THIS IS THE FINEST COD LIVER OIL EVER BROUGHT OUT. Cod Liver Oil usually has such a disagreeable taste, and is to many so difficult of digestion, that its excellent nutritive and medicinal qualities are not experienced. The Skrei Oil is free from these objections, being beautifully clear, pale and bright, almost tasteless, and readily assimilated by children and the most delicate invalids. Sold by

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

JULY 19, 1890.

As Regards "Canada Thistles."

PROFESSOR BESSEY writes to the Breeder's Gazette to say that the common name of "Canada thistle" is a misnomer. It is no more a native of Canada than it is of the United States. While it now grows on both sides of the line, it is in reality a native of Europe and Asia, having come to America as a weed, probably in the seed of grains and grasses. Bentham in his handbook of the "British Flora" calls it the "creeping thistle," as also does Lindley in the "Treasury of Botany." Dr. Hooker, another eminent English authority, calls it "the commonest pest of agriculture." Long before America was known this plant was a vile weed in the Old World. We ought not, the Professor says, to insult our good Canadian friends by continuing to call this pest the Canada thistle. Let us hereafter call it the "creeping thistle," and in order to be sure that we make no mistakes let us for a while use the botanical name also in our writings—cnicus arvensis, or as formerly written cirsium arvense.

A word further as to the habits of this thistle. When it grows from the seed it makes a growth of leaves and roots the first year, gathering nourishment for its next year's development, when it sends up its flowering stems. At the same time it forms a number of strong underground stems which run under the surface and come up at a distance from the parent plant. Each one of these underground stems will produce another plant, and if cut up may produce one for every joint. They are very tenacious of life, and may retain their vitality for days, or even weeks, when removed from the ground. Fortunately this thistle, while it blossoms freely, does not seed freely in this part of the country. It is thus largely dependent upon its underground stems for means of propogation.

How to get rid of it is a most serious question. Having had some experience, allow me to make the following suggestions:—

1. Begin to eradicate the thistle as soon as you find even a little of it on your farm. Do not wait until it has obtained a good foothold.

2. Rely more upon cutting down than upon ploughing or digging up. By cutting down the leaves persistently the plants can be starved out, but by ploughing or digging there is danger of scattering the tenacious underground stems, and so of actually increasing the evil.

3. Remember that the first years growth is a low, flat, leafy one, and that this ought to be watched even more than the tall flowering state.

4. Induce cattle and sheep to eat them off by dropping salt upon the plants. This succeeds sometimes very well.

5. If you plough up the field be sure to carefully gather and burn all the underground parts. It takes a great deal of work, but it will pay.

6. If your patch is very small you may kill it by burning a brush-heap over it.

Personal.

Rev. Mr. Sampson, late of Milton, was inducted into the pastorate of St George's Episcopal Church, Carleton, N. B., on Thursday night.

Mrs. Stephen Steeves, aged 89, was baptized recently by the Rev. W. Cramp, of the Hillsboro, N. B. Baptist Church.

Angus P. McIntyre, editor of the Long Island City Tribune, died at Flushing Hospital, in Flushing, last night, of hemorrhage of the stomach. He was a native of Prince Edward Island, and a nephew of the Roman Catholic Bishop of that place.—New York Herald, 13th.

CRICKET.—A match is being played this afternoon at Victoria Park between a team from H. M. S. Comus and the City Club.

SOME LOBSTERS.—It is said that over $11,000 worth of lobsters have been shipped from Shelburne, N. S., during the present season in smacks. This does not include lobsters sent in crates to Boston via Yarmouth.

AGAINST NOISES.—At the Amherst Town Council meeting on Monday the Recorder read a draft of a bye-law prepared by him, prohibiting entirely the beating of drums, blowing of horns, shouting or other unusual noises on the streets at any hour, except by permission of the Mayor and Council. The bye-law as prepared was adopted.

INCREASED ALLOWANCE.—The Moncton Times says: Militiamen will be glad to know that the government has decided to increase the allowance of ammunition for target practice to 40 rounds per annum for city corps, and rural corps to have their 20 rounds every year, instead of alternate years as at present.

JAMES LEAR'S WILL.—The will of the late James Lear has been filed in the probate office at Halifax. All the testator's estate, including the property at the North West Arm, consisting of a dwelling house and grounds, is left to his widow, who is also left between $15,000 and $20,000 insurance. Mrs. Lear is appointed sole executrix. The estate is valued at about $25,000.

FISHERY REPORT.—Halifax, July 17: The Bureau reports to-night show very little change in the fisheries. Mackerel still continue plentiful in P. E. I. and the southern coast of Nova Scotia. They are perhaps not so good at Alberton, but are reported struck in at Lunenburg and Port Medway, where about 100 per net were taken. The mackerel at all places though quite plentiful are of small size. At Liverpool 150 bbls. were taken to-day. The other isheries have not been so successful. Squid bait was very plentiful last evening at Inganish, C. B., boats having from ½ to 2½ quintals. Bait in almost all other places in C. B. and many places in the United States is reported very scarce.

A Waterproof Whitewash.

Resenchek, of Munich, mixes together the powder from three parts of silicious rock (quartz) three parts of broken marble and sandstone, also two parts of burned porcelain clay, with two parts of freshly slaked lime, still warm. In this a wash is made which forms a silicate, if often wetted, and becomes, after a time, almost like stone. The four constituents, mixed together, give the ground color, to which any pigment that can be used with lime is added. It is applied quite thickly to the wall or other surface, let dry one day, and the next day frequently covered with water, which makes it water-proof. This wash can be cleansed with water without losing any of its color; on the contrary, each time it gets harder, so that it can even be brushed, while its porosity makes it look soft.

Europe's champion steeple-jack is probably William Green. He has repaired no fewer than fifty-three towers and spires, including that of Salisbury Cathedral, 404 feet high; Louth, Lincolnshire, 350 feet; Grantham, 320 feet, and Whittlesea, Cambridgeshire, 280 feet. He has also built or repaired over 550 chimney-stacks, the highest being 320 feet.

Detroit may not show 250,000 by the present census, but she's got a much better thing. People are cheap and can be had in any or small lots, but an honest man—a plumb up and down man with a conscience—is a mighty host in himself. We have one who paid twenty cents street car fare to return a pocket-book with seventeen cents in it.—Free Press.

Emerson Waldo (of Boston)—"I do despise petty personal remarks. There are so many lofty and elevating subjects on which cultured minds may converse—literature, art, science and the broad field of metaphysics. Don't you agree with me, Miss Platte?" Miss Platte (of Omaha)—"You bet I do, Mr. Waldo. But do look at Mrs. Laker over there; she walks as if she had corns."
