THE DAILY EXAMINER.

DECEMBER 5, 1893.

FIRST DISTRICT OF KING'S

Good news comes to us from this district. Large gains are reported from almost every part of it, and the prospects of electing two Opposition candidates seem very good.

THE DEBENTURE DISTRICT.

It is pleasing to learn from well informed sources, that the prospects of Messrs. Bentley and McCabe are excellent. Unless foul play be resorted to the Leader of the Opposition and his colleague are, it is said, "certain of victory."

DEALING IN LIBELS.

The Patriot is circulating false and libellous reports concerning "the unscrupulous money-making principles of Mr. Martin."

IS THIS ANOTHER BLUNDER—OR WHAT?

We are informed by a reliable correspondent that there is no notice whatever in the Returning Officer's proclamation of the election in the Fourth District of Prince County, of a polling place to be held in Lot 27 at Kinkora.

THE FIRST DISTRICT OF QUEEN'S

It is very pleasing to learn that Hon. Mr. Campbell and Mr. McLeod are making a gallant fight, with excellent prospects of success.

THE DEBENTURE MATTER.

There is in the Weekly Patriot an attempt to explain away the discrepancy in the debenture statement. The explanation afforded is that the $7,374.24 is "only an estimate."

TRACADIE!

The Patriot gives us "good news" a report of the meeting held at Tracadie on Saturday evening. The fact is, as we are credibly informed, that a very large majority—some say seven-eighths—of the electors present, were in favor of Blake and Stewart.

TWO POINTS TO BE NOTED.

We were shown yesterday a "special vote" in favor of gerrymandered candidates, filled up and ready for signature, about which two points are to be noted:

1st—It was struck off on the Government mimeograph (a sort of printing machine under control of Premier Peters) at the public expense.

2nd—It was sent to an employe of the railway, to be used when voting for the Government candidates!

THE TWO HEADINGS.

The Examiner referred yesterday to a letter of the Patriotic Association of the Hon. Daniel Gordon. In the town of Inverness this letter was headed "Georgetown District."

But in the Eastern edition it appeared, we are informed, under the more euphonious heading of "LETTER FROM THE DASHLEY LEADER!"

In both editions it was dated "Ch'town." The writer of the letter refers to this name as "Hon. Daniel Davies" and others as "men," it may be said, politically his superiors—"i. e., superiors of Mr. Gordon, whom he calls 'an old Tory Fossil!'"

Assuming that the first heading was the right heading, this writer has, evidently, a good opinion of himself. Why did he not then and there give his opinion as to the propriety of family compact, and two brothers running in the same election?

A MISUNDERSTANDING.

A MISUNDERSTANDING has evidently arisen as to the terms of an agreement between Messrs. Blake and Davies.

We have no doubt that Mr. Davies sincerely believes that an unfair advantage was taken of the public money by Messrs. Blake and Davies. We know that they are the last men to do so intentionally.

We feel sure that Mr. Davies will, when the heat of the election is passed, regret his charge of a violation of good faith.

The agreement was, we believe, made at the street corner and was verbal. Under these circumstances it is not wonderful that one or other of the parties misapprehended the exact meaning of the law.

Such agreements should always be reduced to writing as it is that of the city candidates to use neither money nor liquor in this election.

The rumor that Mr. Davies, having spoken at Montague Bridge, would speak at Mount Stewart is current in this city, and that Senator Ferguson expected to meet Mr. Davies there. We have the fullest assurance.

So far from desiring to avoid Mr. Davies, we feel certain that nothing would give Senator Ferguson greater pleasure than to meet him before the electors and expose his fallacies. It was reported that Mr. Davies would speak at the Windsor Road meeting, and Senator Ferguson was there, though it is the strong hold of the grit party in the district.

Regrettable as the misunderstanding is, the question of a verbal agreement made at the street corner is altogether apart from the issue before the people. Upon this issue the people are well pleased to have information whether from Senator Ferguson or from Mr. Davies; but the people have nothing to do with the private agreements or understandings of the politicians.

THE GOVERNOR OF NEW BRUNSWICK—DEAD.

It is with regret that I read of this event today. One of the foremost men of New Brunswick has passed away.

He was one who was fond of his Province and of the Dominion in general, and who also always led in general with those who led forward to the greatness of this great Dominion. A great advocate of Confederation and the uniting of the Empire in one great national power which he believed would be the great arbiter of the world as well as a great friend to the people of this Dominion.

His geniality, his fund of anecdote, his great talents of imitation, and his great kindness made him a welcome friend, a pleasant traveling companion, and one whose friendship, once won, never changed under any circumstances.

The writer had the good fortune to make his acquaintance during a business trip to the Atlantic during the year 1861, and it was continuous ever since, he had a letter from him dating but a short time ago. Out of this chance acquaintance arose business transactions amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars. During this long business period, business had its ups and downs with the writer; but yet his confidence remained unshaken to the end.

Many merchants in this Province, whom I had the pleasure of introducing to him, recognize in this writing how much they owe to this large-hearted, industrious and painstaking business man, whose sympathy, advice and assistance was always at their call, providing they had once won his confidence.

Without being connected in any way other than by political and commercial ties, the writer sincerely regrets his death, and feels that he has lost one of the kindest of friends—the noblest man, taking him all in all, for the opportunities which he had, that those Maritime Provinces have ever known, and, in closing, begs to tender to his bereaved wife the sympathies of a sincere friend.

