

SHADDUP ALREADY.....AND LISTEN

An accusation frequently levelled against young people which may or may not be true is that they are afraid of quiet. Psychologists have speculated on the phenomenon of teenage and early-twenty addicts to loud, extremely loud, music. Some are of the opinion that the advantage, say, of a hopelessly noisy Pig is that it obviates the necessity of intelligent conversation....of talking and listening to others about matters just a little more profound than beer temperatures.

We need quiet. We need silence. Not continually, certainly, but at certain intervals in the day and in the week. Why? Simply to listen. Listen to ourselves, hear ourselves think, to sort out our feelings and draw a quiet breath or two. We need to reflect. Almost a truism now but still true: "The unreflect-ed life is not worth living." We need to know where we are going. We need to know why we are going.

A quiet time in the day or several times throughout the week affords us the opportunity for a peaceful review of the events (and our response to these events) in our lives. Quiet will help us analyze our emotional reactions and get at the real why of them. Morbid navel gazing? Rather, healthy compass watching.

Two rooms in the new Chaplaincy Centre, the Meditation Room and the Blessed Sacrament Chapel, are available to all - students, staff and faculty who might feel the need of a little period of quiet once in a while. Available to everyone. Even agnostics have to get it all together once in a while. The quiet area of the Chaplaincy Centre affords this opportunity.

TD Bank recruiting on campus November 4th.

CONSIDER A FUTURE WITH US:

You'll be well trained. We're ready to invest time and money in turning you into a skilled banker. (TD's innovative training programs are pace-setters in the financial industry).

You'll have ample room for promotion. The banking business is healthy and growing and TD needs fresh talent for future management positions.

You'll have career choices on the way up. Although opportunities are most plentiful in branch management, administration and credit, your banking career can include rewarding assignments in a variety of support areas such as financial planning, marketing, personnel and internal audit.

You'll be part of an organization that understands the graduate. (Our track record speaks for itself - graduates of recent years are found throughout our management structure).

Come talk to us. See your Placement Office for interview details.

Confederation Centre Boys' Choir

Confederation Centre Boys' Choir is scheduled to perform at a major Charlottetown convention just after their return from a 16-day tour in Bermuda.

The annual meeting of the Atlantic Truckers' Association will host members of the Choir during a luncheon Saturday, October 22 at the Charlottetown Hotel.

Choir Director Mark LeRoux said that the program would consist of secular music.
