All that was mortal of His Excellency James Boyle, late Bishop of Charlottetown, returned last night to an overwhelming expression of love and sorrow by thousands of his friends in the diocese. When his remains arrived at the CNR depot last night there was a funeral procession several blocks long to precede him through city streets to the Basilica. Every class from high to low was represented as were all the professions and arts. As the train pulled slowly in St. Rev. Monsignor P. McMahon, D.P., who accompanied the body from London, was greeted by a small group waiting on the platform. Premier A. W. Matheson offered him condolences on behalf of the Province. Hon. Eugene Cullen, Minister of Industry and Natural Resources also expressed his personal sense of loss.

At the other end of the platform a guard of honor of Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus stood at attention as the casket was taken from the railway car and placed in the hearse which moved forward to take its place in the waiting procession. As the hundreds of mourners began their slow march they formed one of the largest funeral processions ever seen in this city. Taking part were the school girls from Rochford Square followed by the girls from Notre Dame Convent, ladies of the Basilica and Holy Redeemer parishes, boys from Queen Square School, men of the Basilica and Holy Redeemer parishes, members of the Benevolent Irish Society, Knights of Columbus, the Recce Band, the Altar Boys of both the Basilica and Holy Redeemer Church, members of the clergy among whom was Most Rev.

Coaster Sinks Off Cape Breton Coast

NORTH SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—The 85-ton coaster Dorothy P. Sarty sank late Friday off the Cape Breton coast and her six-man crew rowed 25 miles to shore refusing a lift from a passing ship.

Capt. Frank Poole, 48, of Belleoram, Nfld., said the Dorothy P. Sprang a leak at a point about 30 miles off North Sydney late in the afternoon. He and the five crew members, all Newfoundlanders, went over the side and started rowing toward shore.

En route they were hailed by the collier Arthur Cross which offered to take them aboard. The Newfoundlanders cheerfully waded the collier on its way and put ashore near the village of Lingan. Each had blisters on his hands the size of half-dollars.

The Dorothy P. sailed Thursday evening from North Sydney carrying 150 tons of coal en route to Badger's Key, Bonaville, Nfld.

Other members of the crew were: Nauss Piercey, 37, the engineer and Vincent Savory, 40, the cook, both of Belleoram, and William Poole, 60, Philip Peeping, 28, and Clyde Poole, 31, of Corbin, Nfld.

The vessel was owned by the Lake and Lake Co. of Fortune, Nfld.

Two Jap Brides Sailing For Canada

OTTAWA, (CP)—Two more Japanese war brides and their Canadian soldier-husbands will leave the far east by ship for Canada June 17, the army said Friday.

Cpl. William Lee, 24, of Lethbridge Alta., married his bride, Mariko, at Hiro, Japan, in February, 1953. Cpl. Maurice Lortie, 20, of Lac Deslacs, Que., married the former Yoshiko Wakimoto at Kure, Japan, a month later.

Cpl. Lortie is a log driver before enlisting in the army, arrived in the Orient with the 2nd Battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment, in April, 1951, and has not been home since.

Tiny Tot Catches Up On Sleep After 65 Hours Wandering Lost In Woods

SOUTHWEST PORT MOUTON, N.S. (CP)—Little Tony Roy snuggled down between crisp white sheets in hospital at nearby Liverpool Friday to catch up on the sleep he missed while toddling alone and lost for 65 hours in woods near his home.

Tony, 2, was found early Friday by Francis Burgess who had taken a shortcut on his way to work along a path skirting a fishing village near this south shore fishing village.

Burgess heard someone sobbing quietly. He parted the underbrush and there Tony lay on his side, thumbing the tears out of his eyes with a grimy little hand. His arms and face bore dozens of tiny scratches from bushes and thorns.

Dr. S. Borden Bird of Liverpool examined the child and said he was suffering from exposure but would recover. He was taken to Queen's General Hospital at Liverpool to rest up.

MAKE NO HEADWAY

LONDON (Reuters)—The disarmament conference of the five major atomic powers met here Friday for the second time this week. Representatives of Canada, Britain, the United States, France and Russia met as a sub-committee of the United Nations disarmament commission. Little headway has been made and the meetings are expected to end soon.

EFFECTS LINGER

LONDON (Reuters)—The Montebello islands, where Britain exploded her first atom bomb in March, 1952, still is dangerously radio-active, an Australian Navy spokesman said Friday. Ships are barred from coming within 45 miles and protective clothing is needed to enter the area.

NATO Chief Says Use Of Nuclear Weapons Planned

GENEVA (Reuters)—Canada accused the communists Friday of making "sordid" and "distorted" charges against the United Nations.

In a speech to the 19-nation Korean conference, Chester Ronning, leader of the Canadian delegation, defended the UN Korea policy and also announced Canada's rejection of Soviet plans for Korean unification.

