

Senate Reading Room
OTTAWA
Job Printing Rooms,
LONDON HOUSE, QUEEN STREET.
Job Printing of all kinds at short notice.
Billheads, Letterheads, Notepaper, Pamphlets,
Books, Posters, Dodgers, etc.

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

For neat, clean, tasteful Printing, and prompt attention to orders, THE EXAMINER Job Printing Department is peculiar. Don't forget it.

TERMS:—FIVE DOLLARS A YEAR. "This is true Liberty, when Free Born Men, having to advise the Public, may speak free."—EURYPIDES. SINGLE COPIES TWO CENTS. SINGLA COPIES TWO CENTS

NEW SERIES. CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. ISLAND TUESDAY, AUGUST 23, 1892. VOL. 30.—NO. 76

Calendar for August, 1892.

MOON'S CHANGES.
Full Moon, 8th day..... 7 33 morn
Last Quarter, 15th day..... 3 13 morn
New Moon, 22nd day..... 9 35 morn
First Quarter, 30th day..... 9 5 morn
Perigee, 12th day..... 6h. morn

Day of Month.	Day of Week.	High Water.
		Morn.	After.
1	Monday	3 39	4 49
2	Tuesday	4 33	5 0
3	Wednesday	5 47	6 25
4	Thursday	7 3	7 37
5	Friday	8 11	8 41
6	Saturday	9 10	9 30
7	Sunday	10 10	10 23
8	Monday	10 44	11 3
9	Tuesday	11 22	11 39
10	Wednesday	11 56	12 3
11	Thursday	0 13	0 30
12	Friday	0 47	1 3
13	Saturday	1 23	1 42
14	Sunday	2 4	2 27
15	Monday	2 57	3 27
16	Tuesday	4 7	4 48
17	Wednesday	5 49	6 32
18	Thursday	7 13	7 53
19	Friday	8 29	8 55
20	Saturday	9 29	9 48
21	Sunday	10 4	10 23
22	Monday	10 41	10 59
23	Tuesday	11 16	11 32
24	Wednesday	11 47	12 3
25	Thursday	0 3	0 18
26	Friday	0 33	0 48
27	Saturday	1 4	1 21
28	Sunday	1 38	1 56
29	Monday	2 14	2 35
30	Tuesday	2 57	3 23
31	Wednesday	3 50	4 26

AUGUST.

LOW!
LOW!
LOW DOWN!

Goods Still Going.

LOW PRICES

To Everyone!

Our Summer Sales have been very good. We continue this Month at prices that will please everyone. Call and try us at the New Store, next to Beer & Goff's.

W. A. WEEKS & CO.

Charlottetown, Aug. 9, 1892.

COLONIAL HOUSE,

Philips Square

MONTREAL.

WE ARE NOW SHOWING

NEW GOODS

IN ALL DEPARTMENTS.

Staple and Fancy Dry Goods, Carpets, Curtains, Upholstering Goods, Furniture, Mantles, Millinery, Ready-made Clothing, Ladies' Boots and Shoes, Stationery, China, Glassware, Crockery, Kitchen Utensils, etc., etc.

FINEST ASSORTMENT IN CANADA.

N. B.—Mail orders promptly and carefully attended to.

HENRY MORGAN & CO.

Colonial House, Montreal.

ap22—t s t f

MUCH BETTER, Thank You!
THIS IS THE UNIVERSAL TESTIMONY of those who have suffered from CHRONIC BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, COLDS, OR ANY FORM OF WASTING DISEASES, after they have tried
SCOTT'S EMULSION
Of Pure Cod Liver Oil and HYPOPHOSPHITES
—Of Lime and Soda—
IT IS ALMOST AS PALATABLE AS MILK. IT IS A WONDERFUL FLESH PRODUCER. It is used and endorsed by Physicians. Avoid all imitations or substitutions. Sold by all Druggists at 50c. and $1.00.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Belleville.

GILLETT'S PURE POWDERED LYE
PUREST, STRONGEST, BEST.
Ready for use in any quantity. For making Soap, Softening Water, Disinfecting, and a hundred other uses. A can equals 20 pounds Sal Soda.
Sold by All Grocers and Druggists.
B. W. GILLETT, Toronto

THIS BAKING POWDER WOODILL'S GERMAN
Is WELL SUITED FOR FAMILY USE and has been employed IN MY OWN HOUSEHOLD for many years.
George Lawson, Ph. D., L. L. D.
E. I. C., G. B. & IRELAND
jly4

A Forty Years' Romance.

