DR. AYEPS

Beecher's Witty Retort.

Justin McCarthy, in his "Reminiscences," tells this story of Henry Ward Beecher:

"I met Beecher during my first visit to America, and I heard him preach in the temple of his ministrations, the Plymouth church, in Brooklyn. Beecher's style as a preacher was more like that of a century or two ago than like the style of our own more refined or more conventional days. He never thought it beneath himself or his calling to say an amusing thing in one of his sermons if the thought came up appropriately in his mind. He had a way when he entered his church on the Sunday of taking up any letters which might be addressed to him there, and he sometimes opened one of these and read it out to the congregation and made it a text on which to hang a discourse.

"One day he opened such a letter, and he found that it contained the single word 'Pool.' He mentioned the fact to his congregation and then quietly added, 'Now I have known many an instance of a man writing a letter and forgetting to sign his name, but this is the only instance I have ever known of a man signing his name and forgetting to write the letter.'"

Easily Recognized.

Charles Dickens delighted to tell stories of John Forster, the writer and editor with whom he was much associated. Mr. Forster had so peremptory and so decisive a manner that it impressed all who came in contact with him. His servants were kept in perfect and almost abject submission to his wishes, and yet he showed many kindnesses to them, and they were greatly attached to him.

The story runs that on one occasion a cabman called at the printing office and was unable to give the name of the person who had ordered him to come at a certain hour, without fail.

The office porter asked for a description of his fare, and the cabman stated that he was "a stout gentleman." To this the porter replied that there were several stout gentlemen in the office and inquired whether this one was tall or short.

"I don't know which you'd call him," returned the cabman. "I don't take special notice; but there can't be two like him; he's that there harbitrary cove!"

The porter summoned Mr. Forster without hesitation and found he had made no mistake. When the story leaked out, nobody enjoyed it more than the "harbitrary cove" himself.

School Girls' Nerves

Many a pale, weak school girl, suffering the evil effects of an exhausted nervous system, and thin, watery blood, has been fully restored to the vigor and buoyancy of robust health, by using A. W. Chase's Nerve Food. The beautiful glow on the cheek and the brightness in the eye tell of the building-up process which is taken place in the body.

MESSRS CC RICHARDS & Co.

GENTLEMEN,—I fell from the bridge leading from a platform to a loaded car while assisting my men in unloading a load of grain. The bridge went down as well as the load on my back, and I struck on the ends of the sleepers, causing a serious injury to my leg. Only for its being very fleshy, would have broken it. In an hour could not walk a step. Commenced using MINARD'S LINIMENT, and the third day went to Montreal on business and got about well by the use of a cane. I can sincerely recommend it as the best liniment that I know of in use.

Yours truly,

Weary of Experimenting

With salves, suppositories and ointments and dreading a surgical operation, scores and hundreds have turned to Dr. A. W. Chase's ointment and found it an absolute cure for pile. The first application brings relief from the terrible itching, and it is very seldom that more than one box is required in effect a permanent cure.