He told the conference that it would be better "squarely to face the facts of our disagreement and acknowledge them than to delude ourselves with false hopes."

Confidence should not, he said, be placed in the people of the world to believe there is agreement where there is no agreement.

The Dorothy P. sailed Thursday evening from North Sydney carrying 150 tons of coal en route to Badger's Key, Bonaville, Nfld.

Other members of the crew were: Nauss Piercey, 37, the engineer and Vincent Savory, 40, the cook, both of Belleoram, and William Poole, 60, Philip Peeping, 28, and Clyde Poole, 31, of Corbin, Nfld.

The vessel was owned by the Lake and Lake Co. of Fortune, Nfld.

TRANSPORT MINISTER DISCUSSES NEW WOOD ISLANDS AUTO FERRY

OTTAWA, June 11 (Special)—Mr. Chevrier told Charles Johnston, Social Credit member for Bow River that the P.E.I.-Nova Scotia ferry was being built exclusively for the movement of goods on trucks. Provision for trucks is being made not only on the P.E.I. ferry but on that from North Sydney to Port-aux-Basques and from Yarmouth to Bar Harbor.

Mr. Chevrier said the new auto ferry would be 345 feet long and would have space for 300 cars.

Later in the afternoon Mr. MacLean asked if the minister had not mistaken the P.E.I.—Nova Scotia ferry for the new vessel to ply between Yarmouth, N.S. and Bar Harbor, Maine. Smilingly, the minister confessed that such was indeed the case. Inadvertently, he had picked up the wrong sheet of paper for his reply. In his correction, Mr. Chevrier said the new Wood Islands-Caribou ferry would be 214 feet in length with width of 45 feet and a 10-foot draft, and it would carry 36 automobiles. The minister expressed the hope that it would go into service in the latter half of 1955.

To Mr. MacLean's question on who would operate the new auto ferry between Wood Islands and Caribou, Mr. Chevrier said this issue had not as yet been decided. It had been referred to the Canadian Maritime Commission for recommendation and a recommendation was expected shortly.

Says West Has Edge Over Red Bloc At Moment

OTTAWA (CP)—The west's military strategy is predicated on use of nuclear weapons in the event of war, Gen. Alfred Gruenther said Friday.

And, mainly because the west holds a preponderance of air power over Russia, it has an overall military advantage over the Communist bloc for the moment at least, the supreme commander of allied powers in Europe told a press conference.

Gen. Gruenther, announced that Air Vice-Marshal Frank R. Miller 46, vice-chief of the Canadian air staff, will become deputy and chief of staff to Gen. Lauri Forstad, commander of allied forces in Europe, Aug. 18. He will be promoted to the acting rank of Air Marshal.

FIRST CANADIAN

Miller, a native of Kamloops B.C., will be the first Canadian to hold such a high post in an international force. Gen. Gruenther said air power is the dominant factor in western defence planning and that Canada has special talent in this field.

The deeply-tanned, four-star general said the decision to employ nuclear weapons would be political, not military.

Though the west now held the upper hand over Russia, there was no guarantee this situation would continue, Russia was building up her European satellites and for that reason the North Atlantic Alliance needed more military forces.

NO FURTHER COMMITMENTS

NATO wanted these forces to come mainly from a rearmored Germany. Gen. Gruenther said he has not asked the Canadian government for increased military commitments in Europe.

Canada maintains an air division and infantry brigade in Europe and the government view is that this commitment is as large as the country can afford.

Gen. Gruenther said that if there (Continued on page 8, col. 6)

Elaborate Suicide Attempt Fails

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—An elaborately planned suicide attempt that included gunshot, fire, bludgeoning, asphyxiation and sleeping pills didn't get the job done, police said Friday.

They found Ralph Shubert, 24, Wednesday night with a bullet through his left lung—but alive.

Officers who listed it as an apparent attempted suicide said Shubert had:

USED MIXER

Clamped a .38 automatic pistol to an ironing board, which was fastened to a coffee table in the living room.

He pulled the trigger—set at full automatic so all seven shots would be pumped out—to a mixer in the kitchen.

Suspended two heavy sash weights over his head with a thread.

Poured gasoline over the rear porch and rug throughout the house.

Opened the gas jets on the kitchen stove.

Then, they said, Shubert ignited the gasoline, turned on the gas, raced into the living room after turning on the mixer and sat in front of the gun and under the sash weights. But:

ALL IN VAIN

The cord broke and only one shot fired. The weights, in dropping on his head, knocked his head out of the bullet's path so he was hit in the chest, a neighbor rushed in and put out the fire.

Officers said that as a preliminary Shubert had gulped a few sleeping pills.

TOO MUCH WORK

LONDON (Reuters)—Depressed when fellow janitors playfully dropped paper on the floor after he swept, 59-year-old Bill Durbridge committed suicide, his wife told an inquest here.