THE MARRIAGE OF THE DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE A SURPRISE TO UPPER TENDON.

The marriage of the Duke of Devonshire to Louise, Dowager Duchess of Manchester, took society completely by surprise, as the delay that occurred in celebrating the event had raised a doubt as to whether it would ever come off. The Duchess for 25 years has been practically on the footing of a member of the family at Devonshire house. The heavy wooden gates that screen that ducal palace from the vulgar gaze were never opened to any carriage but hers, outside of the Cavendish family, and the late Duke of Devonshire had a fatherly affection for her. The romantic attachment that has existed so long between her and the present duke was always so far recognized by friends that no house party to which either went was considered complete without the other. The late duke was aware of the intention of his son to marry the duchess, and, as there is no prospect of the succession of his grand-nephew, Victor Cavendish, being interrupted, he made his will on the assumption that the present Duke would leave no heir. The Star, commenting upon the marriage of the Duke of Devonshire and the Dowager Duchess of Manchester, says: "The Duke of Devonshire has married his old love, who is now aged 60 years. The story of their separation is a romance. They were fondly attached while both were young, but habitual indolence of Lord Hartington prevented the declaration. The lady tried to infuse energy into him by listening to the attentions of the late Duke of Manchester. This had a contrary effect upon Lord Hartington than she intended. She finally became the wife of the Duke of Manchester. Lord Hartington's long bachelor life was attributed to the fact that the Duchess of Manchester after her marriage had a powerful influence over him. He consulted her before he took a single important political step. His regulations were so well known that the society papers began to speculate upon their marriage immediately after the death of the Duke of Devonshire. The difficulty was that the late Duke of Devonshire, who was strongly opposed to widows remarrying, and Lord Hartington, who has strong views of filial duty, delayed the union during the lifetime of his father."

The Recollection Mule.
A faded old mule which looked to be 50 years old came crawling down the dusty street before a shabby old wagon, in which was seated a colored man. As he drove up to the depot platform and stopped, he enquired:—"Well, uncle, I suppose you'd sell that mule for money?" "How much, sah?" he asked, as he looked up. "What do you think he's worth?" "Well, sah, I reckon de cash value of dat mule—cash right down on de nail—hain't fur from seven dollars and a half, but I couldn't dun sell him fur dat. He hain't no common mule, he hain't." "Is he blooded?" "No, sah; but he's a recockleckshun mule, an' dat's what makes him so valuable." "What's a recockleckshun mule?" "Why, sah, he recocklecks back to wah times. He was right around yere doin' all de wah, an' he hain't dun disreembred nuffin." "What does he remember?" "Bout dem Yankee's shells, sah. De Yankee's dun fired cannons at him ebery chance dey got, but he allus dodged de shells. Would you like to see him perform, sah?" "I would." "Would yo' be willin' to put up fo' bits fur damages to de wagin? He's bound to smash things when he hars a shell comin'." "I gave him half a dollar and he stepped out and picked up a cobblestone and stood behind the waggon. The mule was leaning against the platform and apparently sound asleep. The negro pucker up his mouth and uttered a droaning, moaning sound, like the flight of a shell, and gradually brought it closer and closer until an old soldier would have been deceived. Then he heaved the stone against the platform with a great bang and cried out:—"Fo' de lawd, Erastus, but dem Yankees has got de range agin—look out!" The mule had pricked up his ears at the first sound. As the imaginary shell came nearer and nearer he began to pick up his feet and exhibit great excitement, and the words of the negro were not yet out of his mouth when Erastus made a break. He went off like a cyclone, struck a post and ripped two wheels off the waggon, and after a straight run of 30 rods up the street with the wreck, turned a corner and was out of sight. "Dat's what I dun toled yo', sah," said the man as he turned to me, "he's a recockleckshun mule. He's old an' humbly an' pore, an' he hain't got no style, but he jest disreembers all about dat war, an' I couldn't sell him short o' $50. I said fo' bits befo' he dun started, but I put in an extra yell an' he broke off two wheels, an' I reckon you'd bettah make it a dollah, sah."—M. Quad.

