TONIGHT-8 P.M.

The Y-Grad's ladies night held last Wednesday was a very enjoyable affair. To start things rolling, the Ladies Auxiliary served a delicious chicken supper which was followed by an enjoyable sing-song and entertainment. After their supper had settled the Grads and guests adjourned to the bowling alleys to play bridge. At ten o'clock they wandered back upstairs to the banquet room to dance until the mid-night stroke.

The Phi Lat Sorority, Alpha and Beta Chapters held their regular weekly meetings last Thursday evening. The Alpha group saw several interesting films on modern marriage following the adjournment of their meeting. Following the adjournment of their business meeting the Beta Chapter enjoyed an hour of bridge.

The regular Saturday dance for older teenagers was held last week in the banquet room. Dancing to the music of popular recordings the group enjoyed several novelties including a spot dance and a lion dance. Four boys who "won" the lemon dance were paired off in a hotdog eating contest. The winners, gulpers Jim Wood and Don MacNeill, narrowly defeated their competitors who were not quite so capable at stuffing. The dance was sponsored by the Delta Hi-Y.

The craft program takes on new life this week with model aircraft, leatherwork, and woodwork the big news. Ian MacNevin, George Scantlebury, and Rollie Taylor are leading the model aircraft instruction which meets on Monday nights. Mrs. Marion McCallum and Mr. Fred Gamble will instruct in leatherwork and members of the Y's Men's Club are preparing the woodwork shop for action on Friday night.

The Acmy Hi-Y Club is now completing plans for a formal in-

Big Demand For New Blight Free Potatoes

OTTAWA, Dec. 6 - Farmers across Canada are showing a real interest in the Department of Agriculture's two new blight-resistant potatoes, Canso and Keswick. Released to certified seed potato growers early in October this year, applications to date are more than can be satisfied by the amount of seed-stock available, says H. T. Davies of the Dominion Experimental Station at Fredericton, N.B.

Produced as a result of the National potato breeding project conducted by the Canada Department of Agriculture at Fredericton, the production of the two new varieties represents a co-operative effort on the part of officials of the Experimental Farms and the Science Services over a 17 year period. During this time more than 90,000 seedlings were tested and of these 95 per cent were discarded. In addition to Canso and Keswick, there are many other promising seedlings under test and some of these it is hoped will prove even superior to those already introduced.

Workers actively engaged in the national potato breeding project at Fredericton include I. C. Young and H. T. Davies of the Experimental Farm staff who direct the plant breeding phases of the project and evaluate the production from a horticultural standpoint. Science service workers in the Division of Botany and Plant Pathology are J. L. Howatt, who conducts the tests for fungus and bacterial diseases and Dr. D. J. MacLeod who studies the reaction of the seedlings to virus diseases. Insect studies come under the direction of Mrs. J. B. Adams of the Division of Entomology and N. M. Parks of the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, supervises the outside tests in Provinces other than New Brunswick.

Planning Children's Christmas Party On Queen Charlotte

Pre-Christmas activities at H. M. C. S. "Queen Charlotte" are under way with a committee preparing plans for the annual Children's Christmas party which is to be held on December 20th.

This year's plans are for a bigger than ever celebration for youngsters who will include the families of all Active Reserve Naval men and of the Permanent Staff of the local barracks. Committee in charge of these preparations includes Lieut. W. Brennan, CPO S. Bowles, CPO V. Pineau, L/S. G. Doiron, and A/B F. Gauthier. Santa is scheduled to appear that evening, and gifts will be distributed to every child and mother present. Entertainment will be provided for the children, and candy, ice cream and pop will be in plentiful supply.

Decorating for Christmas is the order of the day as the staff turns out to deck their respective messes and the parade deck with evergreen boxes and Christmas decorations. Among the celebrations to be held will be the party of the permanent staff which is scheduled for December 27.
