SUMMARY

By TH ECANADIAN PRESS

Toronto—Market mixed; trading lightest in three years.

New York—Market lower; aircrafts pace decline.

Montreal—Market mixed; bank up.

CURRENCIES

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. dollar Thursday closed at a discount of 3 1-16 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, up 3-16. Pound sterling $2.71⅛, up 11-16.

TORONTO

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market went through a session of indecision Thursday as interest centred around baseball's World Series rather than stock market dealings.

At the close the industrial base metal and western oil indices were easier but there was no definite trend. Trading, for the fourth straight day, was the slo est in three years.

Senior base metals were mix to lower in fractional-range trading. Coppers, Golds and uraniums had a small majority of losses but the price range was extremely narrow, few issues changing more than five cents.

Western oils were led down by senior stocks, which had major fractional losses. Lower-priced issues were mixed to easier. A few stocks were down 10 to 15 cents.

Index changes: Industrials off .45 to 428.28; golds up .13 to 78.0 base metals off .22 to 167.93; we ern oils off 1.38 to 155.21.

Could Take 'Dynamism' Out Of The Economy

By AL MARKLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VICTORIA (CP) — Canada's present fiscal policy, the "so-called tight money" policy, would make Canadian investors unduly conservative if continued too lon D. L. Morrell of Montreal, general manager of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said here today.

The policy, said Mr. Morrell, "could take some of the dyanism out of the economy and give rise to an unduly conservative psychology."

In his report to 650 delegates at the 28th annual convention of the chamber here he said it remains to be seen whether the ment will Canadians accept in th consequences of inflation will interest of halting inflation and stable currency?"

However, he addel, "It would seem that monetary and fiscal policies imposed as check-reins on excessive economic expansion are having their effect."

The text of Mr. Morrell's address was provided to the press in advance of delivery.

PACE SLOWING

A current easing in the pace of business has been accompanied by an easing in some of the sources of inflationary pressure, Mr. Morrell said.

"While consumer prices continue to move up, due to higher food costs, wholesale prices have been relatively steady and some components have shown declines.

"There are, it is true, evidences of inflationary pressures still at work—as reflected in the high volume of imports, indicating continued demand for goods."

He said momentum built up over the last couple of years still is evident in "non-residential construction, service and distributive trades, mining and selected manufacturing industries."

MARKETS WEAKENING

Mr. Morrell said that because of the temporary slackening in 1957 of the rate of increase in national production "there is bound to be uncertainty about near-term prospects."

"Contributing to the uncertainty are such factors as a noticeable weakening in the export markets for important Canadian commodities and a decline in prices of many basic materials; cautious inventory policies in both Canada and the United States; many plants operating at less than capacity; an indication that the labor force is rising faster than the rate of absorption by industry; severe pressure on profits due to the cost-price squeeze and, in the case of export industries, due to the premium on the Canadian dollar."

Sunday, Raymond Dupuis, president of the Canadian chamber, said Canada needs a period of adjustment to balance her economy following the post - war boom. Mr. Dupuis, president of Dupuis Freres Ltee, Montreal, expressed confidence in the buoyance of the Canadian economy.

"The general trade picture is bright and by 1960 we should hav adjusted ourselves to the new conditions.

"I am not too concerned over the credit situation because Canadians generally are thrifty and level-headed and do not take on commitments beyond their means," he said. He added that Canadian consumers have more purchasing power now than ever before.

Deny Orders Were To Shoot

WASHINGTTN (AP)—The U.S. defence department Wednesday denied published reports that U. Navy planes were ordered to shoot down an unidentified plane spotted over 6th Fleet units in the Mediterranean last week.

It said an alert was sent to one commander telling him of "the presence of an unidentified aircraft approaching his carrier task group."

News dispatches from the are last Saturday said that orders were given by Vice - Admiral Charles R. Brown, 6th Fleet com mander, to shoot down a possib hostile plane sighted near some fleet units. The fleet was taking part in a naval exercise in the northeastern Mediterranean.

The order was reported to have said that if the plane "menaces your formation use sidewinders to prevent photography." Sidewinders are air-to-air missiles.

Wednesday's defence department statement said Admiral Brown "alerted Admiral Duerfeldt to the presence of an unidentified aircraft approaching his carrier task group," but "no orders were given to crews of Admiral Duerfeldt's command other than an alert."

Rear Admiral Clifford H. Duerfeldt is commander of Carrier Division 2 in the 6th Fleet.