Some Good Business Maxims.

Every young man intending to follow mercantile pursuits ought to spend some years of preparation in a methodically conducted establishment. If he enters haphazard, he becomes a haphazard merchant. He should be trained as to values, how to buy and how to sell, and also as to management, from the picking up of the string from the floor to the banking of his cash. It is a mistake for the mechanic, the professional man or the farmer to rent a store, furnish limited capital and start "the boy" in business without his having had any training or having any knowledge of the quicksand, shoals and rocks of the sea on which he is about to launch his craft. In some instances, owing to the peculiar environments of the case, and by having secured the services of some competent clerk, he may succeed, but in nine cases out of ten the venture will prove a deplorable failure. This represents a class of people who are apt to overlook the difference between the gross receipts and the net profits of the cash drawer, and are, therefore, led into extravagant habits of life by the handling of so much money without proper training for its care-taking. Furthermore, they are the very kind of people who will be over-persuaded by the blandishments of the man who is sure death. In these days of sharp competition, when a merchant cannot make his payments so as to secure cash discounts, the sooner he gets into liquidation the better it will be for himself and all concerned. Of course there are many instances where men, and women too, of modest pretensions have commenced in a small way and finally succeeded; but their training comes with the development of their business. They not only know how to make a little money, but also how to save what they do make. But in the broad field or higher plane of business life, if we look at the successful men of to-day we find in almost every instance that they are well-trained, intelligent men, who take an inventory and settle up their business annually, men who know when, where and how to sell; men who know when and how to say yes and no, as the case demands.

An Irish Cup of Tea.

A writer in Harper's Bazaar says: Coming in tired from a long walk, I went to my room to lie down, and on my way left a message for Mary: "Tell Mary to bring me a cup of tea, strong, and bring it upstairs." In the course of time there appeared at my door Mary's round, smiling face. "It's an Irish cup of tea I'm bringing you, ma'am," she said. "An Irish cup of tea, Mary! And what is that?" "It's a cup 'rowin' into the saucer, ma'am." I laughed as I took the "Irish cup of tea," and Mary stood beside me, smiling, while I drank it. "So that's the kind of cup of tea you get at home, Mary, is it—the tea running into the saucer?" "Oh, yes, ma'am," she said. When you give a cup of tea to a friend, you're not givin' plenty unless it's flowin' into the saucer. We'd not be insultin' a friend wid a cup that wasn't full. At home it's mane ye are if ye don't fill the cup runnin' over." "There is a pretty bit of Irish poetry in this. 'A cup flowin' over for a friend.'"

The Value of Military Training.

IT INSURES GOOD HEALTH BY SOUND DISCIPLINE IN EARLY LIFE.

In casting about we find no better physical advantages to be gained than those derived from the military exercises which young men undergo in the militia services. Camping out in summer in well-selected camps gives them an outdoor life which is a much needed change from the indoor life led throughout the long winters, during which so much vitiated air is breathed in crowded places of business and ill-ventilated sleeping apartments. Marching is the most rational exercise for the legs, the manual of arms always insures healthy chests and well-developed arms, and moving at the double quick improves the breathing power of the lungs. Unlike the athletics in college, there is here no overtraining, which so often injures the subjects by excess, and no breaking down after the training has ceased. The marching and drilling under competent instructors improve the gait of the recruit and give him a firmer, easier step and a more graceful carriage. Military service has many advantages mentally. It cultivates intelligence among young men and does much towards improving the memory and curing absent-mindedness. The necessity of being alert, listening for each word of command and acting promptly upon it, quickens the wits and cultivates the habit of fixing the attention and concentrating the thoughts. Marching to the sound of music gives a young man a better idea of measure and rhythm and is calculated to make him more methodical in all things. His entering upon the duties of a soldier leads him to study military history, which imbues the chief history of nations. The hardest lesson to be learned in life is that of amendability to discipline. In a land like this, where there is very little restraint among young or old, where self-abnegation is but little heard of, and where the race of life is pretty much a "go-as-you-please," there is scarcely any school in which subordination and obedience are taught except in the military service.—Gen Horace Porter, in the Cosmopolitan.

The Recollection Mule.

