

Business Society NO NEW BUSINESS

Welcome back to the wonderful, wacky world of Business Administration. Actually, I find myself with very little about which to write this week, even the Engineers have disappointed me by not doing or saying even one rude, crude or otherwise objectionable thing all week. I even toyed with the idea of not writing the column at all, but after all the trouble I took to get it back in the paper, I didn't dare. Also, I couldn't bear to dissapoint the throngs of loyal followers who anxiously await this column each week (if I say it often enough, maybe I'll come to believe it.)

Anyone wandering the hallowed halls of Kelley last Monday would have noticed the moronic smiles adorning the faces of most Seniors, as they were given a reprieve of one week on the due date for their Policy projects. For those of you who scorn at our discomfort and confidently swear that this will be the last year for that unique method of torture known as the POLICY PROJECT, we say HA HA HA. The department has been saying for years that the project as it now stands will become obsolete but you'll notice that its still here. Say no more.

The Bus. Society sponsored the attendance of several illustrious members at the recent annual meeting of the Atlantic Federation of Business Students, at Dal. Emmanuel Amoebi, Lori Mullin, Ivy Hender, John (row-boat) Rowe, and Bruce MacDonald succeeded in thoroughly embarrassing us due to their somewhat sodden condition BUT they obviously also did a great job representing us as they managed to secure the conference for UPEI next year - congratulations.

Speaking of sodden condition, I feel I must mention here, the conduct of some Bus. students at last week's Pig. I won't mention any names but, although we're glad that Richard Brown, Derek Huestis and Norm Bishara had a good time, did they have to prove it by floundering through six inches of beer on the floor under their table???? Actually, I'm glad they did - they restored my faith in the ability of Bus. students to party better than anyone else, anywhere (at least at UPEI), AND, they gave me something to write about - I'm obviously desperate.

I was sorry to learn that our last hockey encounter against the MEAN MACHINE culminated in a loss for our side. The SIX guys who showed up for our side assured me that it was a hard fought battle, and I know it'll be only one loss in a series of resounding victories.

Well, I've about run out of useful drivel on which to expound, so I'll close for now. I might suggest that if anyone has anything they would like to see in this column (besides my resignation as its author), just leave a note with Freda Cox and I'll see what I can do.

Stay tuned next week for details of the next party which is just around the corner.

Have a good week.

CARNIVAL NEWS

and also schedule as many "dry" events as possible

This year the Carnival will start with a movie on Sunday night and end with "Campus Cabaret" on the following Sunday, at the Confederation Centre. For those of you who were here three years ago you will remember that the Campus Cabaret they had was a great success. For those of you who do not know, Campus Cabaret is a large Variety Show. We have been talking with Joan MacFarlane, chairman of the Drama Club and hopefully things can be arranged in time.

We hope that all sections of the University; staff, administration, student services, the residences, the classes, faculties, and societies will take part in this planned event.

In years past, the Winter Carnival Ball has always been considered as THE social event of the year. This year we hope to have two social events of the year, and both of them during the same week. These events being the Carnival Ball and Campus Cabaret.

The Carnival Committee is also happy to report that our sports teams will be at home this year. The men's and women's basketball teams play on Friday evening and also on Saturday afternoon. There will be a hockey Saturday night, followed by a beer bash. (Sorry I forgot to mention that this year the Ball is being held on Friday night.) So the teams will be allowed to go to at least one bash and the Campus Cabaret.

Many of the events that were held last year will also be held this year, eg. fashion show, talent pub car rally, bashes, ball, coffee houses, and yes, once again we will try to have snow sculptures.

There will be a pre-sale of tickets once again this year. It was very successful last year. Not only did it prevent line-ups but it also made it easier for the Campus Police. We hate to keep harping on the Liverpool Affair of two years ago (over 1000 in the line-up) but we suggest that you buy early. By the way, for those of you who didn't know, all events were SOLD OUT in advance last year.

Deb McMurdo, Social Committee Chairman is looking into the bands for us. Everyone has been asking to get Liverpool back again. Not only are we working on getting Liverpool but also Edward Bear. The other bands we are considering are the True Reflections and Bop Che Bop Boo (something like that) or Helix. Perhaps I shouldn't have mentioned these groups. They might be already booked or maybe we can't afford them but Deb will get us the best that is available. If you have any ideas or suggestions you may contact me at 218 Marion Hall, the Student Union Office or the S.U.N. office.
