in a letter received by the Company from the Public Utilities Commission, dealing with the status of the Arbitration Board which has recommended a 7 1/2 per cent wage increase, effective July 1, and a 40-hour week effective Jan. 1, 1954.

"As you are well aware," the Commission letter states, "the recommendation of the Board of Arbitrators, if acted upon, would saddle your Company with a great increase in operating costs which would probably result in an application for an increase in rates."

Under existing legislation a rate increase can only be made after a public hearing at which the necessity for such increase has been established.

"An examination of provincial legislation dealing with the matters in question seems to disclose that the provisions of the Arbitration Act must be construed as general legislation, while those of the Public Utilities Commission Act and of the Electric Power and Telephone Act, notably Section 26 of the latter, are special legislation dealing with the special problem of rate making for public utilities supplying telephone service or electrical energy."

What is above stated, that formal approval should be given for any resulting increase in the operating costs occasioned by the said increase.

"It is not the wish of the members of this Commission to become entangled in labour relations nor to oppose the just rights of labour; but until it has been made apparent, either by a decision of a Court of competent jurisdiction or by legislative enactment, that the provisions of the Public Utilities Commission Act and the Electric Power and Telephone Act are restricted by other legislation, we feel that any decision of this Commission must be made under these Acts."

Public Hearing Required

"It is our opinion that, notwithstanding any recommendation made by a Board of Arbitrators under existing legislation it would still be open to any person at a public hearing on an application for a rate increase to compel the Commission to decide as to the prudence of such increase in operating costs."

"gigantic" economic development at present taking place in the province. The share of municipal and provincial taxation in total tax revenue had fallen since before the Second World War, even though under the constitution the major part of public services in peace time were their responsibility.

This was too large and complex a country for any one government to administer, and centralization led to autocracy and even tyranny. Quebec stood for provincial autonomy both for that reason and because it wanted to preserve its ethnic individuality.

"Confederation should be what the Fathers of Confederation determined in good faith—an association of provinces supreme within the limits of its competence," he said.

Other Speakers

Among other speakers at the luncheon were Hon. L. F. McIntosh, Saskatchewan minister of municipal affairs. Thanking Quebec for its hospitality to the Saskatchewan delegates, Mr. McIntosh said, "we in the western provinces feel we have scored when we have got something for nothing from the Province of Quebec."

At the federation meeting this morning delegates also elected an executive committee. Elected vice-presidents for 1953-54: Mayor Mackay; Mayor J. S. Mills, Saskatoon; Ald. C. E. Simonite, Winnipeg; Mayor Charlotte Whitton, Ottawa; Mayor E. W. Patterson, Saint John, N. B.; Mayor H. G. R. Mewa, St. John's, Nfld.; Mayor J. David Stewart, Charlottetown.

Big Legion Carnival At Montague Gets Underway

"The Montague Legion carnival opened last evening in the Curling Rink attended by large numbers from Montague and surrounding areas.

The attraction of the evening was the excellent program presented by the Lads and Lassies pipe band of Charlottetown, led by Pipe Major Shirley Burke. The program opened with several pipe selections followed by Highland dancing. Other numbers included a song "Wedding of Sandy McKee" by Shirley Burke; "Roamin' In The Gloamin'" by Marjorie Smith; duet "Ho Ro Mo Nigh'n Dohh Bhoitheach" by Tommy and Heather Burke; "I Belong To Glasgow" by Donald Burke; sword dance by Shirley and Tommy Burke, and a pipe selection by Frank Burke. The program concluded with several more selections on the pipes.

The program was much enjoyed and greatly appreciated by the large crowd, many of whom came especially to hear and see the famous Lads and Lassies perform. It was a delight to hear the Scotch music played so well by this group of young boys and girls, and although all were worthy of the highest praise, it was little Heather and Tommy, age 6 and 7, who took the audience with their ability and performance at such a tender age.

Excellent Horse Show At Prov. Plowing Match

Clifford Townsend of Rollo Bay showed the grand champion draught horse yesterday in the Horse Show at the Provincial Plowing Match in Dundas.

Judge Cecil J. Stewart of Hampshire called it the best horse show he had seen in the Province in his number of years. He stated that the quality was high and that the show had greatly improved over past seasons.

Stewart had the work of placing 60 horses during the past two days. On the opening day Jack Anear and Alfred Lowery of Montague won the grand championship.

Quebec Cabinet Minister Critical of Ottawa Policy

MONTREAL, (CP)—A Quebec government spokesman said today federal subsidies are no substitute for a province's "essential" financial powers.

Hon. Yves Prevost, Quebec minister of municipal affairs, said today Quebec believes "as a matter of principle" that "a system of federal subsidies replacing the financial powers which are essential to any democratic government cannot be recommended, at least as a general policy."

He told a luncheon tendered members of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, who have been meeting here this week with United States mayors in an International Municipal Congress. Quebec is going through a period of "gigantic" economic development and needs the financial powers that belong to it.