G. W. HOWLAND, Charlottetown Dec. 4th, 1893.

"An Irish-Canadian," in the country, writes to THE EXAMINER: "I am pleased to see that you have chosen a countryman of mine for the city—one who is more than likely to come out victorious, and one who will do credit to the city and the Province as well."

MEETING AT BRADALBANE.

Campbell and McLeod Making a Splendid Canvass.

The Bradalbane hall was crowded last night. The meeting was called by Messrs. Sinclair and Warburton.

Mr. Warburton was the first to address the electors. His remarks lacked vigor and spirit, but he made up in length for all defects. He discussed the Land Office, the gerrymander, the Amalgam on Bill, and gave extracts from the Government's action in each. He threw some sound light on Mr. Peters' brilliant sinking fund arrangement, but failed. His remarks fell flat.

He was followed by Mr. McLeod, who for a number of minutes made a splendid speech. Mr. McLeod is well posted on public affairs, and his deliberate, forcible speaking in a quiet, effective way, was very telling. He criticized the speech of Mr. Warburton and the conduct of the Government. He said that Warburton and Sinclair were in Peters' hands as clay in the hands of the potter, and were willing and ready to follow Peters through everything, no matter how infamous.

Mr. Sinclair followed in a "positively last appearance," as a candidate for parliament honors. He lacks in a great many ways the qualities of a great orator, but he has a keen eye for a keen eye, and a quick tongue. He appeared before the public for the last time at the stated meeting with greatest punctuality. He, in former years, was able to criticize the action of the Government. He was then in opposition. When he came to defend he said quite another thing. Then he was quite critical; now he is all apology, and the burden of his time was that the Government was not doing well, not nearly so well as they were made out to be.

Hon. Mr. Campbell, the old hero, followed in a slashing speech of about an hour and a half. He fairly mopped the floor with Sinclair. He pointed out that Sinclair had followed him through the district in 1886, and slandered him with all sorts of misrepresentation and abuse. But since then he had got into a dollar that he had misappropriated. But he said that the Public Works now was run simply as a boondoggling machine, and that the public money being squandered to corrupt the electorate. Mr. Sinclair, when taunted by Mr. McLeod that the Government dare not bring down the public accounts before Parliament, he said that Mr. McLeod only displayed his ignorance and inexperience of parliamentary usage, and that it was against law to bring down the Government accounts except before Parliament.

Hon. Mr. Campbell pointed out that the law was now such that the public accounts could be published at any time and in any place. He pointed out that while Sinclair went through the district with a sycophantic air, putting himself up as being straightforward and honest, he showed himself to be both dishonest and ignorant. Hon. Mr. Campbell showed up the hypocrisy of Peter, who he said was the Government, and when this petty tyrant snatched the whip the rest of the crew stood aloof.

The meeting was strongly in favor of the Opposition candidates who appear to be gaining every day, and their election is almost certain.

POLITICAL MEETINGS.

First District of King's.

The Candidates for the First District of King's County will meet the Electors of the following places:—

West Point—Friday, Dec. 8th, at 2 p. m.

West River Hall—Saturday, 9th, at 2 p. m.

J. B. Pace Tolacco Co., Richmond, Virginia; and Montreal, Canada.

AN OPEN LETTER TO P. BLAKE, ESQ.

Sir,—In the face of the agreement you and I made that neither Senator Ferguson nor I would attend any of your political meetings without due notice to the other, I confess I was surprised and indignant to learn that the Senator attended the Mount Stewart meeting and addressed it at length.

My indignation was increased from the fact that I had passed through Mount Stewart the same evening by rail, but had felt myself bound under my agreement with you to decline the pressing invitation of some political friends I met on the railway platform to stay for the meeting, though they made no reference to Mr. Ferguson.

The story that Senator Ferguson was on the platform at the same time may be true—I cannot say. I neither saw him nor had any idea he was there. If he saw me and never let me know his intention to speak at the meeting, his conduct was truly reprehensible. I left Mount Stewart not having had any notice of his intention to speak there; and under the circumstances, I was justified in regarding his presence as a violation of good faith.

Yours truly,

L. H. DAVIES.

GENERAL TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

LOXDOX, Dec. 3.—The Canadian Gazette, in a leading article to-day, comments Sir John Thompson's elevation to the Imperial Privy Council, says his presence in London would be of the highest advantage to increasing their usefulness in dealing with Canadian questions that come up for decision. Daily informed a correspondent that the reports received by the department show that the United States officials have not rejected any immigrants either at Halifax or Quebec. No papers, criminals or cripples from Europe will be allowed to land in Canada. If any are brought to our shores, the steamship companies will be compelled to take them back.

LOXDOX, Dec. 3.—A dispatch from Meshed says that the town of Kuchan, in northern Persia, a brief history of the destruction of which by earthquake has been told, is a heap of ruins. Not a house is standing in the place. The recovery of the bodies of those who perished in the disaster is proceeding. The color from the putrefying remains is horrible. The dispatch adds that the shocks were preceded by loud reports in the hills west of the town. The shocks continue in the place where the town stood last night. Investigation shows that the villages in the neighboring country have suffered little damage from the shocks. Communication is suspended. A project to build a new town on the site eastward of the old site is being discussed.
