

The clerk of the course is a very essential figure at every race track although the occupant of the office is seldom seen. Yet the clerk of the course is very much a part of racing and is always in the judges' stand on race days.

Mrs. Ida Yeo holds that position at the Charlottetown track, and this is the seventh year that she has officiated and the twenty-third year that she has been employed in some capacity at the Driving Park during Exhibition Week. Mrs. Yeo maintains all the records of each day's events and indeed of every race down to the last detail. A copy of her report on a prepared form goes forward to the United States Trotting Association headquarters at Columbus, Ohio, after the meet is over. Because of her long experience, Mrs. Yeo is of great assistance to the judges.

It looks like a lot for a little girl, but this youngster at the Exhibition yesterday did not take long to eat her "candied wool."

ENGAGEMENT—The engagement is announced of Gladys Wilena Reid, Murray Harbour North, to Cephas Ellsworth Davy, Gasperaux, Marriage to take place August 31 at 4 o'clock Standard Time at Riverview Tourist Home, Lower Montague, P. E. I.

VISITED UNCLE—Mr. Harry A. Venio, prominent Pictou lawyer, accompanied by his wife and son Stewart, recently visited his uncle, Mr. Willard MacLean, Mrs. MacLean and family on Peter's Road. They also visited Mrs. Venio's relatives at Peter's Road, Mr. William J. MacLean, Mrs. Bessie Graham, and friends in the vicinity. While in Montague they were the guests of Mrs. Venio's uncle, Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean and family.

to the horse owners and horse-men generally.

The P. E. I. Fish and Game Association booth at the Exhibition made a hit with Premier A. W. Matheson. During his visit he expressed appreciation to Mr. Stewart Jones, one of the Fish and Game officials, for the fine display of game and wild life in the booth.

The Premier's approval is echoed by several thousand other citizens whose attention was captured by the well arranged exhibit. It may be helpful to P. E. I. Fish and Game Association for the public to know that the booth and its exhibits are costing considerable money. To defray expenses this non-profit-making organization is selling membership tickets in the Association, and hopes to break even on the present publicity venture. All of the workers at the booth are volunteers and all of them have worked very hard to make the exhibit possible.

When Col. D. A. MacKinnon, the Dean of the Charlottetown race track, wins a heat with one of his horses, the stands always respond with an ovation. The public does not forget that he has been a great figure in the racing game for more than forty years and he is always a great competitor. The Colonel is probably the best known personality at the track.

Mr. H. J. Kennedy, manager of the Big Show estimated that 8,000 people saw the vaudeville acts on Tuesday. The new Jones Arena was well filled twice on that day. The building is being put to several uses and is a popular meeting place for people attending the fair. Its popularity is growing every day.

When Claude O'Brien won his race yesterday afternoon with the pacer Jimmy Flood, the Charlottetown man for whom the horse was named must have felt proud if he was present. The horse is owned by the celebrated Joe O'Brien, winning driver in the recent Hambletonian, the greatest classic in the harness race world. Mr. James Flood's daughter, as is known to most people who move in horse circles is the wife of the famous Joe. In winning the event yesterday with Jimmy Flood, Claude O'Brien gave him a mastery drive and it is not the first time that Claude has shown some of the O'Brien magic in handling a horse.

Some people were disappointed about Tuesday night's Free-For-All because Bay State Pat, in short of the track record. But experienced horsemen hold that it requires warm weather to bring out the best in a horse, and Tuesday night was distinctly on the chilly side.

The track-wise people are predicting that Bay State Pat and the rest of the fast ones will give the old record (2:05 1/4) a better run for it at the Invitation Pace on Saturday. This is, of course, presupposing that the day is warm and mild. Most certainly Bay State Pat, in his present form, can easily beat the time of 2:07 3/5 that he made Tuesday night. In every heat on Tuesday evening he trailed his field by five or six lengths, entering the first turn of the track, and from there he started much faster than that officially announced. His trainer and driver, James MacGregor, rated him to a split second, and never really made his move until the three-quarter
