

THE DAILY EXAMINER. SEPTEMBER 1, 1890.

Strenuous Action Needed.

Let everything be done that can be done to bring to justice the scoundrel who set the fire of Saturday night. Several incendiary fires have lately been started in this city. If widespread damage was not done, it was only because we now have a plentiful supply of water, and our firemen have been prompt and active.

Church Confederation.

THE WORK OF THE GREAT ANGLICAN CONFERENCE AT WINNIPEG.

Dr. R. W. Heneker, of Sherbrooke, chancellor of Bishops' University has returned to Montreal from the Northwest, where he represented the diocese of Quebec at the conference of the two provinces of the Church of England in Canada on the consolidation of their interests.

The discussion was free and extended. Clause by clause the report was gone through and debated. Where objections were raised they were refuted and where doubts were expressed they were dissipated. The best evidence was given that the conference thoroughly appreciated the meaning of the work it was engaged in, and after the report had been carried almost verbatim, the scheme of union in its integrity was unanimously adopted.

"BUSINESS COLLEGES originated in this country as a protest against the insufficiency of our system of education, as a protest against the failure of our American schools and colleges, the absolute failure to fit young men and women for the business of life.

A FIRE FIEND'S WORK.

Fire Set to a Stable in Rear of the Corner of Queen and Grafton Streets.

HEROIC FIREMAN.

A Man's Life for a Horse's Life.

MR. THEOPHILUS FARQUHARSON EXPIRES THIS MORNING.

FIRE was discovered, shortly after eleven o'clock on Saturday evening, in a stable at the rear of the stores of J. D. McLeod and B. Rogers, Esq., on Queen Street. In less than five minutes the building was in flames. A number of citizens rushed to the scene. Among them was Mr. Theophilus Farquharson, a prominent and active member of the Salvage Corps and an enterprising citizen.

Our firemen, acting under the directions of their active chief engineer, soon had the fire under control. But if it were not for the plentiful supply of water and the excellent system of waterworks at their disposal, we should probably look to-day upon a large area of black and smoking ruins. As it is, the result is a badly charred building, two very valuable young horses, by Hernando, smothered in the smoke, and an heroic man burned to death in his prime.

The greatest sympathy is felt for Mr. Farquharson's father and mother. The stable was insured in the City of London Company—of which Mr. John MacEachen is agent—for $300. There was no insurance on Mr. McLeod's horses.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

SIR,—In a recent issue of the EXAMINER I read an article headed "A Flower and Art Association," in which the writer appeals to the lovers of "the most delicate and beautiful products of nature's laboratory," with the view of enlisting the services of ladies and gentlemen who take an interest in such matters, in organizing a committee to the end, that the Floriculture and Fine Arts department of our Exhibition may be made more interesting and attractive.

Yours truly, A. McNEILL, Exhibition Sec'y. Charlottetown, Sept. 1st, 1890.

Letter From Mr. P. P. Gillis.

SIR,—In reference to my challenge which appears in your paper to-day, I was asked by one of the directors to start a horse, and to accommodate the citizens and visitors I did so, and was to have a friendly race, not thinking that there would be a one-sided reporter there, or, as I should term him, one of the famous gang that fetched so much dispute on our track last fall. Now as this same beauty and his gang are talking all over town about my horse, they have a chance now to put up or shut up. Your notes, Mr. Editor, were gentlemanly, and as they should be.

Maritime Press Association.

Excursion to Souris.

Pleasant Weather, Good Fare and a Delightful Drive Through the Country.

A special passenger train left Charlottetown on Saturday morning at nine o'clock, carrying about two hundred citizens of Charlottetown and the visiting members of the Maritime Press Association. The train was in charge of Conductor Macgowan, and Mr. Unsworth himself was on board, so that the trip was made smoothly and pleasantly.

On Sunday forenoon, most of the press party attended the Methodist Brick Church, to which the pastor welcomed them in a felicitous address which was most appropriately responded to by the Rev. Dr. Lathern of the Provincial Wesleyan. Dr. Lathern also preached an excellent sermon.
