THE FINE POINT.

Our prices on all midsummer goods are down to the fine point. We have a splendid selection of summer Readymade Clothing for children, youths and men. Our prices on these are tempting rates, and we are having a very good catch, but our stock is a tremendous one and will require some pretty lively buying before it will be cleared out. Don't forget we are offering real inducements on all this class of goods, and it will pay you to inspect.

But Talk About Bates!

But the bates we offer in our Custom Tailoring Department are such that taste cannot resist. The finest and newest cloths, made up in a style that cannot be surpassed in America, and at the most reasonable prices are our drawing cards. Would you be togged out to the nines. Call here.

BARGAIN CORNER.

FIVE O'CLOCK TEA.
Originally a Light Repeat Order of Earl Hunting, Gilling, etc.

The original 5 o'clock tea arose in England from the fact that ladies and gentlemen after hunting required some slight refreshment before dressing for dinner, and used to meet for a little chat. This was used as a method of introducing a daughter and an ordinary way of entertaining.

The primal idea was a good one. People who had no money were enabled to show to their more opulent neighbors that they, too, had the spirit of hospitality. The doctors discovered that tea was healthy. English breakfast tea would keep one awake. The cup of tea and sandwich is a would spoil nobody's dinner. The ladies who began these entertainments, receiving modestly in plain dresses, were not out of tone with their guests, who came in walking dress.

A FATHER'S BRAVE DEED.
One of the most remarkable incidents of the big cyclone in Michigan was that in which Charles Bradley, of Thomas, proved himself an absolute hero. Bradley and his wife and their two children were sitting down to supper when the storm struck their house. The husband cried out to his wife to go into the house at once. She obeyed, and Bradley followed with the children. Mrs. Bradley was afraid that the lamp in the dining room might be overturned and set fire to the house. She went upstairs and extinguished the lamp, and on her return was about to place the children under a wash-tub when the crash came. "Put the babies down and bend over them!" cried Bradley. Mrs. Bradley did what she was told, and her husband protected her body with his own. The bricks and beams fell upon him and almost buried him in the debris, but he did not wince. When the damage was done Mrs. Bradley crawled out, and her husband followed her.

A REMARKABLE PHENOMENON.
CITY OF MEXICO July 23.—A remarkable phenomenon at the mine of Santos Reyes, in the state of Oajima, occurred yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. A tremendous explosion was heard and an enormous mass of burning matter was seen to fall from the heavens, striking the side of the mine and bringing down with it its entire entire cliff. It finally plunged into the ground, making a hole from which a boiling water issue. One of the most singular of the phenomena observed was the heavy rainfall immediately after the fall of the meteor. The people are very superstitious, as this is one of the many realizations of the prophecies of the vision-seeing girl of Tabasco. The same meteor destroyed the house of a miner, killing his two children.

Trye—Did you hear how shabbily Newcoaster treated his family physician? Biker—No; what did he do? Trye—Postponed paying the doctor's bill so that he could buy a wheel and become more vigorous.—Philadelphia North American.

Advice to Teachers.

A writer in the Atlantic Monthly for April has this most excellent advice to give to teachers: "A teacher does a better work only as he grows through experience, and as he broadens his mind by study and by intercourse with his fellowmen. First of all, the teacher needs to guard himself against the danger of not making acquaintances outside the school circle. He should seize every chance that offers itself to be social and excite sociability in those about him. He must not, out of an over-sensitiveness, believe it is his duty to have nothing to do with society. If the young teacher lives for himself alone after he leaves the school-room he will not, when success comes, find it easy to meet on an equal social footing people outside his own line of work."

"The teacher need not have the graces of a Lord Chesterfield, but as the instructor of boys and girls, he should possess good manners. Perfect self-possession, freedom from affectation, proper care for dress and the person, politeness and tact, are indispensable in the school-room that is to be a valuable training ground for the children of all social grades above the kindergarten. Often the home pays too little attention to the cultivation of politeness, but the school itself is responsible in a large measure. Teachers have here a valuable opportunity that they cannot afford to neglect; but how can they teach politeness if they are not themselves polite?"

"Further, to make their social status in all respect as dignified as that of the profession it is the duty of each teacher to avail himself of the unusual opportunities for self-cultivation that this calling offers. Art, literature, and history should be regarded by him not alone from a teacher's, but from a student's point of view."

The Spiral Slide.

A novel form of tubbing chute has been designed by a Canadian engineer. He proposes to construct a slide which will give the boys and girls of the Dominion an opportunity of tobogganing all year around. The structure is a spiral, 50 feet high, and 60 feet in diameter at the base, with a spiral track winding around it from top to bottom. On this track runs the sleigh which carries the coaster, the tendency of the spiral action being counteracted by an outer super-elevated rail, so that it hugs the cone all the way down, and the rapid rush down this exaggerated curve can be taken without fear of a jerk.

When the rider reaches the bottom, he enters through a door leading into the interior of the cone, in which is a spiral staircase, which leads him again to the starting point at the top. For summer use, the sleigh will be furnished with rollers instead of runners.

What He Was Doing.

Into an alley on Fifth street, between Jefferson and Market, a young fellow who had the appearance of a country haysword wandered yesterday and stood near the entrance, gazing up at the show bills, reading them aloud and spelling them about as he read. He attracted the attention of the passers-by, who gathered around him and commenced gazing him. He stood it pretty well for awhile, and suddenly faced about in reply to a query as to what he was doing, and said to his questioner: "I've just bin waiting to see how long a gentleman could stand here and mind his own business before some durned fool would ask him what he was a-doin'." He then quietly walked up the street.

"Why Some Succeed"

The shrewd advertiser is the one who knows how, when and where to advertise. The merchants who advertise in THE EXAMINER are not the men to make mistakes, as you can see for yourself. But you may get the benefit of their experience by watching how, when and where they advertise. Some papers pay advertisers, some do not; only a few pay, and they can be picked out by the large amount of advertising they do.

Sour Stomach

Stomach, sometimes called waterbrash, and burning pain, distress, nausea, dyspepsia, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This it accomplishes because with its wonderful power as a blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla gently tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, invigorates the liver, creates an appetite, gives refreshing sleep, and raises the health tone. In cases of dyspepsia and indigestion it seems to have a magic touch.
