Kidney Diseases.—Bright's Disease, Diabetes and kindred maladies have been largely treated and cured in thousands of cases which have been pronounced beyond hope. The study and practice of chemical analysis and microscopic examination of the urine in our consideration of cases, with reference to a correct diagnosis, in which our institution long ago became famous, has naturally led to an extensive practice in the disease of the urinary organs. Our specialists have acquired, through a vast and varied experience, great expertness in determining the exact nature of each case, and hence have been successful in nicely adapting their remedies for the cure of each individual case.

Piles, Tumors.—Piles, Fistula-in-Aro, and other diseases effecting the region of the lower bowels, are largely treated, and with marvelous success, by specialists who give their whole time to the study and treatment of this class of affections. We never fail to cure pile tumors, however large, when the patient can come to the institution for treatment.

Nervous Diseases.—Epileptic Convulsions, or Fits, Paralysis or Palsy, Locomotor Ataxia, St. Vitis' Dance, Insomnia or inability to sleep, and threatened Insanity, Nervous Debility arising from over-study, excesses and other causes, and every variety of nervous affection are treated by our specialists for these diseases with a measure of success heretofore regarded as impossible.

Diseases of Women.—So alarmingly prevalent are those chronic diseases peculiar to women, and so famous has our institution become for their cure, that we were long ago obliged to create a special department, thoroughly organized and devoted exclusively to the treatment of these cases. The physicians and surgeons in this department have made these delicate diseases their whole study.

Delicate Diseases.—Organic Weakness, Nervous Debility, Premature Decline, and kindred affections are speedily, thoroughly and permanently cured. To those acquainted with our institution it is hardly necessary to say that it has for many years enjoyed the distinction of being the most largely patronized and widely celebrated institution in the world for the treatment and cure of those affections which arise from youthful indiscretions and pernicious practices. Did you ever realize what a blessing it was to have good health, to be able to walk, talk, hear, eat, see, sleep and enjoy the bountiful gifts and blessings bestowed on you by a Heavenly Father? Were you ever stricken down by disease or accident? Did you not then realize the value of good health? Do you not now realize the fact that any natural condition of joints, head, throat, lungs, heart, stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, bladder, blood, muscles, skin glands, joints, eye, ear, NERVES OR ANY OTHER PART or function of the body should be speedily and permanently corrected, and good health, with its attendant good habits, good manners and sound mind, established.

All Chronic Diseases a Specialty.—Although we have in the preceding paragraphs made mention of some of the special ailments to which particular attention is given by the specialists, yet the institution abounds in skill, facilities and apparatus for the successful treatment of every form of chronic ailment, whether requiring for its cure medical or surgical means. All unable to call should write to head office, Detroit, Mich.

CONSULTATIONS FREE. It is now intended to visit the Island from two to three times a year.

Long-Standing

Blood Diseases are cured by the persevering use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

This medicine is an Alternative, and causes a radical change in the system. The process, in some cases, may not be quite so rapid as in others; but, with persistence, the result is certain. Read these testimonials:—

"For two years I suffered from a severe pain in my right side, and had other troubles caused by a torpid liver and dyspepsia. After giving several medicines a fair trial without a cure, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was greatly benefited by the first bottle, and after taking five bottles I was completely cured."—John W. Benson, 70 Lawrence st., Lowell, Mass.

Last May a large carbuncle broke out on my arm. The usual remedies had no effect and I was confined to my bed for eight weeks. A friend induced me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Less than three bottles healed the sore. In all my experience with medicine, I never saw more Wonderful Results.

Another marked effect of the use of this medicine was the strengthening of my sight."—Mrs. Carrie Adams, Holly Springs, Texas.

"I had a dry scaly humor for years, and suffered terribly, and as my brother and sister were similarly afflicted, I presume the malady is hereditary. Last winter, Dr. Tyson, (of Fernandina, Fla.) recommended me to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and continue it for a year. For five months I took it daily. I have not had a blemish upon my body for the last three months."—T. E. Wiley, 146 Chambers st., New York City.

"Last fall and winter I was troubled with a dull, heavy pain in my side. It did not notice it much at first, but it gradually grew worse until it became almost unbearable. During the latter part of this time, disorders of the stomach and liver increased my troubles. I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after faithfully continuing the use of this medicine for some months, the pain disappeared and I was completely cured."—Mrs. Augusta A. Furbush, Haverhill, Mass.

Celery! Celery!

GAY & SONS are taking orders for winter supply of Celery. Celery packed in boxes or barrels, and delivered on board car or steamer without extra charge. Orders taken at the Market, Charlottetown, or address J. J. Gay & Son, Pownall. Prices range from 25 to 40 cents per dozen, our best at $3 per hundred. Taking the medicinal properties of Celery into consideration, and the prevalence of fevers in our midst, it is a wonder that even more of this truly medicinal plant is not used.

