LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE BOODLER IN TROUBLE AGAIN. Sir,—On Saturday evening, leaving Haggarty's wharf, the Boodler undertook to tow a schooner down to Charlottetown, and as a consequence collided with another schooner lying at Hickey's wharf, tearing away four of her cabin windows, and carrying away part of her bulwarks. Four miles further down she grounded and the schooner in tow collided with her, carrying away her foregigging. The "Boodler" lay in this position for two hours. Now, Mr. Editor, who is to blame? It cannot be Capt. McPherson, for he is now at his home in Point Prim. It surely cannot be our post captain of thirteen years' experience. Are our Government ferry boats allowed to act as tuggers, too, when we have three tug-boats lying idle at our wharves? OSLOOKER.

PERSONAL.

Hon. William Richards, Bideford, was registered at the Hotel Davies last evening. Mr. Longhran, of the Savings Bank, returned from a very pleasant holiday trip to the neighboring provinces.

Mr. Percy W. Carver, law student, who left for Boston on Monday to prosecute his studies there, has been obliged to return home owing to ill health.

VERNON RIVER BRIDGE NOTES.

The school at Vernon River Bridge is nearly completed. Miss Lizzie Irving, an efficient and painstaking young teacher, will take charge of the senior department. The trustees are Dr. Ross and Messrs. Joseph McDonald and Thomas Furness.

The hotel here is kept by Mrs. Finlay. Mrs. Finlay presides over as good a table as can be met with or desired. Mr. D. McDonald is doing a rushing business. We hope to see even more successful in the future than he has been in the past.

Cheese making here has been a great success this season. Miss Clara McDonald, student of the Prince of Wales College, returned to Charlottetown on Monday, having spent Thanksgiving holidays here. We wish Miss McDonald every success, as she is one of Vernon River's brightest and most energetic young ladies.

Taxes, taxes, taxes! The abominations of Grid rule. OBSERVER. Vernon River Bridge, Nov. 29, 1894.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 28.—The members of the Goodridge Government have decided to remain in office until the meeting of the Legislature in February. It is admitted that the Whitely party would be unable to raise a loan of $1,500,000, and as failure to float it would result in disaster to the colony, the Government feel that no other alternative is possible for them, but to remain in power and extricate the country from financial embarrassment.
