VOLUNTEER SERVICES

The chairman of Volunteer Services, Mrs. L.E. Prowse, of Charlottetown, spoke on her organization, stating that Red Cross volunteers are truly the public relations department of the organization. She stated that 97 per cent of the work done by the Red Cross is accomplished by volunteers and the organization was only as strong as the sum total of its branches. The only requisite for a volunteer, she said, is the desire to help others. The provincial commissioner, Daphne Arsenault, also spoke briefly. The chairman of the Y's Men's Swimming and Water Safety Committee, sponsored by the Summerside Y's Men's Club, Don MacEachern, reported on the work done by his committee. He stated that 109 persons had registered for the first water safety and swimming classes this year. He felt however, that the turnout would have been greater had it not been for the inclement weather on the day of registration. He hoped that another registration date would be set for this first class.

Celebration Mass Held In Kinkora

A Mass of Concelebration was celebrated Sunday morning at St. Malachy's church in Kinkora when Rev. John Trainor said his first mass in his boyhood parish church, with his brothers Rev. Lorne and Rev. Emmett as co-celebrants. All three are members of the Jesuit Order. They received their training at St. Regis College, Willowdale, Ontario. Rev. Arthur Pendergast, Borden, preached the sermon. The parish priest, Rev. Harold Croken, spoke a brief and paid warm tribute to the young priest, to his father Joseph Trainor and to the other members of the family. In addition to the three priests there are two nuns from the same Trainor family. They are Sister Helen Joseph (Teresa) and Sister Elizabeth of the Child Jesus, who was Nora Trainor. George Leach, a seminarian (student) at St. Regis College, Toronto, was the commentator whose explanations of various parts of the solemn ceremony added greatly to the enlightenment of the people who filled the beautiful old church. A presentation was made on behalf of the parish to Father John at the close of the Mass by Gerald McCarville. The accompanying address was read by Ralph Duffy. Yesterday afternoon and evening many hundreds of visitors, as guests at the traditional reception, came to greet the new priest, his brothers and their father, Joseph, at the home of George M. Trainor, Shamrock.

Quebec Govt. Departments Claimed In 'Terrible Mess'

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Daniel Johnson said Friday his ministers report various government departments are disorganized and "in a terrible state." Part of the reason was a strike of 1,600 government-employed professionals, who walked off their jobs May 9. This strike must be settled within 15 days if a riotous situation is not to develop, he said. Roger D'Almeida, government mediator dealing with the professionals' strike, was to have made a report to the premier Friday, but could not because he was called in as a mediator in the strike of 5,000 employees of the Dominion Textile Co. Mr. Johnson said he did not know when there would be a report made on the professionals' strike. The professionals—biologists, agronomists, engineers and others—now earn an average of $8,000 a year and seek $2,000 more. Mr. Johnson also said he had heard that in a judicial recount the Union Nationale candidate in Rouville, Yvon Hamel, had been declared elected, upsetting the official count decision which had given the seat to Liberal Francois Bonais with a two-vote majority. OBJECTIONS RAISED There are objections being raised to the judicial recount result, but if it is maintained, the gain of one seat by the Union Nationale will increase its total to 56 and drop the Liberal opposition to 50 members. Two independents round out the 106-seat house. Mr. Johnson also reported that he had been told by Fernand Lafontaine, minister of public works, that he had received a report on the long-missing statue of former Union Nationale premier Maurice Duplessis. The statue, ordered after Mr. Duplessis' death by his successor, disappeared shortly after its completion during the 1960 government changeover from the Union Nationale to Liberal hands. Asked whether he would set up the statue once it was recovered, Mr. Johnson said, "Do you think that is a priority?" The premier also said he hoped to change the "unbelievably bad" conditions under which Quebec legislators press gallery reporters have to work.