My dear fellow dyspeptic sufferers, have you tried munching a stalk of Celery as a finishing off (so to speak) at each meal? If you have not, make a start; if you have, I need not tell you why.

Peake's Station.

Business was brisk at this place when your correspondent visited it, and considerable produce is being shipped to Charlottetown, Georgetown and even direct to the United States. There are three stores at this place, Messrs. Hugh Currie, B. D. Hayden and H. Smallwood, all of whom do a thriving business. Mr. Currie does an extensive business here, and has a large store and outbuildings. Mr. L. Walker recently built a store, and also intends to do business here. Mr. Adam Jay is blacksmith and does a large amount of work, and employs help. Mr. B. McDonald, tailor, is also busily engaged in his line. There is a good school here, taught by Mr. James Kelly, a second-class teacher. The schoolhouse is large and commodious, pleasantly situated, and as far from the highway as the grounds will permit. The playground is large, neat and trim, and well fenced. There are also some ornamental trees planted around the building.

Mr. Philip Mooney carries the mail from here on Tuesdays and Fridays to Byrnes' Road and Hazel Green. Mr. Allen McDonald is Postmaster here. This gentleman has a trotting park on his farm, where some of the best bloods of the two Counties often try their mettle, where many good steppers can be seen. Mr. John Dunn is agent for agricultural implements, etc.; he also deals in cattle and ships considerable.

A short distance from the depot is the Mooney estate, where there is a large starch factory, which, however, was not in operation when your correspondent visited the place. Mr. James Mooney has a sawmill here with improved machinery, where he cuts large quantities of lumber and shingles.

Peake's Station is an important place now, situated between Mount Stewart and Georgetown. There are immense quantities of produce shipped at this point. The inhabitants of this and surrounding country demand that this be made a booking station, there being none between Cardigan and Mount Stewart, a distance of 18 miles, and as this is not a booking station, there is no person liable for anything left here for shipment. Not that there is a shadow of complaint against Mr. Mooney, who occupies the building; he and his family see very well spoken of by all classes in the locality, but the increasing amount of business demands such a claim. Farmers when sending off produce from this place, and hauling a considerable distance, are under the necessity of personally attending to the shipment, there being no agent empowered to do so, consequently parties lose a large amount of valuable time, which they otherwise would not were a station agent appointed here; and as the station is large and commodious, the expense incurred would be but trifling compared with the benefits to be accrued by such a change. I understand that the inhabitants of those sections intend to call a public meeting in the near future for that object.

A few miles east from Peake's Station is Donnelly's Road, so called from being first settled by Mr. Donnelly. Thirty years ago there was but one log cabin on this road; now it is a flourishing settlement, with a very large amount of land highly cultivated, with good dwellings and outbuildings, modern improved agricultural implements etc. There is also a good school here, taught by a Mr. O'Reilly. I noticed that the farmers here had lime kilns, and burned large quantities of lime, which they chiefly drew from Cardigan Bridge, which, when judiciously applied, is an excellent fertilizer. Further east and parallel with the last named road is Byrnes' Road, also a young settlement, a very good section of country where the inhabitants are very comfortable. They have a post office and store, also a good school, taught by Mr. Laurence Byrnes, who has been a long time in the profession. Peake's Road is also a very fine section of country. These being new places, they deserve more than a passing notice.

Alibis Their Only Hope.

WHAT THE CRONIN SUSPECTS DEPEND UPON TO SAVE THEIR NECKS.

Late advices from Chicago say that the defence in the Cronin case will devote its attention principally to the proving of alibis for the suspects. This is in fact, its main hope so far as Coughlin, O'Sullivan and Burke are concerned. As for Kunze, his attorney does not think he is in any danger whatever, notwithstanding the testimony of Milkman Mertes that he saw the little German and Coughlin drive up to the cottage together. Should it be found, however, that the alibi business does not take well with the jury, Coughlin's friends, aided by the suspect's wife, will do what they can to induce him to confess. There is no doubt that Coughlin has been solicited to confess many times, but has always asserted that he had nothing whatever to tell. And it is the belief of the State that it is time wasted for anyone to plead with him.

Burke and iceman O'Sullivan have no family to be cared for, while Coughlin has a wife, but she would prefer to see him confess than be cared for, even luxuriously, as a widow by those who hired him or were influential in urging him on to the commission of the bloody deed. Coughlin has said that he would die game. Burke and O'Sullivan have made no such declaration.