Chevrier To Don Kilts For Canso Causeway Opening

OTTAWA, June 11 (Special)—While his usual garb is either a blue or gray business suit, Transport Minister Chevrier is no stranger to the Scottish kilt. The minister made this clear when defending estimates of his department in the Commons Friday afternoon.

George Nowlan, Conservative, Digby-Annapolis-Kings, recalled the suggestion that at the opening of the new Canso causeway linking Cape Breton Island with the mainland of Nova Scotia, Mr. Chevrier and Clarrie Gillis, CCF member for Cape Breton South, should lead a procession of 100 pipers over the causeway, both wearing kilts.

Originally, it had been suggested that the procession of 100 pipers be led by the late Hon. Angus MacDonald, former Premier of Nova Scotia.

Replying to Mr. Nowlan, Mr. Chevrier said: "In regard to my honorable friend's suggestion let me tell him this. Nothing would please me more than to lead the pipers across the Strait in kilts. I would be perfectly at home in kilts because I am an officer in the Regiment, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders who wear kilts and I have worn a kilt on many occasions. Hence, if I receive an invitation, I will certainly join with my friend the member for Cape Breton South (Mr. Gillis) and any other honorable members who are there. Coming as I do from Stornoway and Glengarry, I think I can march to the tune of the bagpipes as smartly as can many of the members here."

When the minister fixed the time of completion of the Canso causeway for January 1, 1955, Mr. Nowlan interjected, "pretty cold for kilts." To this Mr. Chevrier agreed but intimated that the official opening could be put off until a littler later in the year.

Pilot Killed In Jet Fighter Crash

JOLIETTE, Que. (CP)—PO. D. R. Wright, 24, of Westmount, Que., was killed Friday when his RCAF Vampire jet fighter crashed on a mountain top 20 miles from here.

The plane was from 401 reserve City of Westmount squadron, based at St. Hubert near Montreal, P.Q. Wright had also been a co-pilot with TCA for a year.

CANADIAN APPOINTED TO KEY POST IN ALLIED AIR FORCES IN EUROPE

OTTAWA, (CP)—Air Vice-Marshal Frank R. Miller, 46, has been named to the No. 2 post in command of allied air forces in Europe. He will be promoted to the acting rank of Air Marshal.

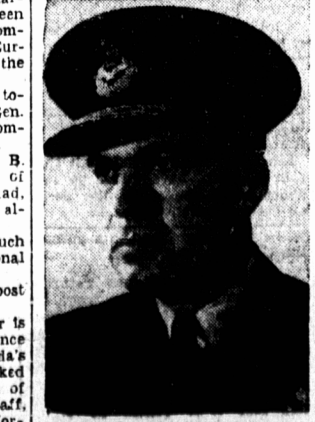

The announcement was made today at a press conference by Gen. Alfred Gruenther, supreme commander allied powers in Europe.

Miller, a native of Kamloops, B.C., will be deputy and chief of staff to U. S. Gen. Lauri Forstad, commander of North Atlantic allied air forces in Europe.

No Canadian has ever held such a high post in an international force.

Miller will take up his new post Aug. 18.

Gen. Gruenther said air power is the dominant factor in defence planning and because of Canada's talent in this field, he had asked Gen. Charles Foulkes, chairman of the Canadian joint chiefs of staff, to name an RCAF officer as Forstad's deputy.

Chevrier Discusses Chignecto Canal

OTTAWA, (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier said Friday it may be time to set up a new body to investigate the present feasibility of the proposed Chignecto Canal in the Maritimes.

Maritimers for more than a half century have been urging construction of the canal, which would link the Atlantic and the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and the St. Lawrence deep waterway with the St. Lawrence shipping trade between interior Canada and the Atlantic seaboard of the United States and South America.

The last formal report received by the government on the canal came in 1951 from the Turgeon Royal Commission on Transportation, which recommended against it. Later, Prime Minister St. Laurent said it was estimated the canal would cost more than $100,000,000.

Friday, Mr. Chevrier conceded to A. J. Brooks (PC—Royal) that the canal now seems a more practical proposition than at any time previously.

Brooks said it now is needed more than ever because the St. Lawrence deep waterway will stimulate shipping trade between interior Canada and the Atlantic seaboard of the United States and South America.

The canal, he said, would cut about 700 miles off that route and

"I think" Mr. Chevrier said, "the only way we could give it consideration would be through the establishment of a body to investigate it. I don't know if the time is opportune. Perhaps it is."

NOT ADJUNCT

However, Mr. Chevrier said the government has not been giving thought to building the canal as an adjunct to the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway, as House supporters of the project suggested.

The last formal report received by the government on the canal came in 1951 from the Turgeon Royal Commission on Transportation, which recommended against it. Later, Prime Minister St. Laurent said it was estimated the canal would cost more than $100,000,000.