A faded old mule which looked to be 50 years old came crawling down the dusty street before a shabby old wagon, in which was seated a colored man. As he drove up to the depot platform and stopped, he enquired:—"Well, uncle, I suppose you'd sell that mule for money?" "How much, sah?" he asked, as he looked up. "What do you think he's worth?" "Well, sah, I reckon de cash value of dat mule—cash right down on de nail—hain't fur from seven dollars and a half, but I couldn't dun sell him fur dat. He hain't no common mule, he hain't." "Is he blooded?" "No, sah; but he's a recockleckshun mule, an' dat's what makes him so valuable." "What's a recockleckshun mule?" "Why, sah, he recocklecks back to wah times. He was right around yere doin' all de wah, an' he hain't dun disreembred nuffin." "What does he remember?" "Bout dem Yankee's shells, sah. De Yankee's dun fired cannons at him ebery chance dey got, but he allus dodged de shells. Would you like to see him perform, sah?" "I would." "Would yo' be willin' to put up fo' bits fur damages to de wagin? He's bound to smash things when he hars a shell comin'." "I gave him half a dollar and he stepped out and picked up a cobblestone and stood behind the waggon. The mule was leaning against the platform and apparently sound asleep. The negro pucker up his mouth and uttered a droaning, moaning sound, like the flight of a shell, and gradually brought it closer and closer until an old soldier would have been deceived. Then he heaved the stone against the platform with a great bang and cried out:—"Fo' de lawd, Erastus, but dem Yankees has got de range agin—look out!" The mule had pricked up his ears at the first sound. As the imaginary shell came nearer and nearer he began to pick up his feet and exhibit great excitement, and the words of the negro were not yet out of his mouth when Erastus made a break. He went off like a cyclone, struck a post and ripped two wheels off the waggon, and after a straight run of 30 rods up the street with the wreck, turned a corner and was out of sight. "Dat's what I dun toled yo', sah," said the man as he turned to me, "he's a recockleckshun mule. He's old an' humbly an' pore, an' he hain't got no style, but he jest disreembers all about dat war, an' I couldn't sell him short o' $50. I said fo' bits befo' he dun started, but I put in an extra yell an' he broke off two wheels, an' I reckon you'd bettah make it a dollah, sah."—M. Quad.

The Recollection Mule.

A faded old mule which looked to be 50 years old came crawling down the dusty street before a shabby old wagon, in which was seated a colored man. As he drove up to the depot platform and stopped, he enquired:—"Well, uncle, I suppose you'd sell that mule for money?" "How much, sah?" he asked, as he looked up. "What do you think he's worth?" "Well, sah, I reckon de cash value of dat mule—cash right down on de nail—hain't fur from seven dollars and a half, but I couldn't dun sell him fur dat. He hain't no common mule, he hain't." "Is he blooded?" "No, sah; but he's a recockleckshun mule, an' dat's what makes him so valuable." "What's a recockleckshun mule?" "Why, sah, he recocklecks back to wah times. He was right around yere doin' all de wah, an' he hain't dun disreembred nuffin." "What does he remember?" "Bout dem Yankee's shells, sah. De Yankee's dun fired cannons at him ebery chance dey got, but he allus dodged de shells. Would you like to see him perform, sah?" "I would." "Would yo' be willin' to put up fo' bits fur damages to de wagin? He's bound to smash things when he hars a shell comin'." "I gave him half a dollar and he stepped out and picked up a cobblestone and stood behind the waggon. The mule was leaning against the platform and apparently sound asleep. The negro pucker up his mouth and uttered a droaning, moaning sound, like the flight of a shell, and gradually brought it closer and closer until an old soldier would have been deceived. Then he heaved the stone against the platform with a great bang and cried out:—"Fo' de lawd, Erastus, but dem Yankees has got de range agin—look out!" The mule had pricked up his ears at the first sound. As the imaginary shell came nearer and nearer he began to pick up his feet and exhibit great excitement, and the words of the negro were not yet out of his mouth when Erastus made a break. He went off like a cyclone, struck a post and ripped two wheels off the waggon, and after a straight run of 30 rods up the street with the wreck, turned a corner and was out of sight. "Dat's what I dun toled yo', sah," said the man as he turned to me, "he's a recockleckshun mule. He's old an' humbly an' pore, an' he hain't got no style, but he jest disreembers all about dat war, an' I couldn't sell him short o' $50. I said fo' bits befo' he dun started, but I put in an extra yell an' he broke off two wheels, an' I reckon you'd bettah make it a dollah, sah."—M. Quad.