Artist Quits Teaching Job

VANCOUVER (CP)—Artist Jack Shadbolt is quitting teaching because he likes it too much. The 37-year-old man, one of Canada's best-known painters, says he is going to devote his time to his art. Mr. Shadbolt, who has taught at the Vancouver School of Art for 35 years, says: "I'm not quitting teaching because I don't like it, but because I like it too much." The constant discussion of ideas while teaching is too deflecting, I just want to lock the door and concentrate." He says he has been the beneficiary of years as a teacher—"everything I've learned about art has been by teaching it." Teaching was part of a deliberately planned pattern Mr. Shadbolt set for himself years ago. Through it he earned enough to be able to paint without the "chaos" of worrying about money. "I decided there was enough chaos in the ideas of art and I wanted a steady pattern for my life."

Wheat Harvest Good In China

HONG KONG (Reuters)—An excellent winter wheat harvest is being reaped in the rural areas around Peking, the New China news agency reported Sunday. The total area under wheat in communes around the Chinese capital was greater this year than last year, and crops had been growing well despite the dry spell through the winter. The agency said. "Since June 16, large numbers of army men, responding to the call sent out by the party and Chairman Mao Tse-Tung, have been volunteering to help gather the wheat harvest in the area," it said. "They are developing the glorious tradition of the people's liberation army. The army is not only a fighting force, it is also a working force."

Props Supervisor Reports Progress

Joanne Hall, Confederation Centre Theatre props supervisor, reports that Islanders are pitching right in to help her find furniture and hundreds of other items for the Summer Festival "of music and laughter." Already donated for appearance in "Ottawa Man" is a magnificent moosehead, the property of Mrs. Claud Ives of Summerside, and a settee from Mrs. Cleve Craswell. Mrs. Hall is now hunting for an old hall coatrack—the kind that has a seat attached with a mirror over it—but with the help of several Charlottetown women who have formed an informal "props committee," it should be fairly easy to find. The props supervisor is receiving "scrubbing assistance" from Barbara Rogers, an active member of the Little Theatre Guild, and Velma Hooper, who is going to sew the special table cloth used in Marilla's kitchen in the Green Gables set. Mrs. Eddy Morrison is lending her lovely old patchwork quilts again this year for "Anne of Green Gables." Mrs. Hall says: "These quilts are particularly suitable for the job because they are a matched pair (the director called for a duplicate bed for Anne, downstage)." Mr. Bill Hancock, who does welfare work in the meetings, has taken up the task of begging and borrowing Victorian furniture for "The Ottawa Man." The setting for this is the mayor's parlour in a small town in Manitoba, year 1870. "We have promised Mrs. Hancock that everything borrowed will be treated with TLC (tender loving care) and returned in exactly the same condition in which we receive it," Mrs. Hall says. Construction of some props is now underway backstage. Responsible for this is props master Dann Elliott, who arrived at the theatre from Montreal Thursday.

Neighbors Organize Fund

Neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Shesidon Beaton, Alexandria, who lost their home and all of their belongings in a flash fire recently, have organized a collection fund. Fred Horne, Pownal merchant has consented to act as general treasurer. The Gracie Hudson and Ernest McCabe two of the organizers. The collections are well underway in some areas, they are just getting underway in others. The areas involved include Southport, Cross Roads, Hazelbrook, Mt. Mellick, Pownal, Cherry Valley and Earncliffe. In addition to their household furnishings and their clothing and other belongings, the Beaton's also lost their wedding presents. "Mrs. Beaton had recently returned from the hospital with her newly born child, and had been staying at the home of Mr. Beaton's parents who live nearby. Mrs. Beaton is the daughter of the late Rev. C.W. Passey who preached several years in the Hazelbrook charge."

Here's what Tom took to market... Seventy tons of telephone poles... forty-eight tons of soup... sixty automobiles... and sixty-four tons of gas. Thirty-two refrigerators... ninety tons of steel... fifty-three tons of cauliflowers... three grandfather clocks and four hundred and forty-six tons of salt. And that's only part of a typical freight train. Empty it out and you get a mountain of goods. We run 145 freight trains every day. For a 99-million ton mountain in '65. More than any other carrier in Canada. Much more. And we're constantly looking for ways to move that mountain faster. By running a better railway.