The defence will occupy about ten days with the testimony they have to introduce. As to Coughlin, O'Sullivan and Kunze being in Nieman's saloon, near the Carlson cottage, on the night of May 4 at 10 o'clock, as Nieman swore they were, the defence will argue that it would have been impossible for the two first named to have assisted in the murder, washed themselves and removed the bloody evidence of their crime and got to the saloon by 10 o'clock, particularly as Cronin did not arrive at the cottage until after 8. Then the defence will insist that had these men participated in the murder their actions would have shown it, whereas Nieman could not see that they were excited or nervous. They were mysterious in their conversation, but the defence will argue that they might have been talking about private business.

Mrs. Hoertel will also be fiercely attacked and witnesses brought to swear that she has not sense enough to testify intelligently about anything. An alibi will also be set up for her, and Ertels, the saloon keeper, in whose place her husband spent all his money, will swear as to the time she was in his saloon. Her character will, in all probability be also attacked. Witnesses will be brought to show Coughlin's whereabouts that fatal night up to midnight, when it will be claimed the detective went home.

It is proposed to follow Coughlin from an early hour in the evening until midnight, and demonstrate that it would have been an impossibility for him to have been at the Carlson cottage that night at any time.

Mrs. Conklin's identification of the Dman white horse is to be made the subject of attention. Two newspaper reporters will swear she failed to identify the animal when Captain Schaack brought it up, though in regard to this Mrs. Conklin has sworn that it was raining when Schaack drove past her house, and this changed the color of the animal somewhat.

O'Sullivan's alibi will be established by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whalen. The latter will swear that O'Sullivan went to bed about 8.30 o'clock on the night of May 4, and did not get out of bed until the next morning. Her husband will corroborate her. In rebuttal, however, the State will produce one of O'Sullivan's former employes, who will swear that O'Sullivan was let in at the front door at midnight by Mrs. Whalen, the iceman being in his stocking feet.

Unless the testimony of E. C. Dodge can be used in rebuttal, it may, perhaps, not be used at all. He is the man who heard Coughlin say to Beggs one day last April, as Cronin drove past them in a buggy, "He ought not to be allowed to take any more buggy rides before he is killed." To this Beggs replied: "Hush! Some one may hear you." Dodge is in Washington territory somewhere, but just where the State does not know. He is the husband of one of the police matrons and a reliable man.

The testimony of the New York Herald's correspondent, who interviewed iceman O'Sullivan the night Cronin's body was found, is relied upon by the State to produce a great impression upon the jury.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—The witness in the Cronin trial to-day was Peter Kosch. He testified that he lived in Lake View near the Carlson cottage. He had known Kunze about five years. Kunze got into trouble and the keeper of a little dry goods shop threatened to have him arrested. For this reason Kunze left his house and changed his name.

James Hyland, a freight handler in the Lake Shore railway depot, testified that he and his cousin Jeremiah Hyland, called on O'Sullivan about seven o'clock on the evening of May 5th. He took supper with O'Sullivan, and, on leaving, between 9 and 10, he and his cousin and O'Sullivan went to a saloon near and had two glasses of sherry and cigars. This testimony was for the purpose of contradicting the testimony given by Niehman, who swore he saw Coughlin, Kunze and O'Sullivan drinking sherry in the same saloon about ten the same night.

Jeremiah Hyland took the stand and corroborated the testimony of his cousin. Ex-detective Michael Whalen, Daniel Coughlin's partner when on the police force, was the next witness. He testified that he arrived at the East Chicago Avenue police station about 7.30 the night Cronin was murdered, and Coughlin was there at the time. "I did not go outside the station until 10 o'clock. Did not leave there until 12. I saw Coughlin all that evening up to 10 o'clock, when I parted with him. Between 9 and 10 I don't think he was outside my sight at all because I was not out of the station myself." On cross-examination the fact was brought out that the witness and O'Sullivan were first cousins, and his brother, Tom Whalen, and his wife kept house for O'Sullivan.

Desk Sergeant John Stif, of the Chicago Avenue police station, was the next witness: "On Saturday night, the fourth of May, I was in the police station. I came to report about 8.30. After the roll call I went out with section men and saw they were on their beats. I came back to the station and changed my uniform, and was leaving to go to my duty for the night, when I met officer Michael Whalen and Daniel Coughlin outside the door of the station, probably 25 minutes to 10. I invited them to take a drink with me at the next saloon to the station, and we went into the saloon. They each drank beer and I took a cigar. We stayed five or ten minutes and then I went away.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—A secret circular has recently been issued by the "inner circle" of the Clan-na-Gael to the Irish National Brotherhood, or "triangle camps"—three of them being senior grandmasters of their "D. S." or camps—only three of the Chicago camps are authoritatively represented as endorsing the appeal, and this notwithstanding the audacity of the framers of the document in declaring that "a special meeting of all good 'D. S.' in Chicago," the issuance of the circular was authorized.