The Recollection Mule.

A faded old mule which looked to be 50 years old came crawling down the dusty street before a shabby old wagon, in which was seated a colored man. As he drove up to the depot platform and stopped, he enquired:—"Well, uncle, I suppose you'd sell that mule for money?" "How much, sah?" he asked, as he looked up. "What do you think he's worth?" "Well, sah, I reckon de cash value of dat mule—cash right down on de nail—hain't fur from seven dollars and a half, but I couldn't dun sell him fur dat. He hain't no common mule, he hain't." "Is he blooded?" "No, sah; but he's a recockleckshun mule, an' dat's what makes him so valuable." "What's a recockleckshun mule?" "Why, sah, he recocklecks back to wah times. He was right around yere doin' all de wah, an' he hain't dun disreembred nuffin." "What does he remember?" "Bout dem Yankee's shells, sah. De Yankee's dun fired cannons at him ebery chance dey got, but he allus dodged de shells. Would you like to see him perform, sah?" "I would." "Would yo' be willin' to put up fo' bits fur damages to de wagin? He's bound to smash things when he hars a shell comin'." "I gave him half a dollar and he stepped out and picked up a cobblestone and stood behind the waggon. The mule was leaning against the platform and apparently sound asleep. The negro pucker up his mouth and uttered a droaning, moaning sound, like the flight of a shell, and gradually brought it closer and closer until an old soldier would have been deceived. Then he heaved the stone against the platform with a great bang and cried out:—"Fo' de lawd, Erastus, but dem Yankees has got de range agin—look out!" The mule had pricked up his ears at the first sound. As the imaginary shell came nearer and nearer he began to pick up his feet and exhibit great excitement, and the words of the negro were not yet out of his mouth when Erastus made a break. He went off like a cyclone, struck a post and ripped two wheels off the waggon, and after a straight run of 30 rods up the street with the wreck, turned a corner and was out of sight. "Dat's what I dun toled yo', sah," said the man as he turned to me, "he's a recockleckshun mule. He's old an' humbly an' pore, an' he hain't got no style, but he jest disreembers all about dat war, an' I couldn't sell him short o' $50. I said fo' bits befo' he dun started, but I put in an extra yell an' he broke off two wheels, an' I reckon you'd bettah make it a dollah, sah."—M. Quad.

SKODA'S DISCOVERY is King of Sarsaparillas.

I. M. HARMON.

Physicians and Nervines BOTH FAILED!

NERVE'S PROSTRATION Of Years' Standing CURED BY SKODA'S!

GENTS—Your President, Dr. G. C. Kilgore, will recall the fact that last June when in the City Drug Store in your City, I told him that on account of extreme nervousness I had been unable to attend to business for several years, and that I was then resting from all labor—mental and physical. I was trusting in Sature as a last resort, as Physicians and Nervines had intirely failed in my case. At that time I was troubled with Nervousness so badly that I could not sleep an hour some nights. I would have a crawling or creeping sensation in my limbs, that was more unendurable than any pain. My Br 1 I would feel THAT I tried to think upon any subject for ten minutes and confused. Dr. Kilgore gave me six bottles of SKODA'S DISCOVERY, and three boxes of LITTLE TABLETS, telling me they would greatly help me and he thought would cure me. I took the medicine according to directions and have seen no symptoms of Nervousness since taking the fourth bottle. I sleep well. Nerves are strong. Eat heartily and am well. I have told scores what it has done for me. Reply yours, Portland, Me. I. M. HARMON.

THE ONLY MEDICINE SOLD WITH A GUARANTEE CONTRACT WITH EACH BOTTLE. TRY A COURSE (6 BOTTLES) AT OUR RISK, IF NOT BENEFITED RETURN BOTTLES AND GET YOUR MONEY. PAY ONLY FOR THE GOOD YOU RECEIVE. SKODA DISCOVERY CO., Wolfville, N.S.

1892. Fall Trip from Liverpool.

THE Clipper Bark "RALPH B. PEAKE," 700 Tons Register, classed A 1 at Lloyd's, D. A. McDonald, Commander, will sail from Liverpool for Charlottetown About 10th of September Next, and will carry Freight at through rates to the different Railway points on the Island. For Freight apply in London to John Pitcairn & Sons, 7 Union Court, Old Broad Street, E. C.; in Liverpool to Pitcairn Brothers, 51 South John Street, or here to the owners, PEAKE BROS. & CO. Charlottetown, July 22, 1892—6w eod.

