"Betty, The Girl O' My Heart" was presented by the Georgetown players in Heatherdale Hall on July 19, to a large and appreciative audience.

Rev. A. C. Fraser, Valleyfield, capably acted as chairman, and introduced the cast of characters: Marie, the maid; Mrs. Charles Fraser; Mrs. Jenkins the Housekeeper; Mrs. Spurgeon Walker; Martin, the Butler; Mrs. Spurgeon Walker; Mrs. Peter Graves; Mrs. George White; Elizabeth, Mrs. Nelson Hanson; Betty; Lavinia Llewellyn; Jerry Carmichael; Charles Fraser; Mr. Peter Graves; (Rev.) W. A. Patterson.

The characters knew their lines well, and each act moved on quickly and smoothly.

Mrs. Jenkins and Martin have long been in the employ of the Frasers; Marie, enduring the haughty, socialism of Mrs. Graves and her daughter, Elizabeth, who finally by their extravagance caused the financial downfall of Mr. Graves.

Monday night was the ninth performance, the play having already been presented at Elmira, Georgetown, Morrell, Powna, Cardigan, Murray River, Murray Harbour and Bridgetown.

It is a good play, well presented, with an excellent cast of characters, providing an evening of good entertainment. Piano music between acts was well received. Sandwiches and cold drinks were

She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses, and her only ornaments were a pearl necklace and matching earrings, a gift of the groom. She carried on her arm a white orion topper.

NEW CASTLE, N.B. (CP)—Aylmer Glidden, 50-year-old murder suspect from Millbank, refused to answer police questions Monday regarding his escape last week from Northumberland county jail.

He is reported to have told RCMP that a saw had been handed to him through the window of his ground-floor cell, but he would not divulge the names of the persons who helped him or details of the escape.

RCMP Inspector J. A. A. Thivierge of Fredericton said Glidden refused to answer questions and he was not pressed.

Glidden is charged with the June 3 knife-slaying of his sister Mrs. Mary Russell following a drinking party near his one-room cottage five miles from Newcastle. Mrs. Russell's son, Floyd, 22, was also injured in the fracas. Glidden is scheduled to appear Oct. before the Queen's Bench division of the Supreme Court.

He made his escape last Tuesday night when he sawed out a bar in his cell window, wriggled through a hole 7 1/2 inches by 16 inches, and dropped six feet to the ground. He is a slight agile man weighing about 135 pounds.

He was found in a clump of bushes near Millbank Thursday evening by the police dog "Silver," brought down from Moncton for the search.

Claim Sadhus Holy Men Sacrifice Human Victims

CALCUTTA (Reuters) — Orissa state police have reported finding heavy layers of human bloodstains on a sacrificial altar in a monastery near Cuttack.

Reports reaching here Monday said that this apparently suggested that the Sadhus (holy men) had sacrificed human victims for many years.

Police are combing the monastery for evidence against the group of naked Sadhus who fought a pitched battle with them July 29.

The reports said a sacrificial stone hidden in the richly-furnished bedroom of the 70-year-old high priest, Paglababa, was "inches thick" with congealed blood. Scrapings had been sent for analysis.

A description of the monastery was given for the first time in the reports.

They said the monastery outwardly resembled a fortress more than a place of worship.

Immediately behind a buttressed entrance were sentry posts. In the central courtyard was a practice ground where Sadhus tested their skill with sword, dagger and bow.

The monastery's main arsenal, housing a variety of deadly weapons, was located in a maze of underground tunnels, which also housed the living quarters of the Sadhus and their beautiful young captive girls, with connecting passages between them.

A "temple of love" where the Sadhus indulged in barbaric sex rites with the "love slaves" stood on the picturesque wooded grounds on the banks of the Mahanadi river.

The orgies were performed in the "belief" that the only way to be cleansed of human desires and attain piety was to satiate themselves with "sins of the flesh."

They found nine young women huddled in the labyrinth.