YOU will find the NEW DRINKS

WILMOT SPA

Most delicious. They are called FRUIT SQUASH (a delicate drink for ladies), LIME FRUIT CHAMPAGNE (a delicious non-alcoholic beverage), and CINCHONA BERRIES (a palatable and effective tonic). They will be found an agreeable variety from the Ginger Ale and Lemonade. All leading Grocers, Druggists, Hotels and Wine Merchants.

Wilmot Spa Spring Co. (Ltd.) jyl9

CAUTION.

EACH PLUG OF THE Myrtle Navy IS MARKED T. & B. IN BRONZE LETTERS. NONE OTHER GENUINE. Jan2—dy & wky

NERVE BEANS
NERVE BEANS are a new discovery that cure the worst cases of Biliousness, Loss of Vigor and Failing Manhood; restores the weakness of body or mind caused by over-work, or the errors or excesses of youth. This Kennedy's Nerve Beans is the most reliable cure when all other treatments have failed to relieve. Sold by druggists at 50c per package, or six for $2.50. Write for prospectus to THE JAMES MEDICINE CO., Toronto, Ont. Write for prospectus. Sold in—

The Braemar Photographic Studio, QUEEN STREET.
Next to the Singer Machine Co., is now open. Hours from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Closed on Saturdays at 12 o'clock, noon. First-class work at moderate prices. Photos enlarged and beautifully finished in Black and White. Im 2aw—aug10

PENNYROYAL WAFERS.
A specific monthly medicine for ladies to restore and regulate the menstrual function. No aches or pains or apprehensions. Now used by over 5,000 ladies. These wafers will regulate, invigorate and strengthen the system. Buy of your druggist only those with our signature across the wrapper. Address, 1010 BROADWAY, N.Y. COMPANY, Ltd., Toronto, Ont. For sale, mailed, by G. S. E. HUGHES, at Apothecaries' Hall, Ch'town. dw 1y—sept19

HAVE YOU BACK-ACHE DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS WILL CURE YOU

"Backache means the kidneys are in trouble. Dodd's Kidney Pills give prompt relief. 75 per cent. of disease is first caused by disordered kidneys. Might as well try to have a healthy city without sewerage, as good health when the kidneys are clogged, they are." "Sold by all dealers or sent by mail on receipt of price 50 cents, per box or six for $2.50. Dr. L. A. Smith & Co., Toronto. Write for book called 'Kidney Talk'.

JAMES A. MORRISON, HALIFAX.
AGENT FOR WARREN, CAKEBREAD & CO., TEA MERCHANTS, London, - - England, - - AND 'ALSO - - Several First-Class West India Firms, etc.

SPECIALTIES: Tea Sugar and Molasses.
Careful attention given to consignments of Prince Edward Island Produce. REFERENCE—Bank of Nova Scotia. OFFICE—Pickford & Black's Wharf. Tel. No. 13, 1391—ly & w

BOATS TO HIRE!
COMFORTABLE, Safe Rowboats and Sailboats at any hour of the day or night. A convenient slip for landing and embarking. JOHN SNELGROVE, Steam Navigation Wharf.

Summer Drinks!

LIME JUICE is, without doubt, the most healthy and refreshing Summer Beverage you can take. BEER & GOFF always carry a large stock of it, and this year they are selling it for 15 Cents per Pint or 25 Cents per Bottle.

They also keep good heavy Syrups of the following flavors:—Lemon, Raspberry, Strawberry, Pineapple, Cherry, Vanilla, Orange, Lime Fruit, Lemon Gingerette and Raspberry Vinegar.

RASPBERRY and LEMON SYRUPS for sale by the Gallon, suitable for Retailing or for Tea Parties.

BEER & GOFF,
Ch'town, July 22, 1892—eod&w Queen and King Square Stores.

Bisquit Dubouche & Co., COGNAC.

THE SECOND LARGEST SHIPPERS OF BRANDY FROM FRANCE.

THEIR BRANDIES ARE UNSURPASSED IN AGE AND QUALITY.

Ask your Wine Merchant for them. aug18